ALDERMEN VOTE RATIFICATION OF TRANSIT POLICY OF CITY OWNERSHIP

BOARD APPROVES BEER PARADE, 15-11

Mayor, Opposing Move, Responds by Delegating Proponents to Handle Arrangements, Including the Expenses.

The Board of Aldermen, at its first meeting of the new fiscal year today, adopted by unanimous vote a resolution calling on the president of the board to name a committee of three Aldermen to study the plans for solution of the city's mass transportation problem through municipal ownership. The board's action on the resolution had been forecast by previous developments in the transit program.

President Neun appointed Alderman Edward W. Wiehe of the Fifth Ward, who was chairman of the Special Transportation Committee, as chairman of the new committee, which is to make its study in conjunction with the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. The other members of the committee are Aldermen William J. Studt of the Twenty-first Ward and Louis Fischer of the Seventh.

The appointment of the new committee was proposed in the report filed with the board March 30 by its special Transportation Committee. The committee, on which the members of the new committee served, stated in its report that a plan of municipal ownership should be sought, since financing of the needed improvements under private ownership has become impossible.

Former Congressman Cleveland A. Newton, as special counsel of the Transportation Committee, helped to draft the report, and explained to the committee how an intensive study had narrowed down to the conclusion that city ownership offered the only solution of the problem. The report said the city should acquire the transit properties without pledging the city's general credit, and that the valuation should be based on earning power

Beer Parade Is Approved by Vote of 15 to 11.

The Aldermen, by a vote of 15 to 11, adopted a resolution calling on Mayor Miller to appoint a committee to arrange for a beer parade Saturday afternoon, May 14. The proposed demonstration is intended to be similar to that planned for New York by Mayor James J. Walker of that city.

Mayor Miller, who was present at the meeting, said he would appoint the 15 Aldermen who voted for the resolution to constitute the committee of arrangements. He said they could decide how the cost of the demonstration should be met. The Mayor was not previously, and still is not, in favor of the proposed demonstration. He said he had been informed that no other large city had taken up the plan suggested by Mayor Walker, and that no parade was to be held in either Milwauke or Cincinnati, both cities being centers of wet sentiment.

The committee of 15 Aldermen presumably will be headed by Alderman Frank Wetzel of the Sixteenth Ward, who introduced the resolution and made the chief argument in its support. The others who voted for it were Aldermen Bergmann, Ellers, Fischer, Hayes, Lange, Lohmann, Neumann, A. H. and W. F. Niederluecke, Otto, Reinhardt, Riefling, Wiehe and Wimer.

Those voting against the resolution said, in nearly every case, that they desired the return of legalized beer, but that they thought a parade a useless expense, not likely to have any effect on the situation, which must be dealt with through legislation in Congress, and as showing only that St. Louis sentiment is wet, a fact already known. The opponents of the parade were Aldermen Brinkman, Brock, Fett, Kaufmann, Kralemann, Kuhs, Neu, Schwartz, Studt, Watts and President Neun.

Wetzel and Wimer argued for the parade on the ground that Congressman Dyer had requested it, and that Dyer had shown himself ready to co-operate with the city government. Wetzel said that the time, a Saturday afternoon, would favor a large turnout of employed persons, and that the unemployed could be counted on to join in.

Schwartz argued that the demonstration, if put on in a creditable

GRAFT, BRIBES, BLACKMAIL ALLEGED IN KREUGER DEALS

Investigators Report He Tried to Buy Spanish Match Plant Illegally, but Agent Fled With Money.

By the Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 19.—Investigators of the Kreuger companies disclosed today they had learned Ivar Kreuger negotiated in 1930 for control of the largest match factory in Spain.

Spanish law prevented him from acquiring control and Kreuger gave 2,000,000 pesetas to Jose Serran, a member of the Spanish Senate, the investigators said. (Normally worth 19 cents, the peseta is now quoted under 8 cents. Two million pesetas at par would be about $400,000; today about $160,000).

Instead of using the money to buy for Kreuger's account, the investigation disclosed, Serran fled to Italy and was arrested there. Action against him was halted on Kreuger's demand.

Today's newspapers said it had been learned that Kreuger used enormous sums in bribery and was himself a victim of blackmail.

Police searched Krueger's home today but said they found nothing of importance.

Kreuger Holding Company Files Bankruptcy Petition.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed today in United States District Court by the International Match Corporation, holding company for match manufacturing and distributing corporations of the Ivar Kreuger group.

No schedules accompanied the petition, but it was set forth that a list of assets and liabilities would be filed later.

The petition, filed by Frederick W. Allen, president of the corporation, asked that the Irving Trust Co. be appointed receiver in bankruptcy. The Irving Trust Co. was named receiver of the corporation last week.

INDIVIDUAL TAXABLE INCOMES IN ST. LOUIS $72,500,000 IN 1931

Corporations Had $35,500,000 Both Show Decline From 1930 State Returns.

State income tax returns were filed this year by 47,330 individual St. Louisans and 2057 St. Louis corporations, Assessor Gehner reported today. This was a decrease, compared with a year ago, of 6465 individuals and 493 corporations.

Corporations, taxed on net income, reported their taxable income in 1931 as $35,569,505, a decrease of $15,138,462, or 30 per cent. Individuals, with an exemption of $1000 for single persons and $2000 for married, reported taxable income in 1931 of $72,515,201, a decrease of $10,046,748, or 12 per cent.

Taxes are payable May 1 and become delinquent after June 1.

Because of an increase in the tax rate the taxes to be paid by individuals total $847,119, or $11,500 more than last year. This is based on a sliding scale ranging from 1 per cent to 1.90 per cent. The old rate was a flat 1 per cent.

Corporations will be required to pay a tax of $443,150, which is $63,929 less than a year ago, although the rate was increased from 1 per cent to 1.3 per cent.

The tax rates reflect three and a half months' operation of the new State income tax law under which rate increases became effective Sept. 15 last. For 1932 the income tax rate for corporations will be a flat 2 per cent of net income. For individuals the rate will range from 1 to 4 per cent.

For 1929, 58,885 individuals in St. Louis reported taxable incomes totaling $107,117,167. For 1930 the number of individual taxpayers decreased to 53,795, with taxable incomes totaling $83,561,949.

For 1929, 2554 St. Louis corporations reported net income totaling $88,829,343. For 1930, 2550 St. Louis corporations reported net income total $50,707,967.

DIES BY GAS IN FIANCE'S ROOMS; VERDICT WITHHELD

Baltimore Coroner Wishes to Question Man in Whose Home Body Was Found.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Mr., April. 19.—Coroner Otto M. Reinhardt today withheld a verdict in the death of Mrs. Marjorie Thomas, New York, pending the questioning of H. Kay Lynn, in whose apartment she was found dead from gas late yesterday.

Lynn told police Mrs. Thomas came to Baltimore from New York Saturday to inspect a house they planned to occupy after their marriage, which was to take place soon. He arrived at his apartment shortly after police found her body in the kitchen, five jets on the gas range open.

Mrs. Thomas was the daughter of Mrs. Warran Griffiss of Baltimore, and former wife of Dr. Carlton Thomas of Lexington, Ky. They were divorced a year and a half ago.

MOONEY DECISION THURSDAY

Gov. Rolph Takes Another Day to Assemble Data.

By the Associated Press.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 19.—The office of Gov. James Rolph Jr. announced last night he would make known his decision on the Thomas J. Mooney pardon appeal Thursday afternoon, instead of tomorrow, as previously planned, in order to permit more time to assemble additional data.

"The case is virtually completed except for some matters which are now under investigation," the Governor was quoted as saying.

Family and 6000 Employes Are Beneficiaries; Inventory Is Approved.

CHICAGO, April 19.—An inventory of the estate left to his employes and family by the late Richard T. Crane Jr., president of the Crane Co., showed assets of about $27,000,000.

The inventory was approved yesterday by Probate Judge Henry Horner. Crane was 58 years old when he died last Nov. 7. He had named more than 6000 beneficiaries, including employes throughout the world. It was the largest number of beneficiaries ever listed by an estate in the Cook County Probate Court.

The will provided that Mrs. Florence H. Crane, the widow, was to receive $200,000 for disposition to charities at her discretion; also one-third the residuary estate in trust, her husband's personal effects and the 1500-acre estate at Ipswich, Mass.

The bulk of the estate consisted of Crane Co. stock—986,141 shares of common and 4936 preferred.

BILL IN SENATE TO 'STABILIZE DOLLAR' ON ITS 1926 BASIS

Fletcher Introduces Measure Which Directs Federal Reserve to Carry Out Plan.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—A bill to direct the Federal Reserve Board to "stabilize the dollar" on the basis of its 1926 value was introduced today by Senator Fletcher (Dem.), Florida. Fletcher called attention to House hearings on a similar bill by Representative Goldsborough (Dem.), Maryland.

"It is well to define the national policy and make it the duty of Government agencies to carry it out," Fletcher said, urging expansion of credit and stabilization of the dollar.

DOCTOR AND WIFE KILL SELVES IN VIENNA GAMBLING SCANDAL

VIENNA, April 19.—Two Barons were arrested and a physician associated with them committed suicide with his wife today as a result of a gambling scandal in two fashionable clubs here.

The prisoners are Baron Otto Gutmann-Gelse and Baron Henri Menasse. The physician was Dr. Hermann Loewy. His body was found beside that of his wife in their apartment. Police said they had shot themselves.

The authorities are still looking for a third man who, they said, acted in concert with the others to fleece their fellow members in the clubs over a period of a year with the assistance of a club employe who provided marked cards.

JOBLESS ON JURY CITED IN PLEA FOR BORDLEY RETRIAL

Bank That Lost $1,000,000 Will Suit Argues Judge's Favor Overinfluenced Members of Panel.

CHARGES RUTLEDGE WITH FAVORITISM

Declares Court Showed Every Consideration to Plaintiff's Counsel, None to Defendant's.

Charges that unemployed men on the jury which set aside Mrs. Blanche Bordley's $1,000,000 will were influenced by Circuit Judge Rutledge are made in a motion for a new trial filed yesterday by the defendants as the first step toward an appeal from the verdict, returned last Thursday.

Defendants in the suit were the Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Co., executor under the will, and individuals and charities to whom Mrs. Bordley left approximately $300,000 before establishing a trust fund for incurables with the remainder of the estate. The plaintiff was her 86-year-old sister, Mrs. Adele L. Tatum of Los Angeles, Cal., who received a $20,000 trust fund under the will.

Pointing out that eight jurors were indebted to Judge Rutledge for allowing them to serve an extended period at $3 a day, the petition states, "They (the jurors) would naturally desire to do that which the court wanted them to do or that which they thought the Court wanted them to do, and the conduct and attitude of the Court in the trial was such as to lead them to think and believe beyond question the Court wanted them to decide the case in favor of the plaintiff and against these defendants.

Favoritism Alleged.

The petition charges specifically that Judge Rutledge showed favoritism to Edward W. Foristel and Harvey B. Cox of counsel for Mrs. Tatum, and against attorneys of the firm of Thompson, Mitchell, Thompson & Young, which represented the defendants.

"When the Court would rule against Mr. Foristel and Mr. Cox, the petition states, "he would make frequent apologies for so ruling, but when the Court ruled against counsel for these defendants, he would lecture and reprimand counsel for these defendants and by his attitude and demeanor, throughout the trial, indicate clearly that his sympathies and desires were with Mr. Foristel and Mr. Cox, and that his displeasure and impatience were against the attorneys for these defendants."

Judge Rutledge also is charged with showing "every courtesy and consideration and all patience possible" to Foristel and Cox and "little or no consideration" for the defendants' attorneys, and with making comments on the evidence favorable to the plaintiff's case.

Service of Jurors Set Forth.

The service of the jurors is set forth in detail. The petition points out that three, including the foreman, George H. Jaromack, 4867 San Francisco avenue, had served five weeks before the Bordley case went to trial on March 16, that three others had served four weeks previously and two jurors two weeks each. The remaining four jurors were members of a new panel.

Concerning the unemployed men held over, the petition says, "The conduct and policy of the Judge of the court in giving these abovementioned men a position to serve as jurors for the compensation to be received gave the Judge of the court tremendous influence with them." The jurors, all but one of whom voted to set aside the will, are charged with "disregarding the overwhelming evidence" in favor of the defendants.

Thirty-two separate allegations are made in the petition but most of them concern legal formalities to perfect an appeal. The two principal technicalities involved are a charge that service on the defendants in the contest was not made within the time allowed by the statute of limitations and that Mrs. Tatum, by accepting $1020 income from her trust fund under the will, barred herself from filing the suit. Cox had testified the $1020 had been offered in return to the executor and had been deposited with the Circuit Clerk when the bank refused to accept it.

Basket Full of Wills.

One charge is based on an act of Foristel in having a large basket full of wills in which the Mercantile-Commerce Bank was executor, taken into court and shown to the jury. Defense attorneys asked for a mistrial at the

DOCTOR DESCRIBES MENTAL CONDITION OF LIEUT. MASSIE

Dr. Orbison Declares Prisoner Was Deranged at Time He Killed Wife's Alleged Assailant.

ANOTHER PHYSICIAN ALSO TESTIFIES

Dr. Withington Tells of Violence of Attack on Mrs. Massie and of Her Husband's Odd Behavior.

By the Associated Press.

HONOLULU, April 19.—Evidence of the brutality of the attack on Mrs. Thalia Massie, which ultimately led to the killing of Joseph Kahahawai, one of five accused of assaulting her, was brought into the murder trial today by Clarence Darrow, defense attorney.

Dr. Paul Withington, former Harvard athlete, who examined Mrs. Massie after the assault, described her condition under Darrow's questioning.

Mrs. Granville Fortescue, mother of Mrs. Massie, wept as the physician described the injuries.

Mrs. Fortescue, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones, enlisted men in the navy, are on trial for killing Kahahawai.

Dr. Withington said Mrs. Massie's jaw was broken. She later identified Kahahawai as the man who did this, saying he struck her as she prayed for mercy. The physician also said there were bruises all over her body, and that she had a temperature of 105.

Massie's Mental Condition.

The physician testified further as to the mental condition of Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, who asserted on the witness stand he had held the pistol which killed Kahahawai just after the latter had confessed taking part in the assault on his wife.

On one visit, Dr. Withington said, he found Lieut. Massie placing a rope outside a window. The doctor said Massie had done this with the idea of snaring prowlers. Mrs. Massie thought she heard on various nights after the attack.

In his testimony Massie said his wife awakened him one night screaming and saying she had heard footsteps outside. The Lieutenant said he at first doubted this, but listened and heard footsteps.

Dr. Withington, who referred to Massie as "Tommy," said he performed an operation upon Mrs. Massie. He tesitfied that for five weeks wires were used to lace Mrs. Massie's broken jaw together.

Argument Over Evidence.

Darrow and Prosecutor John C. Kelley argued over whether Dr. Withington should be allowed to testify further about the coil of rope from which a length was taken to bind Kahahawai's body. Darrow wanted to show that Massie originally obtained the rope to tie his dog.

Kelley contended the witness had no first hand information about it. Circuit Judge Charles S. Davis permitted Darrow to go on, however. Darrow put the question and the witness was turned over to the prosecution.

Lieut. Massie was recalled to the witness stand for further questioning regarding his training in gunnery.

Kelley hinted the naval officer had been "play acting."

"Did you ever engage in amateur theatricals?" Kelley asked. "Yes, once," said Massie, "and it turned out very unfortunately. The name of the play was 'Meet the Wife.' At a very important part where the lines were most amusing I couldn't speak. I had stage fright, Mr. Kelley."

Massie was on the stand only a short time.

Alienist Testifies.

Then the defense called Dr. James Orbison, alienist, who testified Massie's present condition showed that when the shot that kilde Kahahawai was fired he was mentally deranged and did not know what he was doing.

Despite prosecution avowals of disbelief that Massie killed the youth suspected of having participated in the attack on Mrs. Massie, the accused naval officer finished his story yesterday without being shaken from it in any major detail.

Musket Carried at Lexington Fired on Anniversary of Revolution's First Battle.

By the Associated Press.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., April 19.—An echo of the "shot heard 'round the world," that signaled the beginning of the American Revolution at Concord 157 years ago, went around the globe again today—on short wave radio. The shot today was fired by Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts from an ancient long barreled musket that was carried at Lexington.

The musket shot literally was heard around the world today over a globe-circling short wave hookup, going by way of Holland to Java, thence to Australia, and then back to the United States. The sound of the shot returned to Gov. Ely at the radio station here a perceptible split second after the trigger had been pulled.

CHANGE IN RATE OF POSTAGE DISCLOSES SMUGGLING TRICK

Merchandise Found in Many of Periodicals Sent Abroad Postoffice Reports.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19. — An increase in postage rates for newspapers and periodicals to foreign countries has disclosed an unusual method of smuggling. The transient rate on second-class matter sent outside the United States was increased April 1 from 1 cent to 1½ cents for each two ounces. Many persons neglected to add the increased postage.

As a result, the periodicals were sent to the dead letter office. There, the Postoffice Department announced today, it was discovered the senders had included merchandise such as hose, handkerchiefs, dress goods and gloves in the packages along with periodicals.

This was true, the department said, of 35 per cent of the bundles opened.

Orders have been issued to watch carefully in the future for such attempts at smuggling.

LACLEDE GAS LIGHT STOCK SELLS AT $73 IN NEW YORK

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Stock of the Laclede Gas Light Co. of St. Louis, dealt in on the New York Stock Exchange for the first time in six months, sold today at $73 a share for 100 shares. The last previous transaction in this stock on the exchange was last November, at $155 a share, which, excluding a recent dividend, was $82.50 higher than today's price.

A majority of the 107,000 common shares of Laclede Gas is owned by the Utilities Power & Light Corporation of Chicago, of which Harley L. Clarke is president. Clarke purchased Laclede control in 1927 from Charles A. Munroe at a price equivalent to $230 a share for Laclede stock—a deal in which Munroe and his associates made a profit of approximately $7,000,000.

The first bid for the stock today was $50, $125 asked. Later the quotations narrowed, with $65 bid and $78 asked, but no sale was made until sellers were willing to take $73.

LINDBERGH FAILS TO REACH BABY'S KIDNAPERS AGAIN

Colonel Says He Has Been Unable to Re-Establish Definite Communication Since Paying Ransom.

COL. LINDBERGH DEPLORES PUBLICATION OF RANSOM DEMANDS NEVER MADE

By the Associated Press.

HOPEWELL, N. J., April 19.

THE following statement was issued by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh through the State police:

"The continued following of our representatives by members of the press is making it extremely difficult if not impossible for us to establish contact with whomeyer is in possession of our son. The publication of demands for additional ransom which have never been made and of amounts which we are unable to pay can cause nothing but greater difficulty.

"We are extremely anxious to re-establish contact with the kidnapers and while we sincerely appreciate the co-operation we have received from many press organizations our attempts are still greatly hampered or made impossible by press activity. Up to the present time we have been unable to re-establish a definite contact.

"CHARLES A. LINDBERGH."

By the Associated Press.

HOPEWELL, N. J., April 19.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh says he has been unable to re-establish a definite contact with kidnapers of his 21-month-old son. In a prepared statement Col. Lindbergh points out the difficulty his representatives have had in trying to get in touch with the kidnapers because of the activities of the press. These activities, he says, include following of his aids by reporters. He complains of the inability of himself and friends to work secretly.

For more than a week Attorney Henry Breckinridge, Col. Lindbergh's representative, has been coming and going from the New York home of Dr. John F. Condon, 72-year-old educator who paid the $50,000 ransom money on April 2, but failed to obtain the return of the Lindbergh heir.

Hope has not yet died that Dr. Condon will be able to persuade the kidnapers to give up the baby. He said Sunday, "We are in contact with the kidnapers and the baby will be returned soon, I hope."

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, State police head, said he was placing no credence in the statement of a man who telephoned the Toledo Times that the Lindbergh baby would be returned next week.

He said there was no significance to "mysterious flames, airplanes and boats active around Martha's Vineyard, Mass."

COPPER MEN DEMANDING TARIFF OF 5c A POUND

Arizona Democrats in Congress Appeal to Senate Committee for High Protective Levy to Save State's Chief Industry.

MILLS SUBMITS REVISED PROGRAM

Sticks to Determination to Spread Burden Over General Public as Against Concentrating It on the Wealthy.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The spectacle of Democratic Senators and Representatives pleading for a high protective tariff on copper enlivened today's session of the Senate Finance Committee, which is trying to write a tax bill that will yield $1,000,000,000 a year in new revenue. Among the most vigorous advocates of a duty of 5 cents a pound on copper were Senators Ashurst and Hayden and Representative Douglass, all Democrats, and all from Arizona.

Injection of this issue prevented the committee from giving immediate attention to the revised program of new taxes submitted last night by Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills. The Secretary estimated that the list of levies proposed by him would yield $1,033,000,000 a year, and that this sum, together with a $208,000,000 reduction in Government expenditures, would suffice to erase the Treasury deficit.

The program submitted by Mills discloses that he is sticking to his determination to spread the tax burden over the general public, as opposed to concentrating it on the wealthy. Thus he recommended lower estate, corporation and dividend taxes than those contained in the House bill, and proposed instead a gasoline tax, to yield $124,000,000 a year, a tobacco tax to yield $58,000,000, and a stamp tax on checks and drafts to yield $95,000,000.

Follows Lines of 1924 Act.

In general, his program would follow the lines of the 1924 revenue act. Thus the base of the income tax would be broadened to affect all incomes down to $1000 for single persons and $2500 for married persons, and the normal rate would be increased slightly to make the tax 2 per cent, up to $4000, 4 per cent on the next $4000 and 6 per cent on the remainder in excess of $8000; the House bill makes the rate 7 per cent for $8000 and the excess.

Surtaxes would begin at 1 per cent on $6000 and rise to a maximum of 42 per cent for $100,000 and the excess, which is 2 per cent higher than the maximum established in the House bill. Gift and estate taxes would be levied at the 1921 rate, which is considerably lower than the scale fixed by the pending House bill.

Corporation taxes would be at the rate of 13 per cent, or 1 per cent higher than at present, instead of 13½ per cent, as voted by the House. The Treasury plan would eliminate the present corporation exemption of $2000, beginning with the calendar year 1932. The House bill contemplated allowing a $2000 exemption.

Many Miscellaneous Taxes.

The Treasury plan would retain many of the miscellaneous taxes laid down in the House bill, but would change some of the rates. The automobile tax would be 5 per cent for passenger cars, 3 per cent for trucks, and 2½ per cent for accessories, instead of 3 per cent, 3 per cent and 1 per cent, respectively, in the present bill.

The Treasury would make the stock transfer tax 4 cents per share (double the present rate) instead of ¼ of 1 per cent of the selling price. The Treasury thought the rate prescribed in the bill excessive.

Admission taxes, under the Treasury plan, would be at the rate of 1 cent for each 10 cents on tickets costing more than 10 cents, whereas the House bill would not touch tickets under 46 cents.

Mills' plan would conform to the House bill as to levies on malt syrup, brewer's wort and grape concentrates; on telephone and telegraph messages and on real estate conveyances.

New and increased miscellaneous taxes recommended by the Treasury include a levy of three-fourths of a cent a gallon on gasoline, a 2-cent stamp tax on bank checks

"DUMMIES" MADE BIG STOCK SALES, SENATORS BELIEVE

Those Who Have Seen List of "Shorts" Sent to Committee Find Few Well-Known Names.

HEARING WILL BE RESUMED THURSDAY

Richard Whitney Tells of Forcing 'Bears' to 'Cover' When England Abandoned Gold Standard.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19. — In the belief that many of the names in the list of 24,000 short sales presented for the stock market inquiry represent "dummies" for important principals, some of the Senate's Banking Committee members today advocated uncovering the real traders.

The committee held its inquiry in abeyance until Thursday, to give William A. Gray of Philadelphia, its new counsel, time to go through the tremendous list of transactions. Administration Senators, among them the Republican leader, Watson of Indiana, reiterated their determination to go to the bottom of the subject and determine what influences have been depressing the market.

Names Kept From Public.

The list of short traders' names was guarded from publication, but Senators who have seen it said the great majority were unknown, leading to the belief expressed by some that in the larger transactions either fictitious names or those of agents for big operators had been used. One Senator said he would propose that the committee pick out a few of the more important transactions and send investigators into brokerage offices to find out who was behind them.

Many new angles of the investigation were being presented to members of the committee, and Senator Steiwer (Rep.), Oregon, said he would ask for an inquiry into the publication by a certain magazine recently of the purported names of many big short traders. Publication of the names was suddenly stopped, after the magazine had announced that more would be given.

Testimony of Whitney.

When the committee resumes Thursday, Richard Whitney, president of the exchange, will be recalled to the stand. In a sharp all day cross-examination yesterday he testified that the market would have had to close after England went off the gold standard if short selling had not been prohibited.

He refused to admit that the ban was imposed because of a fear of demoralization from short selling, but said it was decided upon to force the shorts to cover through buying and thus provide a bolstering influence in the face of widespread liquidation.

The Treasury plan omits the 1½ per cent penalty proposed by the House for consolidated and affiliated corporation income-tax returns, erases the normal income tax on dividends, and limits, rather than abolishes, the net loss provision of income-tax law. The bond transfer tax (1-28 of 1 per cent), written into the bill by the House, also is absent from the Treasury plan.

"A Trap for Tax, ayer."

Committee members had some fun at the expense of J. A. Albrecht, a Buffalo attorney who specializes in obtaining tax refunds for wealthy clients from the Treasury. He appeared yesterday afternoon to protest against the proposed increase in the tax on stock sales and against the proposal to limit deductions for capital losses suffered on stock sales.

Albrecht protested that by taxing capital gains during the prosperous years and proposing now to limit the deductions for capital losses, the Government would be in the position of having "set a trap for the taxpayer." He was reminded that Congress never guaranteed that any tax law would remain unchanged.

When Albrecht complained plaintively that "there was a period of nearly 10 years when we were absolutely unable to show any losses," Connally of Texas guffawed aloud, "Now, isn't that pitiful?" he said.

Albrecht said many people undoubtedly would seek to evade the provisions, but he was afraid that the rigid language of the present bill would make evasion almost impossible. Members of the committee listened in amazement to what sounded like a plea for a bill which makes tax dodging easier.

Only Beer Tax Welcome.

"Do you know of any tax that people would be glad to pay?" inquired Senator Gore (Dem.), Oklahoma. "Not unless it would be a tax on beer," the witness replied.

Albrecht argued that during the height of the speculative boom owners of stocks refused to sell when they could have made high profits because they wanted to avoid paying taxes on their gains. He said he proposed limitation on deductions would prevent them from selling now because they would be unable to deduct all the losses from their taxes.

R. H. Whitehead, spokesman for the clock and watch manufacturers, protested against the proposed tax of 10 per cent on clocks and watches. Apparently he wished to convey the impression that people would go back to sun dials and hour glasses rather than pay the tax. Futhermore, he said, people would evade it.

"Will the members of your industry evade it?" asked Connally. "Only out of sheer necessity," Whitehead replied. "But they will evade it?" "Yes."

"Then I suggest that the most useful and patriotic thing for you to do is advise us how we can plug up the holes so they can't evade it," Connally retorted.

A Refreshing Witness.

John L. Fitzsimmons, manufacturer of a special malt-flavor used in near-beer, asked the committee to exempt that product from the operation of the 35 per cent tax on malt syrups. When Senator Reed asked him if he made other products which are used in making home brew, the witness said "Yes, sir."

"Your candor is refreshing," Reed observed. Arthur Hale, George W. Anderson and George P. Oswald, exporters and importers of coal, objected to the proposed coal tariff which the House wrote into the bill, declaring that any protection afforded by it would be more than offset by the loss of coal export trade through retaliatory tariffs. Anderson pointed out that the total coal imported by this country is less than one-fifteenth of the amount exported to Canada by this country. He added that Canada is "just looking for an excuse to shut us out," and that this tariff would provide it.

Oswald, member of a company which has the exclusive privilege of importing anthracite from Russia, was asked about the story that Russian coal is produced by "convict labor." Senator Reed made it plain that he believed this to be true.

"I saw no sign of it when I was there," Oswald replied. "After looking over their living quarters, club houses, shower baths and so forth, I would say that if they are working under forced labor there are a lot of miners out in Western Pennsylvania who would like to do the same."

Senator Reed's home is in Pittsburg, and his law firm is counsel for some of the largest coal mining companies in Western Pennsylvania. Afterward Connally suggested facetiously that the stories about Russian miners working under armed guards might have originated in Harlan and Bell counties, Kentucky, where many miners and their sympathizers have been shot and beaten by armed mine guards in recent months.

Harrison P. Fryberger of New York told the committee that the way to restore prosperity was by taxing chain stores out of existence and vesting sole power to tax inheritances in Congress. The whole matter is set out in his book, he said.

"What's the name of it?" asked Senator Harrison. "The Abolition of Poverty," Fryberger replied. "I want to read that," Harrison declared.

Spokesmen for makers of cosmetics and toilet articles protested vehemently against the proposed 10 per cent tax on those products. E. C. Brokinger, representing a beauty and barber shop association, declared that cosmetics are not luxuries, "because a well-groomed man or woman has a better chance in life." He said the beauty shops are having hard-sledding already, and cannot stand an increase in the cost of their supplies.

Luxuries Defined.

"How do you define a luxury?" Senator Reed inquired. "As something not essential to life," the witness replied.

"Is nose powder essential to life?" Brokmyer said he supposed it would be possible to exist without it.

Northam Warren declared that 40 per cent of the sales of retail druggists consisted of cosmetics and toilet articles. Speaking for the manufacturers, he warned that the tax would be passed on to the retailers. He advocated a general sales tax on a low rate. "American toilet articles are supreme throughout the world," he concluded.

"Nose powder may be a luxury, but every baby needs powder," declared Levi Cooke.

"The babies don't need rouge, do they?" Reed asked. Cooke said he supposed they get along without it for a litle while.

An eloquent appeal in behalf of mouth washes and tooth paste was made by Dr. J. Durritt, who said these articles could not be classified as luxuries, because they are "medical necessities."

W. Bruce Phillips, head of the National Association of Retail Druggists, was asked by Senator Reed if he favored a general sales tax. "Yes, if we were sure it could be passed on to the customer," Phillips replied, amid laughter.

Emil K. Ellis swelled the chorus of protests with an appeal for exemption for fur trimmings on cloth coats. He said the proposed 10 per cent tax would destroy the fur trim industry. He declared that fur-trimming was in its infancy in 1918.

Canadian, African Copper.

A. E. Peterman, Michigan producer, today told the committee that "a billion pounds of cheap foreign copper is pressing on American shores," and named Canada and Africa as the chief competitors. Senator Hull asked him if it was not a fact that large producers have entered into a world-wide agreement to curtail production. The witness did not know.

"You are in the same plight as the wheat and cotton growers, aren't you?"

"I don't know, but if they are in our shape, I'm sorry for them."

"So am I," Hull said; "I'm sorry for all of you, and I am concerned with doing something about it, but I notice that although some of these industries are blanketed with tariffs, and some have none, they all seem to be in the same predicament."

Heath Steele told the committee that American exports of copper have always exceeded imports. He said that foreign producers, instead of flooding the American market, have voluntarily curtailed production. He represented a company which is interested in African copper.

"A tariff of 5 cents a pound on copper will not bring you a dime of revenue," he declared. "It will be a simple embargo, that will bar every pound of foreign copper. Moreover, Great Britain undoubtedly will retaliate by putting a tariff on our copper."

Conflicting Views on Copper.

R. H. Patchin, representing the Brace Steamship Line, told the committee that the imposition of a duty on copper would seriously depress our trade with Chile and Peru, because copper is one of their principal exports to the United States.

Representative Goss of Connecticut declared that the most serious effect of a copper tariff would be the disruption of the world agreement to curtail production, and the loss of American export trade.

He was followed by Representative Douglas of Arizona, who contradicted statements that this country exports more copper than it imports. He said practically all industry in Arizona is based on the copper industry, that it is "faced with impoverishment or extinction," and that the state is "threatened with bankruptcy." He said that although 130,000 people live in the mining villages of Arizona, only 2800 copper miners are employed and estimated that 25,000 persons will be destitute by July 1.

HOME LOAN BANK BILL APPROVED BY COMMITTEE

House Group Indorses Measure Substantially as Presented by President Hoover.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—President Hoover's home loan bank bill was approved today by a House Banking subcommittee.

Representative Reilly (Dem.), Wisconsin, chairman of the subcommittee, said there were no fundamental changes in the form of the bill as recommended by the President and introduced by Representative Luce (Rep.), Massachusetts.

"It will be reported to the full committee immediately and will be pressed for action as soon as all members have had an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the hearings," Reilly said.

The President's plan would create a system of Federal home loan banks to extend financial support to existing home financing, thrift or savings institutions.

Representative Williams (Dem.), Missouri, was the only committee member voting against the measure. Reilly, Luce, Representatives Campbell (Rep.), Pennsylvania, and Hancock (Dem.), North Carolina, voted for it.

HOUSE INDORSES SENATE PROGRAM OF RETRENCHMENT

Without Conference Approves 10 Per Cent Slash Made in Interior Department Allowance.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Congress stands virtually committed today to a program of reduction of expenditures more drastic than its most sanguine members had expected to achieve. Three things brought this about. The unheard-of action by the House in accepting without a conference the 10 per cent cut made by the Senate in the Interior Department appropriation bill; the instruction of the Senate to its Appropriations Committee to cut 10 per cent from the Treasury-Postoffice supply measure; and the Senate's approval of a $1,000,000 reduction in the prohibition enforcement fund, the only important item left in the budget estimate by the House.

Acceptance of the Interior bill amendments, accompanied by Speaker Garner's statement that he favored the same treatment for the rest of the big money bills, was opposed by but 42 members, though it involved the approval of such cuts as a reduction to $6,000,000 in the appropriation for the Hoover Dam from the $10,000,000 required.

When the Senate ordered the Treasury-Postoffice cut it passed the most difficult hurdle in the 10 per cent reduction program, opposition having centered largely on that one bill.

The appropriation for Congress was but a side for a week at least, to give the special economy committee time to draft in amendment covering the entire program of pay reductions, abolition and consolidation of Federal activities.

The committee went at this task again today to solve complications brought about by its disagreement with several suggestions presented by the administration, and lack of unanimity within the committee on several important points.

The Senate Appropriations Subcommittee charged with slashing 10 per cent from the billion-dollar Treasury-Postoffice supply bill, today called Secretary of the Treasury Mills and Postmaster-General Brown to confer with them tomorrow on what cuts could be made. The bill carries $1,059,000,000, but building funds of $108,000,000 in the $254,000,000 allotted the Treasury are exempted from the 10 per cent reduction. The decrease will be made in the $805,000,000 for the Postoffice Department and the $146,000,000 balan of the Treasury's fund.

Chairman McDuffie said today his economy committee had not yet been able to determine how the President's furlough plan could be adapted to Senators and Representatives and it appeared "members of Congress will have to take a cut" in pay.

McDuffie added that the House would have an opportunity next week to vote its choice between a flat salary cut and the five-day work week and furlough plan proposed by the President. The omnibus bill will be presented as an amendment to the legislative supply bill which carries salaries for members of Congress.

BORAH ASSAILS AL SMITH'S WAR DEBT PROPOSAL

Says 20-Year Moratorium Would Benefit Only Holders of Private European Obligations.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith's proposal for a 20-year moratorium on war debts was attacked in the Senate today by Borah of Idaho, as a debt cancellation plan which would only benefit holders of private European obligations.

As word spread that the new British budget did not include provision for payment of the war debt to America, Borah took the Senate floor to oppose cancellation of the obligations, saying it would have no beneficial economic effect "if the present policies in Europe continue."

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said debt cancellation would throw the entire burden on the American taxpayer.

"The most recent proposal by a leading political figure," he said, "was to the effect that we should forget the debts for 20 years.

"The first observation to be made is that if we forget them for 20 years they will be regarded and treated as canceled.

"In addition, the proposal is made that for every $100,000,000 of goods purchased in this country $25,000,000 of the debts should be canceled. The idea is that it would increase the European purchases and therefore compensate for cancellation.

"But examination discloses that if these nations purchase no more, if they continue to purchase the same amounts, the result will be cancellation."

"Whatever the good faith in which the proposal was put forward it is a proposal for cancellation," he continued. "There is no question of who would benefit from the 20-year plan. The American taxpayer could not, there would be no increased purchasing and no enlargement of sales.

"There is one class of people who would benefit. We have loaned $17,000,000,000 abroad since 1917, largely in Europe.

"If public debts are forgiven, the private debt holders would be generally advantaged.

"The taxpayers would be subordinated to the interests of the private claimants. The only persons who could possibly benefit would be those who hold private loans in Europe.

"It would be infinitely better to propose an absolute cancellation."

"These are debts owed the American taxpayer," Borah thundered, adding: "If a program could be submitted to open up harbors and markets and the like, the American taxpayer would be sympathetic, but no such proposition has been made. The propositions so far made would result in unloading the entire burden on the American taxpayer."

"Recent events have brought the subject of debts owing to the United States up for discussion again.

"It is well to recall that we reduced these debts in the interest of economic recovery once."

time on the ground that the act tended to prejudice the jury against the bank. The jury foreman stated to reporters after the verdict was returned that the decision was based principally on a charge of undue influence by the bank in the making of the will, and not on a charge that Mrs. Bordley's mind was unsound.

Judge Declines to Comment.

Judge Rutledge declined to discuss the allegations against himself because of his legal position. In a recent interview, however, he said he had had no previous objection in any case where unemployed men were permitted to serve for extended periods as jurors. "My experience with them leads me to the conclusion they are conscientious and unbiased and I think the verdicts of juries of which they are members reflect this tendency," Judge Rutledge said.

He estimated that at least 200 unemployed men had been permitted to earn an average of $60 each since the system was inaugurated in September, 1930. Foreman Jaromack, by virtue of a month's service in the Bordley case in addition to five weeks perviously, received total fees of $141.

Testimony that Cox, in a conference before the trial began, had said, "We'll win this litigation. We'll prove our charges. We elect the Judges in this court and they do what we want them to do," was given in the trial by J. Warren Tatum of Los Angeles, a son of the plaintiff, who testified for the defense. Cox denied making such a statement.

At Cox's request, Judge Rutledge allowed a period of 15 days for Mrs. Tatum's lawyers to take affidavits and depositions in opposition to the motion for a retrial.

Division of the Estate.

Division of Mrs. Bordley's estate at law would be two-fifths to Mrs. Tatum, two-fifths to a niece, Mrs. Adele Donovan Chambers of Los Angeles, and one-fifth to three heirs of a deceased stepsister of Mrs. Bordley. Mrs. Bordley was the widow of Daniel C. Bordley, a director of the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. Attorneys for Mrs. Tatum, who are the St. Louis firm of Foristel, Mudd, Blair & Habenicht and a Kansas City firm, have a contract to get 50 per cent of anything she receives.

Pending termination of the will contest, the Mercantile-Commerce Bank has obtained authority from Probate Judge Holtcamp to invest $69,500 cash which has accumulated in the estate since the contest was begun April 27, 1931. The money will be invested in United States Government certificates, paying 3¾ per cent and maturing March 15, 1933. Until the contest is settled the executor is not permitted to pay out any receipts to legatees under the will, but can pay claims allowed or other debts, if any.

CHILE DROPS EFFORT TO STAY ON GOLD BASIS

Peso Expected to Fall to 5 Cents—Board to Value Currency Daily.

By the Associated Press.

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 19.—Chile went off the gold standard officially today, after nine months of unsuccessful effort to maintain the peso at par through rigid control of purchases of foreign exchange.

Under the provisions of a Government bill which was approved by Congress late last night, the value of the peso will be subject to a virtually open market, with a few restrictions to prevent wholesale collapse of the currency.

Actually, Chile has been off the gold standard since last July, following the overthrow of the Government of Carlos Ibanez, when the new Government imposed exchange control to prevent a flight of gold. Officially, however, the peso has been at par, with declining transactions at this rate. Most of the money has been handled in a bootleg market which has determined the real value of the currency.

The official rate for the peso has been about 12 cents in United States gold. It was thought here today that the rate would drop from about 8 pesos to the dollar to 20 or more, with a possibility that it will go lower. The working of the new bill will be delayed briefly, pending approval of rules interpreting its provisions.

The financial situation had become so acute that Finance Minister Luis Izquierdo declared the peso must be devalorized, or socialism, possibly communism, would result through the inequalities between the official and actual values of money.

The new bill creates an advisory exchange commission to handle transactions through the Central Bank and to set a daily value for the peso on the basis of supply and demand. All transactions are required to go through the commission and any outside dealings are made punishable by a jail sentence or a fine, or both.

All gold contracts made in the future must be payable in pesos, but some past gold contracts, such as those held by foreign utility companies, will be respected. Customs duties are payable on a gold basis and insurance held in foreign companies is payable in pesos.

A. F. OF L. LEADER ASSAILS CHURCHES' DRY LAW ATTITUDE

BISHOP CANNON ATTENDS HEARING

Hears Witnesses Assail Prohibitionists' "Sanctimonious Faces" — Tydings Presses Relief Plan.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Matthew Woll of the American Federation of Labor testified to a senate committee today that if national prohibition is not modified, "the pressure will become so great that nullification by Congress will result and the Federal Government will cease to appropriate money for enforcement."

He was one of several witnesses appearing on bills for a change in the prohibition laws. Woll contended the economic effect of legalizing beer is greatly needed to relieve the condition of labor.

"Is it that we want revolution in this country?" he asked, his voice rising.

"The remarkable thing to me is that labor has been so calm, so conservative during this depression. But let that condition continue and I'll not venture to say what labor shall do."

A Church's Moral Code.

Woll said that in the enactment of prohibition, "purely a church organization has sought to enforce its own moral code by use of the policeman's club."

Asserting that the labor group for which he spoke contains many persons active in the church, Woll warned that they may "arise in the church" and express their views.

Denying a statement which he said had been made by Anti-Saloon League officials that he does not speak for labor, Woll said: "If this misrepresentation is to be continued, we shall venture into these cloistered walls and express our opinions there, because we are religious."

Saying his father drank beer and never was drunk, Woll asserted "Labor resents the idea of the church that condemns the laboring class as being incapable of taking care of our own conduct."

"The Gentleman Behind Me."

Turning to the economic effect of legalizing beer, Woll said it is sorely needed to relieve the condition of labor. Occasionally Woll referred to Bishop Cannon, who sat back in a corner of the small committee room as "the gentleman behind me."

Throughout the testimony of complaint against clerical proponents of prohibition, Bishop Cannon sat as though he did not hear.

The drys are to have their say later on bills by Senator Sheppard (Dem.), Texas, to tighten the Volstead act.

Only two Senators were present at the Judiciary Subcommittee hearings at which prohibition was assailed. They were Chairman Blaine (Rep.), Wisconsin, and Senator Bulkley (Dem.), Ohio, both opponents of prohibition.

Rice Hoos of Washington, representing the Federal Dispensary Tax Reduction League, urged repeal of the dry amendment and substitution of Government regulation. Hoos assailed prohibition as a "Pharisee, Mohammedan, Mormon, Methodist doctrine."

"The Word Temperance."

"If the honest leaders of prohibition," he said "—And I eliminate the mercenaries and ecclesiastical politicians—would only get together with the forces of temperance and permit the word temperance to be written into this compact, the question might easily be solved."

He said prohibition is "pagan" and temperance is "Christian," and held the eighteenth amendment responsible for the "crime wave."

Labor's National Committee for Modification of the Volstead Act—through John P. Colpys, then advocated 2.75 per cent beer. Colpys said legalizing 2.75 per cent beer would put 500,000 men to work within three months.

"I have never seen one who has been prominent in advocacy of this law who is not a hypocrite of the first water," Colpys asserted.

"Sanctimonious Faces."

Colpoys said some prominent advocates of prohibition "are afraid to bare their private lives to the public, but they come up here with sanctimonious faces hiding corruption of mind and hardness of heart."

John Manning, secretary of the union label trades department of the American Federation of Labor, said hotels today are the "middlemen" between the bootlegger and the drinker.

Manning also criticised the action of the house in voting a tax on wort and malt syrup, thus, he said, profiting from ingredients which go into beer while prohibiting the traffic at the same time.

The Bulkley-Beck bill for 2.75 per cent beer also was advocated in testimony by M. J. McDonough of San Francisco, president of the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor.

Driest Voters, Wettest Drinkers.

His experience as a member of the California Legislature, he said,

WHY do some people's teeth last? WHY don't other people's teeth last?

People talk of "losing teeth" as though they were lost accidentally, the way money and jewelry are lost. Just dropped somewhere. Five times out of ten those teeth are stolen—by a serious gum disease called "pyorrhea." If you want to keep your teeth, guard them against pyorrhea.

Everyone knows about pyorrhea. But it is likely to be regarded as a distant danger. Perhaps you fear it may approach you at forty or older. The trouble is you may have it now and not recognize it. Five or ten years may pass while this dread disease is busy undermining the structure of your teeth and gums. Then one tooth goes. How long after that will you keep the remainder?

Get ahead of pyorrhea. Don't let it get you. There is no use in putting off the dentist until you think you need him. Visit him twice a year and make a point of it. That is prevention—and sensible prevention too. Then there is the question of home treatment and care. There is no use in making believe that white, shining, "clean" teeth are either safe or sound. Nobody believes that any more. The gums must be considered as well. Forhan's Toothpaste is the double-duty toothpaste that does both halves of the job. Originated by Dr. R. J. Forhan, for 25 years a pyorrhea specialist. Save pain, expense and humiliation. The drys are to have their say later on bills by Senator Sheppard (Dem.), Texas, to tighten the Volstead act.

Only two Senators were present at the Judiciary Subcommittee hearings at which prohibition was assailed. They were Chairman Blaine (Rep.), Wisconsin, and Senator Bulkley (Dem.), Ohio, both opponents of prohibition.

Rice Hoos of Washington, representing the Federal Dispensary Tax Reduction League, urged repeal of the dry amendment and substitution of Government regulation. Hoos assailed prohibition as a "Pharisee, Mohammedan, Mormon, Methodist doctrine."

"The Word Temperance."

"If the honest leaders of prohibition," he said "—And I eliminate the mercenaries and ecclesiastical politicians—would only get together with the forces of temperance and permit the word temperance to be written into this compact, the question might easily be solved."

He said prohibition is "pagan" and temperance is "Christian," and said the eighteenth amendment responsible for the "crime wave."

Labor's National Committee for Modification of the Volstead Act—through John P. Colpys, then advocated 2.75 per cent beer. Colpys said legalizing 2.75 per cent beer would put 300,000 men to work within three months.

"I have never seen one who has been prominent in advocacy of this law who is not a hypocrite of the first water," Colpys asserted.

"Sanctimonious Faces."

Colpys said some prominent advocates of prohibition "are afraid to bare their private lives to the public, but they come up here with sanctimonious faces hiding corruption of mind and hardness of heart."

John Manning, secretary of the union label trades department of the American Federation of Labor, said hotels today are the "middlemen" between the bootlegger and the drinker.

Manning also criticised the action of the house in voting a tax on beer and malt syrup, thus, he said, profiting from ingredients which go into beer while prohibiting the traffic at the same time.

The Bulkley-Beck bill for 2.75 per cent beer also was advocated in testimony by M. J. McDonough of San Francisco, president of the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor.

Driest Voters, Wettest Drinkers.

His experience as a member of the California Legislature, he said, was that "those that voted the driest were the ones that drank the most."

He expressed the belief that "California will go on record as a positively wet state at the next election."

The Bingham bill to legalize 4 per cent beer was reported adversely today by the Senate Manufactures Committee. The long-considered legislation, introduced by Senator Bingham (Rep.), Connecticut, was beaten by 7 to 4, with two members not voting.

Those who voted for the bill were Senators Metcalf (Rep.), Rhode Island; Barbour (Rep.), New Jersey; Bulkley (Dem.), Ohio, and La Follette (Rep.), Wisconsin.

Those opposed were: McNary (Rep.), Oregon; Goldsborough (Rep.), Maryland; Hatfield (Rep.), West Virginia; Cutting (Rep.), New Mexico; Costigan (Dem.), Colorado; Smith (Dem.), South Carolina, and Sheppard (Dem.), Texas.

Senators Wheeler (Dem.), Montana, and Long (Dem.), Louisiana, were not present and did not vote.

Bingham said he would make a fight on the floor.

Tydings Renews Appeal.

Meanwhile, in the Senate Senator Tydings (Dem.), Maryland, renewed his appeal for a $1,500,000,000 public construction program financed by legalizing and taxing beer. He proposed an amendment to the revenue bill to raise the money through a bond issue and amortize it in 10 years from a tax of 24 cents a gallon on 2.75 per cent beer.

The money would be used to carry out all authorized construction and $400,000,000 would be allocated to road construction and river and harbor improvements Tydings said if this was not adopted, he would move to substitute additional taxes on luxuries to raise the funds.

Charging the Government with "sharing by indirection in the profit from the largest racket in all history" through income taxes on Al Capone, Tydings said "if we can do that we can raise the alcoholic content of the Volstead act. . . .

COURTROOM CROWDED 4 HOURS BEFORE TRIAL OF CLARA FISH

Circuit Judge Mueller's courtroom was crowded at 9 o'clock this morning with spectators, most of them women, waiting for the opening at 1 o'clock of the trial of Clara Fish, 19-year-old housemaid charged with the murder of her employer, Mrs. Reba Maddux, at that time she pleaded not guilty and selection of the jury was begun.

Prosecuting Attorney Castlen announced he had not decided whether to ask the death penalty for the killing of Mrs. Maddux, whose body, slashed with a razor, was found last Oct. 3 near a lonely lane on the western edge of Kirkwood. Veniremen, however, will be questioned as to their attitude on imposition of the supreme punishment, he said, and the decision whether or not to ask that the defendant be hanged will be deferred until evidence has been presented.

Kills Self, Describes Sensations.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Edward Koren, 23 years old, secretary to the general manager of Coney Island's scenic railway, ended his life with gas in his apartment last night. He left a note describing his sensations. He was from Chicago.

GOV. WOODRING EXONERATES OFFICERS IN KANSAS LYNCHING

Thinks They Did All They Could; Petition to Reinstate Sheriff Granted.

By the Associated Press.

ATWOOD, Kan., April 19.—Gov. Harry H. Woodring, here today with Atorney-General Boynton in the state investigation of the lynching of Richard Read, 53-year-old ex-convict, confessed attacker-slayer of Dorothy Hunter, 8, said he believed local authorities had done their utmost to thwart the mob, Read was hanged by a mob of 200 men early yesterday.

Sheriff A. A. Bacon, who surrendered the keys to the Cheyenne County jail at Saint Francis under threats of the mob, was reinstated today. A provision of the Kansas mob law automatically ousted Bacon for the loss of his prisoner.

An inquest failed to yield the names of the mob members. A jury summoned by Dr. Charles E. Hennenberger, Rawlins County Coroner, decided their identity was "unknown."

By the Associated Press.

SAINT FRANCIS, Kan., April 19.—The Associated Press was in error in its report of yesterday in saying that Chauncy Depew was lynched several years ago on a ranch near the one on which Richard Read was hanged early yesterday. Chauncey Dewey, who lives on a ranch near the one on which Read was hanged, once was tried on a charge of killing three men but was acquitted. Dewey is a wealthy and respected ranchman.

DISPLAY OF 'SHOOTING STARS'

To Be Visible Thursday, Friday and Saturday Nights.

An unusually large number of "shooting stars" is expected to be visible Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, provided weather conditions are favorable, when the earth passes through the orbit of the Lyrid meteor swarm.

These April meteors are named Lyrids because they appear to radiate from the constellation Lyra in the northeastern sky. The Lyrids have been noted in historical records dating back 2500 years. Their annual appearance has been in diminishing numbers and the last great display was in 1803. In 1922 a considerable number was observed in Eastern Europe.

ACQUITTED IN AUTO DEATH

Rion J. Tucker, 18 years old, 3908 Parker avenue, was acquitted by a jury in Circuit Judge Pearcy's court yesterday of a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death last Aug. 18 of Mrs. Martha Gimpel, 3726A Wyoming street, of injuries suffered when struck by an automobile driven by Tucker.

Tucker said he was forced to swerve his car in turning from Juniata street into Gustine avenue to avoid striking another machine and did not see Mrs. Gimpel.

DOCTORS, DENTISTS ORGANIZE TO GET RENT REDUCTION

Ninety-One in University Club Building Unite to Ask for 35 Pct. Cut and Better Service.

Ninety-one physicians and dentists with offices in the University Club Building have formed a "Tenants' Association" in an effort to obtain a 35 per cent reduction in rents and better service throughout the building.

In a prepared statement, the members of the association relate the effects of the depression and the stock market crash on the medical and dental professions, as follows:

"The doctors claim that, since their entrance to the building in 1919, they have had a 60 per cent increase in rents, which they cheerfully paid when times were better.

"For the past four years they have lost heavily, not only in professional, but also outside interests, so that it is utterly impossible to continue on the present rental basis. They request at least a 35 per cent reduction, and claim it is paramount for their existence.

"The laity do not realize how severe this depression has been to the medical profession. It is utterly impossible to any longer obtain a large surgical fee. The operating schedule has fallen off 70 per cent from the listings that previously existed. It is most difficult to collect any accounts, but still the doctor has creditors and must meet his obligations.

"At present the profession is doing a tremendous amount of charitable work, both in the office, as well as in the numerous clinics. A large number of doctors having used up their principal, have been forced to borrow on their life insurance in order to tide them over. They now realize this depression may exist for another three to five years, and are preparing to live on a scale which will enable them to see daylight over this period. Forty per cent of the doctors in one building are four to six months in arrears in their rent."

The Tenants' Association elected Dr. Amand Ravold president and Dr. Otto Wilhelmi secretary-treasurer. The statement outlining reasons for the tenants' demands, to be sent to the management of the building, was prepared by a committee composed of Drs. Ravold, Wilhelmi, D. C. Todd, Harry d'Oench and H. S. McKay.

The statement concludes with the following paragraph:

"It is rumored that the doctors are considering a mass move to another building with lower rentals unless their request is granted."

James F. Cook, secretary of the University Club Building Co., said he had not received the tenants' petition today.

"Our schedule of rents is the lowest of any high-class building along Grand boulevard," Cook said. "When the building was opened, rents were very cheap. In 1922 there was an increase in rents, it is true. However, our tenants have had no increase since that time, and I feel that they are wrong. If we were to concede to their demands for a 35 per cent cut, we may as well give them the building."

The University Club is a stockholder in the building company.

FATHER OF NINE CHILDREN DROWNS SELF IN MERAMEC

Edward Weidelich, 60-year-old farmer, of Sappington, walked into the Meramec River at Fenton yesterday, shouting to a nearby group of fishermen, "Tell the Sheriff's office." His body was recovered with grappling hooks an hour later.

His widow, Mrs. Cora Weidelich, and their nine children, most of them grown, were unable to explain the act.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 2 p. m., from the Koch Undertaking Co., Fenton, to St. Lucas' Church, Sappington.

SENTENCED TO DIE TONIGHT, DISCLOSES ALLEGED SLAYER

Benny Gordon Hopes for Commutation for Aiding in Arrest for Patrolman's Murder.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Benny Gordon, bespectacled killer, in his death cell at Sing Sing, today was granted a 90-day reprieve. He was under sentence to die in the electric chair tonight. He gave information which led to the arrest of Jack Zaroff, 29 years old, in connection with the murder of Patrolman Maurice O'Brien in 1930.

Gordon had gained six reprieves by promises to disclose the policemen's slayer. Something went wrong every time hitherto. However, and no arrest could be made.

APPEAL GRANTED SLAYER OF MAPLEWOOD WOMAN

James W. Kellar, Sentenced to Be Hanged May 6, Also Gets Stay of Execution.

An appeal to the Missouri Supreme Court and stay of execution were granted by Circuit Judge McElhinney at Clayton today to James W. Kellar, who was sentenced April 4 to be hanged on May 6 for the murder of Mrs. Etta Sauer, 3104 Walter avenue, Maplewood.

Kellar, who also went by the name of Charles Campbell, pleaded guilty March 21 his punishment was fixed at death and formal sentencing was postponed until April 4. His attorney in asking for the appeal has claimed this postponement on the part of the court placed Kellar's life in jeopardy twice for the same crime, a violation of one of the basic principles of criminal law. Mrs. Sauer was murdered last Jan. 4.

A. T. &T. GOES BELOW PAR FIRST TIME SINCE 1921

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Scattered selling reduced several leading shares to new low levels for the 1929-32 in the stock market today.

American Telephone dipped below par, with an extreme decline of more than $2 a share, which carried it slightly below $98. It later recovered to close to $100. It was the first time it had sold under par since 1921, and left only Homestake Mining among the active common shares above the $100 mark.

U. S. Steel dipped $1.62 to $29.75, a new low since 1908, then recovered to slightly above $30.

MEMORY OF BATTLE WORRIED MISSING MAN

Former Soldier's Coat and Letters Telling of Fight With Moros Found on Bridge.

A coat and papers belonging to Oscar J. Neigenfind, 2128 Benton street, Granite City, who is missing from his home, were found on the Municipal Bridge Sunday night, leading to the belief that Neigenfind ended his life to escape the horror of a scene he claimed to have witnessed in the Philippine Islands following the ambuscade of a detachment of American soldiers 28 years ago.

The papers included a communication to Congressman Charles Karch, of East St. Louis, requesting the Congressman's aid in clearing Neigenfind of a charge of desertion, in order that he might receive compensation for his service.

Letter Tells of Fight.

An affidavit accompanying the letter to Karch gives a vivid description of Neigenfind's experiences in the Philippines from 1902 to 1905. The former soldier states that he enlisted in the Seventeenth Regular Infantry; that in May, 1904, F Company of that regiment was surrounded in a swamp by hostile Moros, and 17 soldiers were slain. Survivors were forced to retreat with six wounded comrades, and the bodies of the dead soldiers were mutilated by the Moros.

Neigenfind states he was a member of the detachment sent to recover the dead. The affidavit states that the horror of the duty he performed caused him to resort to liquor, and resulted in his desertion from the army after returning to the United States in 1906.

A letter attached to the affidavit under the signature of the adjutant of the Granite City Camp, United Spanish-American War Veterans, recommends that Neigenfind be cleared of desertion, pointing to a previous enlistment which terminated with an honorable discharge.

Previous Suicide Attempt.

The affidavit asserts that, after his desertion, Neigenfind followed a number of occupations in various sections of the country. In 1912, he states, he hurled himself from the top of a moving freight train with suicidal intent, suffering severe injuries. "Later, while hauling metal from the American Steel Foundry in Granite City to St. Louis I always felt as if I should throw myself from the bridge to get away from my thoughts of the Philippines," Neigenfind wrote.

Neigenfind has lived in Granite City for a number of years with his wife and nine daughters. Two years ago Frank Lakatos, a Granite City coal dealer, was convicted of conspiracy to kidnap Neigenfind, who formerly worked for Lakotos. Neigenfind testified that he had hauled coke and sugar to a moonshine still while in Lakotos' employ, and later gave the Government evidence resulting in a raid on the still. Lakatos was recently paroled from the penitentiary after serving 11 months of a sentence of one to five years for the kidnaping.

way, would cost $10,000 to $15,000, and that this money would better be used for relief purposes. "The congregating of people demanding legislation, at this time, is not a good thing," he said. Neu made a similar argument, saying that public demonstrations, under present conditions, were not to be encouraged.

The bill previously announced appropriating $200,000 for unemployment relief, in addition to $100,000 appropriated previously, was introduced. This measure will dispose of $300,000 to be raised through the special gasoline and parking lot taxes, the only measures enacted thus far to provide emergency revenue for this purpose. The original plan was that the city should raise $600,000 by special taxes and that $600,000 should be raised by private subscription, but the subscriptions were in excess of $1,100,000, and the city has not yet insured raising its original pledge.

Alderman Kaufmann reintroduced his chain store license bill, which died in the last session, with some amendments. The measure now proposes to impose a graded tax on stores under common ownership, from $25 for the second to the fifth store, up to $250 for each store in excess of 25. The penalty would be a fine of $25 to $500, with each day's conduct of such stores a separate offense.

The Aldermen adjourned until April 28 at 11 a. m., when the city budget is to be presented. No delegation of citizens appeared at today's meeting, as suggested at the recent taxpayers' meeting in the Coliseum, only a half-dozen spectators appearing.

EXPLOSION FOLLOWS SUICIDE; EIGHT PERSONS INJURED

Blast Occurs After Neighbors and Police Enter Gas-Filled Chicago Apartment.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 19.—Edward Gelt, 40 years old, despondent over a love affair, killed himself in a North Side apartment today and incidentally caused the injury of eight other persons.

Gelt shot himself and turned on the gas. Police and neighbors broke into the apartment. When an electric switch was turned on, a spark ignited the gas. Those hurt were burned in the resulting explosion.

The explosion was felt over all the neighborhood and all windows in the building were shattered.

FIRE LEADS TO DISCOVERY OF 250-GALLON STILL

Fire in a bungalow at 5635 Columbia avenue led yesterday to the discovery by police of a 250-gallon still extending from basement to roof, a vat of mash under a floor and 80 gallons of alcohol in a pit in the garage.

A man who said he was Samuel Babarbera, a roomer at that address, was arrested and turned over to Federal prohibition agents. The owner of the building is being sought. The fire, of undetermined origin, caused damage of $2000 to the building and $1000 to its contents.

CHICAGO TAX DATE SET UP

1930 Penalties to Be Assessed After Saturday by Plan.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 19.—The House today indicated it would vote to set the penalty date for 1930 taxes in Cook County at April 23 (Saturday).

By a 77 to 24 vote, an amendment to this effect offered by Representative Frank Ryan, Democrat, Chicago, to a bill which originally fixed the date as July 1 was adopted. The House tomorrow will pass the bill with the expectation that the Senate will insert an emergency clause making it effective immediately. As it is now, the bill would not become effective until July 1.

RICH GOLD STRIKE IN SONORA

Nuggets Sold in Nogales, Ariz., at $15 and $19 an Ounce.

NOGALES, Ariz., April 19.—The Nogales Herald says a rich gold strike has been made in the Altar district of Sonora, Mexico. Placer gold is being received here at the rate of $10,000 a week, and yellow and red nuggets are being sold here for $15 and $19 an ounce.

Ramon Elias of Nogales has filed claims on large tracts. Gold washing machinery will be taken from here to begin large-scale operations.

EAST ST. LOUIS CHILD KILLED BY STREET CAR

Eugene, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Pentz, 2565 Waverly avenue, East St. Louis, was injured fatally yesterday afternoon when struck by a street car as he was playing in front of his home.

He died of head injuries at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, at 11:20 p. m., about six hours after the accident.

R. L. Herndon, operator of the car, a one-man Landsdowne car westbound, reported the child, pursued by playmates, ran from a garage driveway in front of the car. The front truck passed over an arm, necessitating amputation.

ROBBER ARRESTED AT CHURCH GETS 15 YEARS

Thomas H. Greenwood Pleads Guilty—Shot Man in Holdup.

Thomas H. Greenwood Jr., 23-year-old salesman, pleaded guilty in Circuit Judge Ossing's court yesterday of robbery and assault to rob, and was sentenced to 15 years in prison. He received three concurrent 10-year sentences for three robberies and a five-year term for the assault.

Greenwood, who resided with his parents at 1125 Pestalozzi street, was arrested last Oct. 11 when he came from a church and entered an automobile identified through its license plates as one which had been used in several robberies. It was his first arrest. He told police that the robberies were committed because he was "a little hard up."

On Oct. 9 he shot Horace L. Ettinger, manager of a Kroger grocery at 2939 Park avenue, in the face when Ettinger resisted an attempted holdup. He was charged also with robbing J. B. Hilton, attendant of a filling station at Jefferson avenue and Utah street, of $12 on Oct. 6, taking $20 from Louis Yeager, attendant of a station at Russell boulevard and Fairview avenue, on the same day, and robbing Fred Ruetter, manager of a Kroger grocery at 5021 Newport avenue, of $44 on Sept. 29.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE INSTEAD OF BONUS URGED

La Guardia Opposes Paying Ex-Service Men $2,000,000,000 by Inflating Currency.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—National unemployment insurance was offered today by Representative La Guardia (Rep.), New York, as a counter-proposal to cash payment of the $2,000,000,000 soldiers' bonus.

La Guardia, himself a war veteran, made known his views as he took the witness stand as the first to put his opposition to full payment of the bonus before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Advocates of the payment through a currency inflation concluded the presentation of their case yesterday.

Under La Guardia's unemployment insurance proposal, an unemployment commission would be created to maintain an unemployment insurance fund by a welfare tax on employes and employers, including a special tax on all incomes.

CHARLES A. COMISKEY LEAVES $2,000,000 ESTATE TO SON

Inventory Approved by Chicago Probate Court; Two Children of Niece File Claims.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 19.—Inventory of the $2,000,000 estate left by Charles A. Comiskey, late owner of the Chicago American League baseball club, was approved today by the Probate Court. J. Louis Comiskey, his son, was the sole beneficiary.

The will listed 7400 shares of White Sox stock with a par value of $100 a share; 45 parcels of bonds valued at $783,115; personal property, including bank deposits, of $6,592.28, and real estate here and in Wisconsin.

N. J. Bonelli, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner, issued letters of administration to Louis Comiskey. Marie Bernoudy, 20 years old, and her brother, Alfred, 29, children of a niece of Comiskey, filed claims against the estate with the court. Miss Bernoudy quoted her "Uncle Charley" as saying, shortly before his death last Oct. 26, that "You are to get $300,000 and Alfred $150,000." Their suits for these amounts are pending.

RECORD AMOUNT OF RADIUM FOUND IN DEAD MAN'S BODY

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Dr. Charles G. Norris, chief medical examiner, said last night that the largest quantity of radium ever found in a human was in the body of Eben M. Byers, Pittsburg millionaire who died here March 31. Dr. Norris said his report was based on an examination of the body by Dr. Alexander O. Gettler, city toxicologist.

"The bones, brains, lungs, liver and kidneys of Byers contained more radium than has even been found in another body," said the medical examiner. "There is no way to indicate the amount mathematically, but the amount was larger than was found in the body of Amelia Maggia, the first woman victim in the New Jersey radium poisoning cases."

After Byers' death it was said that he had taken radium into his system by drinking a patent medicine.

CONSTRUCTION FIRM BANKRUPT

George A. and Paul J. Kramp File Voluntary Petition.

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in Federal Court yesterday by George A. and Paul J. Kramp, doing business as the Kramp Construction Co.

The petition listed liabilities of $120,018, including secured claims of $95,047 and unsecured claims of $24,817; and assets of $108,740, of which $90,200 is real estate and $18,500 debts due the company on open accounts.

EFFORT TO CLOSE TWO RADIO STATIONS HERE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Representatives of two St. Louis radio stations, WIL and KFWF, appeared before the Federal Radio Commission yesterday to defend themselves against the application of the Donald Holden American Legion Post at Albany, Mo., for their facilities, and afterward to fight between themselves over a time-sharing arrangement. Station WIL is at the Melbourne Hotel and KFWF is operated by the Rev. Emil Clifford Hartman at The St. Louis Truth Center.

Appearing before Examiner Pratt, representatives of the stations sought to show in testimony that they were serving public interest and were in financial position to continue service. Depositions of St. Louis residents were presented in behalf of both stations.

Dr. C. A. Ross, commander of the Legion Post, explained that a new station to operate full time on the 1200-kilocycle channel with 100 watts power is sought. That would mean displacement of both St. Louis stations, but he added that his organization was willing to share time with the stations. Examiner Pratt, however, explained that this was not an issue, and that the application could not be amended at this time.

The plan, Dr. Ross said, is to operate the proposed station in the interests of ex-service men and Boy Scouts as a "patriotic American institution." A limited amount of advertising would be sold for the first year, but afterwards it was hoped to have the city appropriate funds for the station.

In the time-sharing case, KFWF contended it uses approximately 10¾ hours on the wave, with WIL using the balance. WIL would stand to lose about 40 per cent of its present hours on the air if an equal time division between it and KFWF were ordered.

The Truth Center station, it was contended by Howard Vesey, counsel for WIL, now is on probation because of alleged failure to keep its books properly. He said, moreover, that the station is unpopular, and that its charter does not permit it to operate a station.

Appearing for WIL were L. A. and C. W. Benson, president and vice president, respectively, of the Missouri Broadcasting Corporation. KFWF was represented by Dr. Hartmann, minister and station executive; M. L. Barrett, Wesley H. Becker and Victor W. Reitz, all of St. Louis.

Democrats Now Rule Cicero.

CHICAGO, April 19.—Joseph G. Cerny, Democrat, recently elected Town President, was sworn into office last night, supplanting Republican rule which had been in force for 14 years. Cerny pledged himself to remove the taint of hoodlums from the town, but said he did not intend to molest establishments selling beer to his citizens as long as they remained "respectable."

PUSHES ELECTRONS WITH AMBER WAND

E. L. Manning Also Transmits Music by Light Wave in Demonstration Here.

Every seat in Soldan High School auditorium was filled and many persons stood last night to watch a "wizard of science" push electrons through the air with an amber wand. The "wizard," so named by Floyd Gibbons in a national radio program, was E. L. Manning of Schenectady, research physicist of the General Electric Co. He performed his marvels last night under auspices of the Engineers' Club, and today at a luncheon of the Electrical Board of Trade at Hotel Statler he spoke on "Research—Industry's Most Important Raw Material."

Spectators could not, of course, see the electrons, but could hear reports like gunfire as Manning swept the invisible particles into apparatus connected with a loud-speaker. And they saw him transmit music by a light wave exactly as it travels on a radio wave, light tubes of gas by radiation and pop corn by radiation which emanated from icy brine without melting the ice.

Amplified by a complicated apparatus, the invisible particles thrown off by pitchblende, the black, radio-active ore in which radium is found, resounded in a loud speaker like a radio broadcast's sound effects for a sham battle. Emanations of radium, passing through a lead sheath an inch thick, produced the same effect, and when the sheath was removed, the gunfire swelled to the unbroken roar of a dozen machine guns.

Twice, after Manning removed a radioactive substance from the apparatus, a single report sounded in the loud speaker and the audience laughed. Smiling, he explained that particles such as those thrown off by radium were constantly in the air, and he picked up an amber wand to prove it.

Rubbing the wand so that it would repel positively charged particles, he pushed them with it through the air into another amplifying apparatus to set off the loud-speaker barrage. Then, to reverse the process, he used a wand of hard rubber, which takes the opposite electrical charge, and set off the mimic gunfire again by drawing the particles into the apparatus from the rear.

$32,917 AND BOTTLE OF GIN FOUND IN BEGGAR'S POCKETS

By the Associated Press.

NEWARK, N. J., April 19.—Tony Misiak stood on a street corner yesterday begging. His clothing was threadbare, his shoes soleless. In one ragged pocket, as the police found when they arrested him, was a bottle of gin, in another $32,917—25 $1000 bills, 79 $100s, and 17 $1 bills.

"Where did you get it?" demanded the desk sergeant. "Where do people get money?" snapped Misiak. "It comes from working. I saved my money."

He was booked on a charge of transporting liquor. It was learned that Misiak was married but his wife had not lived with him for several months. Up to the time they separated, police said, Mrs. Misiak paid the rent and bought the food from money she earned by working in a factory.

J. R. LONGMIRE CHOSEN R. F. C. MANAGER HERE

Replaces Olin M. Attebery as Representative of New Federal Bureau.

John R. Longmire, partner in the brokerage firm of I. M. Simon & Co., has been appointed manager of the St. Louis agency of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, succeeding Olin M. Attebery, deputy governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis.

Announcement of his appointment was made in Washington, with the explanation that Attebery had agreed in February to organize the agency and would now be free to devote his full time to affairs of the Federal Reserve Bank.

Longmire has obtained leave of absence from the brokerage firm and has established his office in the Federal Reserve Building. He began his new duties yesterday afternoon when he met the advisory committee headed by W. L. Hemingway, executive vice president of Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Co.

Longmire is 41 years old and lives at 340 Papin avenue, Webster Groves. Before becoming a partner in I. M. Simon & Co., several years ago, he had been president of the Mississippi Valley Co., investment affiliate of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. Before that he had been a vice president of the trust company and organized its bond department which developed into the Mississippi Valley Co.

The St. Louis office of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation serves most of Missouri, Southern Illinois and Eastern Indiana. It passes on application for loans by banks, insurance companies and other financial institutions.

YOUTH LEAVES MISSOURI U. AFTER SHOOTING 3 IN FIGHT

Burnis Frederick Voluntarily Withdraws From School; Student Most Seriously Hurt Recovers.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 19.—Burnis Frederick of Union Star, Mo., law student who faces charges of carrying a concealed weapon in connection with the recent shooting of three University of Missouri engineering students, has withdrawn from the university, it became known yesterday.

Frederick's withdrawal, so far as could be learned, was voluntary, and in advance of the report which the University Discipline Committee is due to make this week to Walter Williams, president of the university. Hearing on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon has been postponed pending the outcome of the Discipline Committee's investigation of the shooting.

Frank Luckey, most seriously wounded of the three engineering students who were shot, left the hospital Saturday and resumed his classes today. Jerry Cebe of St. Louis, captain of the university wrestling team, and Charles Love of Jefferson City, the other students struck by bullets, were not seriously wounded.

The shooting followed the "kidnaping" of Miss Mary Butterfield of Kansas City, a student who had been selected by the engineers as queen for their St. Pat's annual dance.

BOOSTING CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

P. C. Frayser, general chairman of the clean-up, paint-up campaign, under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and Board of Education, delivered a radio talk over KMOX yesterday appealing to adults to cooperate with school children in the campaign.

About 2,000,000 odd jobs were developed in the Pittsburg campaign last year, he said. The St. Louis campaign will be conducted this week and next.

FIND ALL-BRAN HAS TWICE THE USABLE IRON IN LIVER

Also Furnishes "Bulk" and Vitamin B to Overcome Common Constipation

Liver is known as a good source of iron for the blood. Now, new tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

But more important still, laboratory experiments show ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract.

This means Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a fine way to overcome constipation—with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy that so frequently result.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it absorbs moisture, forming a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, milder, more palatable.

How much better than risking pills and drugs—so often habit-forming. Just eat two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily for most types of constipation. It is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

PROOF FOR $75,000 CLAIMS UNFILED AGAINST CLOSED BANK

This Is Last Day for Submitting Formal Evidence Against Fidelity Trust.

More than 1000 depositors and creditors of the closed Fidelity Bank & Trust Co., 1132 Washington avenue, with claims totaling about $75,000, had not filed formal proof of their claims this morning, the last day on which they will be accepted.

Hans Wulff, Special Deputy Finance Commissioner, who is liquidating the bank, said depositors could not recover unless they filed claims as required by law. There were no large deposits unclaimed, he said, but a number were for substantial amounts. When the bank closed, last October, there were about 7000 depositors who had $1,056,348 in the bank.

Wulff said he would resist two claims that have been filed as a result of the operations of Fidelity Bond & Mortgage Co., owned by the same interests as the bank. The bond and mortgage company, which is in receivership, has filed a claim for $84,000 representing advances said to have been made to the bank before it failed, and the Skinker-Northwood Co. Investment Co., which is in receivership, has filed a claim for $52,000, alleging the bank was trustee for securities held for the investment company.

WASHINGTON U. TO OFFER NEW DEGREE IN JOURNALISM

Special Studies for Two Years Will Follow Like Period in Liberal Arts.

The degree of bachelor of science in journalism is to be offered by Washington University in a new curriculum co-ordinating two journalistic courses now offered in the College of Liberal Arts with a new course in newspaper editing and laboratory work on Student Life and student publication.

Students registering for the new curriculum will spend their first two years in the College of Liberal Arts, and in their last two years will study editing, principles of advertising and advanced journalistic writing in addition to other subjects. They will be members of the Student Life staff.

Raymond F. Howes, assistant professor of English, will conduct the courses in journalism and will direct publication of Student Life in an advisory capacity. The curriculum will fulfill requirements of the National Association of Schools and departments of journalism.

DELAWARE FATHER DOESN'T WANT KIDNAPERS PROSECUTED

By the Associated Press.

WILMINGTON, Del., April 19.—Harry Brodsky declared today he wanted no prosecution in connection with the abduction of his 9-year-old daughter, Hilda, while police continued a hunt for three men and a woman alleged to have kidnaped her for $50,000 ransom.

"All I'm doing now is waiting until this thing blows over," Brodsky said. "Hilda is safe and that's all I care about. I don't want anybody sent to prison."

Authorities professed to know the identity of the persons who lured the child into an automobile as she was going to school last Friday, took her to Philadelphia and finally released her at the parish house of the Rev. Joseph Pugliese on Sunday.

Associated Press Veteran Dies.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—William Reithle, for many years known as the oldest employe of the Associated Press, died today in Brooklyn. He was born in 1855 and was an employe throughout the present incorporation and had been in the service of previous associations which operated under the same name. He was a messenger and was pensioned in 1928.

SEARCHING FOR SLAYER OF PAIR ON HOUSEBOAT

Ex-Convict, Who Fought With William Roth Christmas Eve, Is Sought.

A general order for the arrest of a man, once convicted and several times suspected of particularly brutal assaults, was issued yesterday at Clayton on the theory he was the slayer of William Roth, 41-year-old war veteran, and his wife, Mrs. Margaret Roth, 30.

The bodies of the Roths, beaten to death, were found Sunday morning in the houseboat on Creve Coeur Lake to which financial reverses had forced Roth to retire. Roth was severely beaten in a fight with the ex-convict last Christmas eve, and deputies concluded the killings probably resulted from that fight.

Deputy Sheriffs Newbold and Litzinger, searching clubhouses near the scene of the murder yesterday afternoon, found a topcoat and hat which had been washed recently in water. They were still wet. The deputies expressed the opinion the garments had been cleaned and discarded by the murderer.

A search is being made now for the shotgun barrel with which the Roths are believed to have been beaten to death. The split stock of the weapon was found in the houseboat, but the barrel had disappeared.

The ex-convict sought in the Roth murders served a five-year term for manslaughter in a killing in which more rigorous prosecution was prevented by the disappearance of a State's witness. Prior to that he was suspected of beating another man to death in a fight, but denied the charge."

CLERGYMAN DENIED CITIZENSHIP FOR RESERVATION ON ARMS

"Would Have to Decide in My Own Heart Whether Cause Was Just."

By the Associated Press

BOSTON, April 19.—A Christian minister who said he felt he should "have the right to decide in my own heart whether the cause is a just one before I bear arms against my fellow man," was denied United States citizenship yesterday.

He was the Rev. John Joseph Viera Jr., a native of Maderia, Portugal. His citizenship petition was dismissed by Federal Judge Hugh D. McClellan.

House Votes Curb on Alien Actors.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The House yesterday approved, 86 to 18, the Dickstein bill, intended to keep alien actors and actresses out of the country. Under the bill, actors, actresses and artists who show unsual talent and are doing things no one else can do would still be allowed to enter.

HOUSE COMMITTEE FOR RETIREMENT OF THE 'LOS ANGELES'

Would Decommission Airship to Make Way for the Macon, Due for Completion Jan. 1.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Immediate retirement from the Navy of the veteran airship Los Angeles was recommended in a report to the House today by the Appropriations Committee.

The committee said since the new Macon, sister ship of the Akron, would be completed by next Jan. 1, the Los Angeles should be decommissioned permanently.

During hearings on the bill Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, Chief of the Bureau of Naval Aeronautics, said it was intended to lay up the Los Angeles as soon as the Macon entered the service. Representative Ayres (Dem.), Kansas, suggested that unless the ship is sold—that has been advised repeatedly in Congress and in the Navy—she should be salvaged.

A final amount of $1,450,000 was approved to complete the new airship.

In the hearings which preceded approval of $25,388,000 for naval and marine aviation, the committee developed that although the United States yields the speed laurels to Great Britain, this country's service planes surpass in top speed those of any other country.

Supply Bill Reported.

A supply bill providing $226,340,000 for the naval establishment in the coming fiscal year also was reported by the Appropriations Committee.

Although carrying $41,220,000 for construction of new warships and for modernizing old vessels, the bill is $15,336,000 below the budget estimates recommended by President Hoover and $31,921,000 less than the total outlay for the current year.

In submitting the bill for immediate consideration by the House, Chairman Byrns pointed out the Appropriations Committee to date has reduced budget estimates on supply bills $136,000,000.

Virtually every activity of the navy was affected by the cuts. The bulk of the outlay allowed goes for pay, of which $146,000,000 is for navy and marine personnel and $82,800,000 for civilian workers.

Statement by Admiral Pratt.

This provides for a naval enlisted personnel of 79,700, and 15,243 for the Marine Corps; 5489 naval line officers and 977 marine officers; 1790 midshipmen at the Naval Academy, besides nearly 3000 staff and warrant officers and 498 nurses.

Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, told the committee in hearings made public with the bill that: "Under stress of existing conditions we have cut our operating forces to the danger zone. We cannot go any further without jeopardizing our national security. International conditions are such today as to render it unwise, in my opinion, to make any further cuts in the operating force of the navy."

In his report, Representative Ayres, chairman of the subcommittee which handled the bill, said economies were made in public works, aviation, ration funds and reduction of flight and submarine pay. Ayres said the operating force plan of the fleet in 1933 involved 306 vessels, including submarines, but that several would be in reduced commission to cut maintenance and operating costs.

Battleship Modernization.

The committee allowed $14,000,000 to continue modernization of the battleships New Mexico, Mississippi, and Idaho, or $1,000,000 less than the budget. It noted that while $20,000,000 had been authorized for the work, $10,000,000 already had been provided and that the drop in costs probably would reduce the total necessary to $27,000,000.

For new ship construction it drafted $6,000,000 from the naval supply account fund, along with a direct appropriation of $27,230,000 and said this, with $27,000,000 unexpended this year, would bring the total for construction in 1933 to more than $60,000,000, despite its reduction of $4,000,000 in the budget estimate.

For naval and marine aviation, the bill provides $25,388,000, exclusive of pay. This is $5,756,000 less than for the current year and $1,272,000 below the budget. The savings resulted from the completion of the five-year air expansion program and through the curtailment of extra flight pay.

To promote economy, the committee recommended legislative changes as follows: To prevent retired officers from receiving salaries as civilian employes when retired pay and the other wage exceed $3000 a year; to authorize the President to sell, lease or close unneeded shore stations; to prevent increases in salaries within grades; to limit upkeep allowances on motor vehicles for officers; to limit to $1100 a year extra flight pay for aviators and $720 for extra pay submarine officers.

MOTORIST IS SHOT WHEN HE RESISTS HOLDUP IN GARAGE

John B. Henderson Wounded in Arm by Robber Who Starts to Flee When Woman Screams.

John B. Henderson, 34 years old, an automobile mechanic of 3651 West Pine boulevard, was shot in the left forearm last night when he resisted a Negro robber who attempted to hold him up in the garage in the rear of the apartment building in which he lives.

Henderson and his wife, Mrs. Stella Henderson, were returning from a theater and had driven into the garage, shortly before 11 o'clock, when the robber stepped up to Henderson's side of the machine and with a drawn revolver ordered, "Stick 'em up and keep quiet!" Mrs. Henderson screamed and the robber, apparently frightened, ran toward the garage door.

At the same time Henderson tossed his purse, containing $45, into the rear seat of the machine. The robber then returned to the automobile and demanded the purse. Henderson reached forward as if to turn off the ignition, but instead seized the revolver and tried to wrest it from the robber's grasp.

Henderson said the robber fired twice, the first shot going wild. After the second shot, the robber fled to the alley and escaped on foot, without taking anything. Henderson's injury was only a flesh wound, for which he was treated at city hospital, later returning home.

Walter Cohen, proprietor of a drug store at 4201 Easton avenue, and his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Cohen, were forced into the rear of the store last night by two men, one of them armed, who took $150 from the cash register.

George P. Koch, 1518 Pine street, was robbed of his watch by two men, one carrying a revolver, who held him up in the rear of his home and bound him with a towel and a rope. Koch told police he recognized one of the robbers. He identified one of two men arrested later. Both men denied robbing him.

In the absence of the family of Howard Mullenax, 3401 Union boulevard, yesterday, jewelry and other articles, including a mantel clock, all valued at $325, were stolen.

NATIONALLY-OWNED CANADIAN BROADCASTING FIRM PROPOSED

Detailed Plan Is Presented to House Committee by the Radio League.

By the Associated Press.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 19.—A plan for a nationally owned Canadian radio broadcasting company to begin operations July 1 next was laid in detail before the House Radio Committee yesterday by Graham Spry, chairman of the Canadian Radio League.

The plan provides three stages of development, the first of which calls for immediate action by Parliament to establish the controlling body, which would work with existing stations.

The second step, necessitating one or two years, provides for the establishment by the national company of high-powered key stations and acquisition of necessary existing stations, with a fair compensation to present owners but no value for good will. This stage would include increasing the receiving set license fee to $3.

The third stage would carry out the Aird report in its general aspects, provide for the appointment of Federal and provincial advisory boards and the development of programs.

URGES DEVELOPING DESIRE IN PUPILS TO WANT TO KNOW

W. W. Beatty, Bronxville, N. Y., Describes System Designed to Produce That Result.

Development of the incentive in children "to want to know" is the principal function of the progressive school, said Willard W. Beatty, superintendent of schools of Bronxville, N. Y., and a leader of the progressive school movement, in a lecture last night at the Community School, 400 De Mun avenue, Clayton.

"There is no 'I want' from the teacher," he said. "The 'I want' is developed by the child. The term 'progressive school' does not mean a private school. It means a school which makes the tools of education vital to children through purposeful activity."

Children are surrounded with stimuli which make them want to read, he said. Children entering the first grade are asked to draw a picture illustrating what they did during the summer. The teacher then writes beneath the picture what is represented and in this way words are associated with the child's daily activity.

FARM RELIEF PROGRAM TO BE CONSIDERED AT CONFERENCE

Senate Committee to Meet Government Officials and Representatives of Organizations.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Formulation of a general farm relief program will be undertaken next Tuesday at a conference of the Senate Agriculture Committee, representatives of farm organizations and Government officials.

The heads of the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange and the National Farmers' Union along with Secretary Hyde, Chairman Stone of the Farm Board and Governor Myer of the Federal Reserve Board have been invited.

The committee called the conference because of the great number and variety of agriculture relief measures now before it, on which conflicting stands have been taken by the farmers' organizations and Government agencies.

Gets Year for Art Fraud.

BERLIN, April 19.—Otto Wacker, an art dealer charged with selling spurious "masterpieces" to the amount of about $75,000, was sentenced today to one year in prison. The prosecution charged that he had sold 30 counterfeit Van Gogh paintings in 1925-1928. His system was to buy copies of the master and to sign Van Gogh's name himself.

12 INDICTED FOR KIDNAPING PEORIA DOCTOR FOR RANSOM

By the Associated Press.

PEORIA, Ill., April 19. — Ten men and two women were indicted for kidnaping for ransom here yesterday in the case of Dr. James W. Parker, wealthy physician and surgeon. The offense is punishable with death. Four of the men were also indicted for robbery with a dangerous weapon. All were arraigned in Circuit Court today and held without bail for a hearing Friday.

Those indicted for kidnaping are: Joseph H. Pursifull, a lawyer; James W. Betson, a contractor; Raymond Stoops, a farmer of Banner, Ill., 25 miles from here; his wife, Jessie, and their son, Dean, 17; Stoops' brother, Arlo Stoops, a Peoria bond salesman; Claude Evans, a county jail prisoner now charged with safe blowing; Homer Massie, Ralph Bartlett, Betson's nephew, Cecil Menninger, and Menninger's wife, Nellie, and Ed Woodford, Raymond Stoops' former farm hand.

Betson, Arlo Stoops, Menninger and Evans were named in the robbery indictments. They are alleged to have taken $85 from Dr. Parker.

Dr. Parker was kidnaped the night of March 15 and held captive until April 1, when he was released without paymen. of the $50,000 ransom demanded.

DR. RUDOLPH S. VITT IN RACE FOR CORONER

Physician Who Has Twice Held the Office Again Seeks Republican Nomination.

Dr. Rudolph S. Vitt, president of the Chippewa Trust Co. and former Coroner, filed yesterday for the Republican nomination for Coroner. He resides at 1919 South Grand boulevard. Dr. Vitt was Coroner in 1916-20 and in 1924-28. The law prohibits Coroners from succeeding themselves in Missouri.

Frank P. Furlong of 1716 Longfellow avenue filed yesterday for the Democratic nomination for Coroner. He is in the printing business.

John J. Hurley, Republican committeeman from the Twentieth Ward, has resigned as Deputy Coroner to campaign for the Republican nomination.

FROM Xanthi and Cavalla . . . Smyrna and Samsoun . . . the finest Turkish tobaccos travel 4,000 miles to add flavor and fragrance to CHESTERFIELD.

4000 miles for better taste

TURKISH tobacco is strung leaf-by-leaf and hung in long strands to dry and cure in the sun. In every important tobacco-growing center of Turkey, CHESTERFIELD has its own tobacco buyers.

CIGARETTE smokers owe a lot to Turkish tobacco, for it was cigarettes made out of Turkish tobacco that first became the vogue in this country.

Then it was found that a blend of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos was better than either kind of tobacco straight. It takes just the right amount of the right kind of Turkish tobacco to give a cigarette better taste. For Turkish tobacco is to cigarettes what seasoning is to food—the spice—the sauce. You want enough but not too much.

There is just enough Turkish in CHESTERFIELDS to give them a better flavor, a more pleasing aroma; to make them taste better.

Turkish tobacco must pay an import duty of 35c a pound; but cost doesn't count when it comes to making CHESTERFIELD the best cigarette that science and money can produce.

STATE FUNERAL VOTED FOR SENATOR HARRIS

Services for Georgian Will Be Held in Senate Chamber. Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The Senate today ordered a state funeral for Senator William J. Harris of Georgia, who died yesterday, to be held in the Senate Chamber at 11 a. m. tomorrow, carrying out the wishes of his widow.

President Hoover, the Cabinet members, the Supreme Court, the House of Representatives and the diplomatic corps, along with other government dignitaries, were invited by the Senate to attend. The Rev. Ze Barney Phillips, chaplain of the Senate, is expected to officiate.

Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, submitted on behalf of Senator George, Senator Harris' colleague, the resolution calling for the state funeral. It was agreed to immediately, after which the committee to accompany the body to Cedartown, Ga., for burial rites Thursday was announced as follows: Senators George, Watson, Robinson of Arkansas, Moses, Kendrick, Jones, McKellar, Reed, Trammell, Vandenberg, Copeland, Glenn, Bratton, Hatfield and Black.

Following announcement of his death in the Senate, that body adjourned as a mark of respect. Senator George said:

"He was one of the most diligent and active Senators and has been more devoted to the interests of individual citizens of his state than any other man who represented the State in my recollection."

Harris began as secretary to Senator A. S. Clay. He served as a Georgia State Senator, a member, secretary and chairman of the Democratic State Committee. In 1913 he was appointed director of the Census Bureau; later he was acting Secretary of Commerce, and then became chairman of the Federal Trade Commission. He entered the Senate in 1919, and was serving his third consecutive term. He was the ranking Democratic member of the Appropriations Committee. Gov. Russell of Georgia will fill his place by appointment until a successor is elected in November to serve out the term ending in 1937.

Harris is survived by his widow, who was Julia Knox Hull Wheeler, and one daughter.

During his Senate career, Harris took an especial interest in immigration and was particularly opposed to Mexican immigration. He also devoted much attention toward obtaining a Federal appropriation for cancer research in cooperation with philanthropic agencies.

Harris was born in Cedartown, Ga., Feb. 3, 1868. Two of the Senator's brothers were army officers—Major-General Peter C. Harris, who was recognized for gallant service in the Spanish-American War and who was Adjutant-General of the United States Army from September, 1918, until his retirement four years later, and Maj. Hunter Harris, who, after an enviable record in the World War, became instructor in military science at the University of Georgia. His other brothers were Dr. Seale Harris, a former president of the Southern Medical Association, and James C. Harris, for years superintendent of the Georgia State Institute for Deaf and Dumb.

After his public school education, Harris went to the University of Georgia, where he was graduated in 1890.

RULES ONE WHO CALLS EXPERT WITNESSES MUST PAY THEM

U. S. Appeals Court Says Fees Cannot Be Charged as Costs of Litigation.

The fees of expert witnesses in Federal Court must be paid by the litigant who summons the experts and cannot be charged as costs of the case, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals ruled yesterday after receiving instructions on the question from the United States Supreme Court.

The case in which the decision was given was the suit of Mrs. Ruth J. Henkel against the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha Railroad for the death of her husband, Carl E. P. Henkel, in a wreck. Mrs. Henkel received a judgment of $32,700, May 8, 1930, and the defendant filed a motion for a new trial which was overruled after Mrs. Henkel agreed to accept a reduction to $27,000.

She then filed a claim for expert witness fees, asking that the defendant be required to pay Sven A. Norling $1707.35, and Adolph F. Meyer $680. Norling and Meyer, civil and hydraulic engineers, were among her witnesses.

The trial court overruled the claims on the ground that they were excessive and unreasonable and that Federal courts had no authority by law to assess expert fees against the defendant.

Illinoisan at Massachusetts Tech Thought to Have Fallen.

By the Associated Press.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., April 19.—The body of F. Winchell Reeve, 23 years old, of Western Springs, Ill., a Massachusetts Institute of Technology student, was found in the sea yesterday off the rocky shore on which he, five other youths and six girls held a picnic Saturday.

According to his companions, Reeve left the party in search of driftwood and did not return. One theory is that he fell down the rocky shore and into the sea. Examination showed injuries indicating that he had fallen on his head.

JOSEPH F. SCHERMEN, 64, DIES

Former Detective-Sergeant of Police Succumbs to Paralysis.

Joseph F. Schermen, former detective sergeant, died today at his home, 3400A Winnebago street, following a paralytic stroke yesterday. He had been in ill health since his retirement from the police force two years ago. He was 64 years old.

Before entering the Police Department in 1896, Sergt. Schermen was a Deputy Sheriff and for several years was in charge of executions at the City Jail. He became a Sergeant in 1907 and for nine years before his retirement was a Detective-Sergeant. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Catherine Schermen, a son, Joseph F. Schermen Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Clara Horrell. The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Friday to St. Anthony's Church, Virginia and Meramec avenue. Burial will take place in the new SS. Peter and Paul's Cemetery.

Illinois Farmer Kills Self.

Edward M. Stillman, 45 years old, was found dead yesterday from a gunshot wound in the head at his home near Monsanto village, south of East St. Louis. A Coroner's verdict of suicide was returned. Members of the family said he was despondent about family troubles. He was divorced.

$722,000 ESTATE TO SERVANTS

Bequests Made in Will of Chicago Realty Man.

CHICAGO, April 19.—A will bequeathing the bulk of a $722,000 estate to house servants and their relatives was filed yesterday in Probate Court. The will was written by the late Thomas H. Hulbert, real estate operator.

Ella Cramer, Hulbert's housekeeper, was bequeathed $150,000 in cash and his personal effects; Hattie and Josiah Brown, Grand Rapids, Mich., her sister and brother-in-law, were left $10,000 each; another sister of Miss Cramer, Agnes Malley, is to receive $75,000. Hulbert's chauffeur, John Schneider, was willed a house and lot, and two other servants, Elizabeth Hammer and Anna Kuhn, were bequeathed $10,000 each.

Ruth Out of the Game

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, April 19.—Babe Ruth will take another day of rest from baseball today on account of the cold which has incapacitated him since yesterday. Although he had expected to return to the Yankees' lineup for the two games with the Red Sox today, Ruth still was confined to bed at his hotel room this morning.

Bandy's Backer Quits Boxing Game; Alleges "Unfair Treatment"

By W. J. McGoogan.

William A. Berberich, owner of the Marquette Hotel and several other enterprises in St. Louis, who has been associated with Eddie Vandeventer (Kid Bandy) in the promotion of boxing here since last fall, announced today that he and Bandy have decided to retire from the field "until such time as they can be assured of fair treatment from the Missouri Athletic Commission and particularly from Seneca Taylor, Commissioner for the St. Louis district."

Berberich charges that Taylor has done everything possible to hamper boxing promotion despite the fact that he (Berberich) and Bandy have met all obligations and have tried to live up to the spirit and letter of the Missouri law regulating boxing.

He further charges that one of the chief obstacles thrown in the way of successful boxing promotion has been the commissioner's demands for free tickets. But the final act which determined him to withdraw from the game, he says, was the commissioner's assignment of Wednesday night, April 20 to Promoter Tom Packs for the wrestling match between Jimmy Londos and Earl McCready, which followed only two days the boxing match between Joe Ghnouly and Johnny Kaiser, held at the Coliseum last night with a loss to the promoters of approximately $1100. Berberich declared his loss for the season was more than $12,000.

Bandy has carried a protest against this action to Gov. Caulfield, who yesterday announced that he would call a meeting of the commission in Jefferson City upon his return to the State capital from the Governors' conference at Richmond, Va., which will be about April 28.

Berberich said he would seek a hearing before the meeting to be called by the Governor.

"As to Taylor's demands for passes," Berberich said, "the commissioner obtains 123 for each show. Forty of them are for his personal distribution, 24 are designated 'Taylor's press row' (whatever that may mean), 35, Taylor says, are for State Legislators, nine for referees, one for Judge Robert Hall, two for State auditors and 12 for State Inspectors.

"And the worst of it is, most of the legislators who attend boxing shows appear without tickets and we have to admit them on their cards.

"Not only does this situation cause an actual loss to us in money, but managers of boxers who are familiar with the condition insist

JIM HENNIGAN RUNS SECOND AND QUALIFIES FOR OLYMPICS

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, April 19.—A new marathon hero was crowned and an old favorite faded today as 24-year-old Paul de Bruyn of New York, German immigrant, won the classic Boston distance race in the close to record time of 2 hours 33 minutes 36 2-5 seconds, with Clarence Demar back in eighteenth place.

De Bruyn, running well up all the way, came fast in the last two miles to lead Jimmy Hennigan to the wire by almost a minute. Hennigan won last year and by his place today qualified to represent the United States in the Olympic marathon.

Demar, the New Hampshire schoolmaster, lacked the speed to keep with the pack today and was never a contender.

The record for the course of 26 miles, 385 yards, the classic Marathon distance, was set at 2 hours 33 minutes 8 4-5 seconds by Johnny Miles in 1929.

Willie Kyronen of the Finnish-American A. C. was third.

Kyronen's time was 2:34:55.

William Steiner of the New York National Guard was fifth.

De Bruyn Worked Way Across Ocean to Run in Germany.

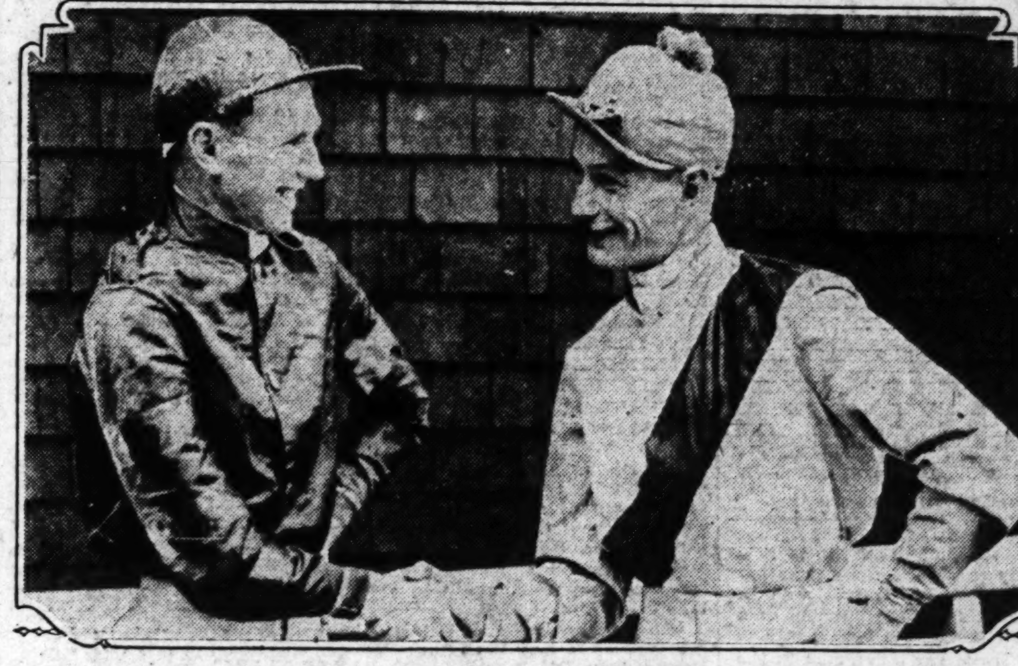

NEW YORK, April 19.—Paul De Bruyn, who won the Boston Marathon today, is a young German immigrant of Brooklyn, who was so confident of his ability as a runner he worked his way back to Germany on a cattle boat last summer to run and win the German Marathon.

He had engaged in a few road races on this side with only moderate success and felt he had to show the home folks what he could do before they would consider him as a member of their Olympic team.

When he won the German classic and the story of his trip came out, funds were raised to send him back to the United States in style.

He has competed in several road races in and around New York during the winter and set new American records. His latest feat was to win the 25-mile run at Staten Island March 20 in the record time of 2h 44m 50s.

Cards Fundamentally Sound, Says Street, as Team Takes to Road

By J. Roy Stockton.

Now is the time for all good clubs to give the second division and even the cellar a thorough inspection and really, Dodderidge, there's no need for that line of volunteer pallbearers to form on the right. The Cardinals are not dead and they are not even sick. They just can't seem to get going on this level stretch of road. But wait till they strike yonder hill and then watch the old engine do its stuff.

Four straight defeats, tying the Redbirds' longest losing streak of 1931, have given the fans the jitters, and if Gabby Street and his men were as collapsible as the customers you might hear something like the following from the Old Sergeant:

"Yes, it certainly looks like the Giants are the club the Cardinals will have to beat out if we are to finish in the cellar. However, we have lost four straight and I don't se why we can't make it 12 or even 40. Yes, if my boys just don't get careless I believe we'll have such a firm grip on last place that the Giants won't even have a chance.

You Can't Lose 'Em All.

"I am a little worried about my pitching. If it continues the way it has been, I don't believe we can help winning a few games and that might keep us from our last place goal for a time. Furthermore, there is cause for alarm in our batting. You know in the Pirate series we scored 30 runs in four games and that is an average of 7½ a contest, and it's tough for a club to keep its losing stride when it is likely to fall into that sort of a hitting streak at any time.

"Another thing that may thwart us in our cellar drive is the fact that I can't depend on our hitters and pitchers working together. Now, in the last two games with the Pirates and the two with the Cubs, everything was second division. My pitchers knew just when to pitch—that is, when the hitters were not hitting. And by the same camembert, my batters showed an extraordinary sense of roquefort. Did you notice that when my pitchers couldn't get the enemy to hit, our batters missed all their swings? But you can't depend on that sort of thing lasting all season. Our drive for last place is likely to be broken up at any minute if our hitters and batters should happen to discontinue what I have laughingly nicknamed their compensating reciprocal impotence."

What He Really Said.

Fortunately, however, Street is made of a little sterner stuff than that.

"We are fundamentally sound," he declared last night. "We have the pitching, our team has the punch and we have proved in more than one stiff pennant race that we have the heart. Position in the race doesn't mean anything. Look were the Athletics are and surely no one expects the teams which now are in the first division in the National League to stay there through the season. We have had losing streaks before. But each time the Cardinals have shown their ability to match a winning streak against every string of defeats. My confidence in the Cardinals is unshaken."

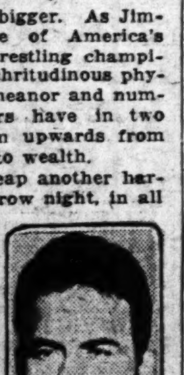

The Cardinals spent today in Dayton for an exhibition game and tomorrow they start their first road campaign, meeting the Pirates in the first game of a series of four. Four-game visits to Cincinnati and Chicago will follow before the Redbirds return to Sportsman's Park.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Still Going Big.

EVERY day in every way Christopher Theophilos' bank roll is growing bigger. As Jimmy Londos, one of America's modern style wrestling champions, Chris's pulchritudinous physique, suave demeanor and numerous encounters have in two years swept him upwards from mere affluence to wealth.

Londos will reap another harvest here tomorrow night, in all probability. As nearly as our unofficial records reveal, this will be Jim's forty-sixth defense of his title claims this year—for in wrestling, a champion's title is always at stake.

LONDOS.

This is 11 times more than Londos wrestled in 1931, as of even date, and indicates that the powerful Greek is in a fair way to eclipse all records for piling up income at this sport.

Last year Londos wrestled 114 appearances that are of record. There may have been others that escaped us. At any rate, what with two or three big purses, he was credited with having made for himself close to $200,000.

If the outdoor season of 1932 yields a few such receipts totals as last year, Londos will set a new high for earnings.

At his present rate Londos will have wrestled more than 150 times, by the end of the year; and if he averages only $1500 an appearance, it should bring him a total of about $225,000!

The Title Situation.

LONDOS seems to be in no danger of losing the "title" he won from Dick Shikat in June, 1930, in Philadelphia. Although he is wrestling McCready for the first time, there is no illusion existing among fans that a wrestler, who is little more than a year or two out of college, will be elevated to the championship.

McCready has been thoroughly tested by all the "policemen" in the Curley circuit. Shikat, Steele, Dusek and others, have all come to grips with him. They know his capabilities by this time, and, doubtless, so does Londos. He has been classified, in all probability, as not too dangerous.

Those who figure that it is about time for a change in leadership of the Curley group of wrestlers are wondering why

Hafey Signs With Reds for 1 Year

CINCINNATI, O., April 19.—Charles F. (Chick) Hafey signed a year's contract and became a full-fledged member of the Cincinnati Reds today.

"That's that, and I'm ready to go," he said.

He did go—right out to Redland Field for some batting practice before leaving with the rest of the Red squad for Chicago and another series with the Cubs tomorrow.

The amount his contract calls for was not revealed, but he expressed himself as highly pleased, partly because of that, and partly because there are other former members of the St. Louis Cardinals—Douthit, High and Roettger—to make him feel at home.

HACK WILSON OUT OF GAME WITH INJURY

By the Associated Press.

BROOKLYN, April 19.—Hack Wilson was out of the Dodgers' lineup when they closed their four-game series with the Phillies here today. In yesterday's game Hack pulled a ligament in his left leg sliding into second base and the injury kept him on the bench.

DETROIT, April 19.—The Browns lost to the Detroit Tigers this afternoon in the fourth and final game of the series. The Browns open at home tomorrow with Chicago.

The score was 8 to 0.

The weather was warmer and a crowd of about 4000 attended.

Bucky Harris, Tiger manager, announced before the game that Truett B. Sewell, recruit right-handed pitcher, had been released to Toronto of the International League under option.

The game:

FIRST INNING — BROWNS — Schulte singled to center. Burns hit into a double play, Rogell to Gehringer to Davis. Melillo lined to Rogell.

DETROIT—Johnson doubled to the scoreboard. Davis walked. Stone sacrificed and was safe on Kress' low throw, filling the bases. Gehringer cleared the bases with a triple to right, Rhiel singled to left, scoring Gehringer. Rogell flied to Goslin. Walker singled to right, sending Rhiel to third, but Walker was out trying to take two extra bases on his scratch hit, Kress unassisted. Hayworth singled to right, scoring Rhiel. Whitehill struck out. FIVE RUNS.

DETROIT—Johnson grounded to Melillo. Davis singled to center. Stone fouled to Kress. Gehringer flied to Melillo.

THIRD—BROWNS—Bettencourt lined to Johnson. So did Levey. Stewart rolled to Gehringer.

DETROIT—Rhiel grounded to Melillo. Rogell flied to Levey. Walker popped to Ferrell.

FOURTH — BROWNS — Schulte was safe at first when Davis made a wild throw on his grounder. Burns struck out. Melillo hit into a double play, Gehringer to Rogell to Davis.

DETROIT — Stone struck out. Gehringer doubled off the bleacher screen. Rhiel singled to left, scoring Gehringer. Rogell tripled to center, scoring Rhiel. Stewart was taken out and Kimsey went in to pitch for the Browns. Walker struck out. Rogell scored on a wild pitch. Hayworth lined to Melillo. THREE RUNS.

SIXTH — BROWNS — Schulte fouled to Stone. Burns' fly fell between Walker and Gehringer for a scratch double. Melillo fouled to Davis. Goslin popped to Rogell.

DETROIT — Stone grounded to Levey. Gehringer flied to Goslin. Rhiel lined to Schulte.

EIGHTH — BROWNS — Rogell threw out Levey. Kloza batted for Kimsey and was thrown out by Rhiel. Schulte's fly dropped over Gehringer for a single. Burns lined to Johnson.

DETROIT—Collins went in to pitch for the Browns. Rogell singled to right. Walker flied to Bettencourt. Hayworth hit into a double play, Kress to Melillo to Burns.

JOE JACOBS' MOTHER DIES.

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 19. — Mrs. Bertha Jacobs, mother of Joe Jacobs, Max Schmeling's manager, died early today at her home, 300 West Forty-ninth street, of a heart attack. She was 61 and the widow of Samuel Jacobs, who died two years ago.

KANSAS CITY WOMAN BOWLS 668, NEW RECORD

Miss Audrey McVay of Kansas City, 25-year-old bowler competing in her first international tournament, today set a new record for singles with a 668 total in the meet winding up at the Rogers alleys.

Bowling 255, 226 and 187, Miss McVay displaced as singles leader Mrs. Theresa Rourke of Chicago, whose total was 663.

First place at the end of the tournament, now in its final day, carries a diamond medal and a $60 cash prize.

Miss McVay has been bowling only three years.

The Martin-Breitt five of St. Louis won the honors in team competition, the score of 2664 rolled by the local aggregation standing up under the final assault of quintets which bowled last night. The total was 54 pins under the score with which the Alberties of Chicago captured the championship a year ago.

One of the features in the rolling of the team event last night was the work of Mrs. R. J. McCutcheon of Pueblo, who, bowling with a quintet known as the Travelers, counted 603, with games of 189, 220 and 194. If she can continue this pace in the doubles and singles this afternoon, she has a good chance to replace Marie Warmbier of Chicago, who paces the all-events with a record total of 1807.

Mrs. Edward Kranich of Detroit had a fine chance to take the lead in the nine-game division yesterday, but was stopped by errors. As it was she totaled 1788 to go into second place. The Michigan bowler counted 652 in the team event, 596 in doubles and 540 in the singles.

JOE GHNOULY AGAIN OUTPOINTS KAISER IN 10-ROUND BOUT

YOUNGER BOXER TOO STRONG FOR VETERAN; HORNER LOSES DECISION

Coliseum Results

DUKE TRAMMEL, Fort Worth, Tex. (148), outpointed Jack Horner, St. Louis (147), 10 rounds. Harry Kessler, referee.
DAVE BARRY, St. Louis (123), knocked out Paul Walker, Cincinnati (125), first round. Harry Cook, referee.
HOWARD SCOTT, St. Louis (135), defeated Doc Ketchens, Fort Worth, Tex. (133), six rounds. Harry Kessler, referee.
JUDGES—Jim Solari and Bob Parkinson.

By W. J. McGoogan.

Joe Ghnouly, rugged little South St. Louis boy, today holds the crown worn by Johnny Kaiser for many years—that of the best little fighter in the city. He triumphed over Kaiser at the Coliseum last night in 10 rounds, repeating the victory he gained on Nov. 4 last.

In defeating Kaiser for the second time, Ghnouly showed the best effort he has made in several bouts here. He clearly won over Kaiser, gaining five of the 10 rounds, with one for Kaiser and four even.

Kaiser himself best described the battle after it was over in the following words:

"My seconds were hollering at me to knock Joe off when we were fighting in close, but I couldn't. He was just too strong. And he has improved in ring polish since we met a few months ago. When I was taking it easy, then he was doing his hardest work. When I was throwing punches at him he was moving out of harm's way. None of Joe's punches hurt me seriously, however, and I think I hurt him once. That was in the sixth round when I was able to get over my right hand to his chin. But he took it like a major and came back fighting."

Kaiser Cool Under Fire.

The bout was something of a repetition of the boys' first meeting. Kaiser fought a cool, heady fight but Ghnouly proved just too strong and rugged for him. John couldn't get set for his punches for Joe swarmed all over him and in the last few rounds the fast pace told on the veteran and Kaiser lost the final sessions decisively.

Fans leaving the building were bemoaning the fact that Ghnouly hasn't a devastating punch. Local fans believe with a kayo wallop he would prove a real sensation in boxing.

The bout was a hectic one, with the boys trying hard and throwing punches just about every second of the 10 rounds. Ghnouly used a left hook to the head with especial skill, while Kaiser did his share of punching. But always Joe was careful to see that the dynamite in Johnny's right hand didn't land on a vulnerable spot. There was one exception. That was in the sixth round, as Kaiser related, and was the only round which Kaiser won. From that time it was all Ghnouly.

It was well the final bout was a hummer for the balance of the card promoted by Kid Bandy wasn't so hot. Duke Trammel had Jack Horner out on his feet several times in their 10-round semiwindup, but stood back, apparently waiting for Horner to fall over. When he didn't, Trammel made no effort to do anything about it.

There was considerable holding in the match which brought down the boos of the fans. Horner was to blame in the early part of the fight, but later Trammel did his share.

Parks Scores a Knockout.

Joe Parks gained a technical knockout over Jack London of Chillicothe, Mo., or at least a fighter billed under that name, in the second round of his first professional bout. London was so pitiful as to be laughable. He couldn't fight and when Parks connected with a left hook to the stomach toward the close of the first round, London was glad to seek the safety of the canvas. The bell rang before he was counted out. This gave him a minute respite but to make sure that he wouldn't have to face Parks again he fell off his stool on to the floor when the bell sounded the start of the second round.

Paul Walker of Cincinnati was substituted as Dave Barry's opponent and lasted one minute and 40 seconds. He was impossible. Tho fight did not do Brrry or anyone else any good.

The first two preliminaries were fairly hard fought, with Howard Scott winning over Doc Ketchens, Fort Worth, in six rounds, and Billy Miller, Fort Worth, defeating Kid Kelly, Cincinnati, in six. Kelly was on the floor in the first round of his fight and took enough punishment to put away two average preliminary boys, but he stayed to the finish.

Only 2442 persons attended and paid $1896.50. The State tax was $89.60.

Bob Riley left St. Louis today in charge of Lou Terry, Howard Scott and Dave Barry for a campaign in the East. He expects to be gone about two months, with Pittsburg as the first stop.

NO. 9. DERBY CANDIDATES
By Harry McKanna.

Col. William F. Knebelkamp, owner of the Louisville (American Association) baseball club, hopes his Kentucky Derby candidate, Delivered, will live up to his name in the fifty-eighth running of the Blue Grass classic, May 7.

The "Colonel," who finds running of a Class AA ball club doesn't take up all of his time, and operates a small racing stable, thinks his Leo O. Cotner gelding has a good chance to win, especially if it is decided in the mud, and others apparently think so, too, as Delivered has dropped down to 40 to 1 in Tom Kearney's future book.

In 13 starts as a two-year-old Delivered proved a good mudder. Five of his starts were in the mud. He finished out of the money only once over a soft track.

Delivered didn't look much better than a plater until the closing races of his juvenile career when he won his last two outs, the last on Oct. 31 at Latonia when he captured the Queen City Handicap, winning $14,350 for his owner. He won by a nose over Semaphore with Lejoy. Delivered closed with fine speed and got up in the final strides to win. Back of the three were Our Fancy, Texas Knight, Late Date and Pompeius. This was the best field he met as a two-year-old. Delivered's time was 1:41.

Proves He Is Route Runner.

In this race and his previous out, Delivered showed he was a route runner. A week before his victory in the Queen City Handicap, he beat Catharine Fox by three-fourths of a length at one mile and 70 yards in the mud in 1:49 3-5. Delivered was fractious at the post, and was placed outside the gate, but was away well, and won the race driving.

Delivered made his first start as a two-year-old May 13 at Churchill Downs in a five-furlong maiden race, losing the race by a neck to Mendell. He was bumped by the winner in the final eighth, and appeared to tire.

He finished seventh in his next out, May 18, at the Downs, at the same distance. He acted up at the post and was placed outside, broke slowly and lost much ground.

In the Bashford Manor Stakes at the Downs May 20, Delivered was twelfth in a field of 13. He ran away from the barrier four times before the horses got away.

Rested till July, Delivered bowed twice to Cold Check, another Derby eligible, the first time on July 7 at Latonia at five and one-half furlongs, and in the Cincinnati Trophy July 11 at six furlongs. Twelfth lengths behind Cold Check in the five and one-half furlong dash, he was 17 lengths behind in the next meeting. Again Delivered was a bad actor at the post.

Won First Race in August.

Delivered graduated Aug. 31 at Dade Park, beating Lojo by three lengths in a five and one-half furlong claiming race. Off seventh he reached contention after losing much ground and continuing well under urging drew out to win with speed to spare.

He competed from then until the Queen City Handicap in claiming events, meeting top platers. He finished fifth to Cotton Time, Sept. 4, at Dade Park, at five furlongs, starting slowly after being fractious at the post.

Delivered was brought to Fairmount, running sixth to Ellen D. in a six-furlong sprint. Again he proved a bad post actor, and appeared to sulk at the finish. He came back on Sept. 25 to beat Black West. He was off ninth, but closed fast.

Delivered has been training well at Churchill Downs and in a recent workout ran a mile in the mud in 1:46 3-5.

Collinsville Net Team Leader in East Side Race

All but one of the scheduled second-round tennis matches in the Southwestern Illinois Conference tennis race were played yesterday afternoon, with favorites winning in all divisions. The Madison-Wood River match was postponed until later in the week.

The Collinsvill Kakohs were victorious in both the doubles and singles matches with East St. Louis. Capt. Jack McCasland and Bobby Gauen won over Willie Knaus and Frank Warren in the doubles, 6—3, 6—2. In the singles match Bill Jones of Collinsville defeated Jack Baughman of East St. Louis, 6—2, 6—2. The East Side girls doubles team defeated the Collinsville team while the Collinsville representative in the singles won over Virginia Doody.

Belleville made a clean sweep of its match with Granite City. Art Schmisseuer and Tom Berg of Belleville won from Rodemeyer and Niedringhaus in the doubles, 6—3, 6—4. In the singles, Tyral Braun won from Richard Byers, 6—2, 6—4. The Belleville girls doubles team won over the Granite girls, 6—1, 6—0, while in the singles the Belleville representative won in love sets.

Edwardsville lost in both the doubles and singles matches to Alton teams. Edwardsville girls won both matches. Daniels and Blumberg of Edwardsville were defeated in the boys doubles, 6—3, 6—4, while Cornwell of Alton defeated Stubbs of Edwardsville in the boys singles, 6—2, 6—4. The Edwardsville girls won the doubles, 6—3, 6—2, while the Edwardsville girls singles representative won, 6—4, 6—4.

Collinsville has won four straight matches, while Alton also has an impressive record. The third round games will be played next Monday.

WRESTLING TRIALS TO BE HELD APRIL 28

Preliminaries and finals in three weight divisions of wrestling will be held under the auspices of the Western A. A. U. at the North Side Y. M. C. A. April 28 in the first district eliminations to decide a team to attend the national finals.

Amateur wrestlers in the 123-pound, 132-pound and 145-pound divisions will contest for places.

WILMINGTON, O., April 19.

THE revised football rules relating to the kickoff were exposed today to a coach's criticism that they were responsible for the critical injury of one of his players.

Coach Amos Smith said Williams, playing a guard on the defensive team, was exposed to greater possibility of injury because the new rules prevented him from meeting the full speed of an opposing player with equal force.

The Wilmington team went through a 10-game schedule last season undefeated and without a serious injury, but Smith predicted the new kickoff rule will "result in more injuries than ever."

WRAY'S Column

Londos has not met Dick Shikat in a return match. It is now nearly two years since their encounter, which Londos won in one fall; but little mention of a return match has been heard.

There is one other man in the Curley group whom Londos appears to have avoided. He is the giant Hans Steinke. Unless our records are defective Londos and Steinke have not met since James became king of the Curley circuit.

Of course, there are other wrestlers whom Londos has never met. One of them, Henri Deglane, claims the title, while others have held it in the past. Not being in the same "circus," Deglane and Londos are not likely to meet.

Then there is also Ed Lewis, who has not met Londos in years but who, so the sideline observers think, is being built up for an outdoor clash with Londos this summer.

But the two men named, Shikat and Steinke, are in the same group as Londos and Lewis. Their failure to wrestle him appears strange, because Londos seems to have little hesitancy about repeating his appearances against other opponents. For example, since gaining the title (in the Curley group) Londos has wrestled opponents as follows:

	Times.
Renato Gardini	10
Gino Garibaldi	9
Rudy Dusek	8
Ray Steele	7
Sando Szabo	7
Dick Daviscourt	7
Milo Steinborn	7
Pat O'Shocker	7
Jim McMillen	5
George Zaharias	5
Matros Kirilenko	5
Kola Kwariani	5
Tiny Roebuck	5

This year, in three-and-one-half months, Londos has defeated Mike Romano, Milo Steinborn, George Kotsonaros, Dick Daviscourt and Sammy Stein three times each; he has met several others twice.

The exacting demands of upholding fame in the wrestling world seem not to tire Londos who, on one occasion this year, wrestled five times in one week. Thus far he has wrestled an average of one match every 2.4 days in 1932.

As if to add a touch of the bizarre to the situation, on one occasion last week, when Londos was defending his title against Sammy Stein, McCready was tossing Frank Speer in a preliminary on the same card.

All of which seems slightly confusing to those with a sense of proportion. But then in wrestling nobody worries about sense. It's the dollars that count.

What Will the Harvest Be?

THEY'RE building a great stadium at Long Island City to house the Max Schmeling-Jack Sharkey fight next June; but those who have dabbled in fight affairs are wondering what the harvest will be?

The economic side of everything has been so emphasized in recent months that this is the first angle of every promotion to be discussed. And at this writing the Eastern viewpoint has little about it that is rosy.

In fact, considering that politically the eyes of the country will focus on Chicago next June, it is unlikely that even a title fight can go over big—in the sense of a million-dollar gate—on June 16. The country will be steeped in politics and deep in the fate of the dry referendum. Also, the upturn in business is still slow and there is a scant chance of fans taking long journeys to get a ringside view of Max and Jack.

It would not be surprising, indeed, if the event were postponed until calmer days. In the meantime Max Schmeling's exhibition tour has hit the rocks and the champion himself is sitting in the shadow of suspension.

ST. PAUL HAS LOST SEVEN GAMES IN ROW

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 19.—Albert Leifield and his St. Paul club still were wondering today how to score the tying and winning runs in a ball game.

The Saints yesterday lost their seventh straight game of the Young American Association season, and for the sixth time were beaten by one run. The 1931 champions of the Thomas Jefferson Hickey circuit had a 4-to-0 lead at the end of the fifth inning, but Indianapolis whipped up in time to win by 5 to 4.

BEARS HIT HARD TO BEAT TIGERS BY 8-TO-4 SCORE

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 19.—Masterful pitching by Jordan, coupled with a batting attack concentrated when it was needed most, sent Coach Don White's Washington Bears to an 8-to-4 victory over Missouri U. here yesterday.

The Bears' offensive centered around the batting of Bush, shortstop, who poled out three safeties in five trips to the plate. It was, however, the effective hurling of Jordan which more than any other factor accounted for the Washington success.

Four Hitless Innings.

Throughout four innings Jordan held the Missourians without a hit, and Farmer, Tiger shortstop, was the only man who succeeded in reaching the bases in that time. He was hit by a pitched ball.

The St. Louisans launched their attack early, picking up one run in the second and staging a four-run offensive in the third. The battle went into the fifth inning before the Tigers succeeded in touching Jordan for a safety, Vandeveer's triple in that frame sending two runs over the plate for the first Missouri scoring.

A trio of hits in the seventh by Grauenginer, Bennett and Bush accounted for another run in the Bears' total and in the final frame the St. Louisans hit their stride again with Vesper, Machen and Bush connecting and Bennett chipping in with a walk, which produced two more.

Capt. Embry, Asbury and Miller joined in the last inning Missouri rally with blows which accounted for two runs, but fell short of the victory mark.

Wagner Beaten.

In trouncing the Tigers, Washington U. handed Norman Wagner, 6-foot 4-inch St. Louis boy and former Normandy High star, his first collegiate defeat since as a sophomore last year he took his place as the Missouri hurling ace. The Bears had Wagner in trouble almost all the way. The big Tiger pitcher walked seven, while Jordan donated but one free trip.

Spring Song.

TELL me not in words well chosen,
That the robin and the jay,
Find that when their pipes are frozen,
They can pipe a merry lay.

Let us then while winter lingers
In the lap of gentle spring,
Overlook the butter fingers,
That to baseballs do not cling.

Spring has many hidden terrors
Following in winter's wake;
Let us then condone the errors
That the players often make.

Frost is real, frost is nipping,
Be it winter, fall or spring,
Which accounts for fingers slipping
When the player starts to fling.

Muscles have become contracted
And inclined to tighten up;
When spring's toll has been exacted
Batting eyes will brighten up.

Elliott's Long Homer Wins for Ferguson High

Scoring four runs in the tenth inning, Ferguson High yesterday defeated Normandy High, 7 to 3, in an intergroup County game. With three on in this extra period, Bud Elliott hit over the right-field fence for a homer to end a brilliant pitching performance given by Rogers of Normandy and Skillington of Ferguson.

For Pure Harmony, the Cubs Have It on "Sweet Adeline"

Not a Funeral Note Is Heard Throughout the Entire Chicago Band as Drum Major Hornsby Shows the Way in the National League Parade.

By James M. Gould.

Ever since last season when Hack Wilson, then a Cub, and his playmates, "Gabby" Hartnett and Pat Malone, were disciplined by Rogers Hornsby in his capacity as manager of the Chicago team, there have been rumors that all was not well with the morale of that club.

When Burleigh Grimes was traded to Chicago, it was said that he and Hornsby never would get along; there would be a clash of personalities before the first week of training work was completed. Also, said the rumor mongers, "everybody was sore at Hornsby out on the Coast," and the team was sure to be a flop in the 1932 race.

HORNSBY.

It was all just too bad. Why, the rumor purveyors would have you believe the Cubs weren't even going to try to win.

So persistent were these reports that an investigation was made by the Post-Dispatch with the following results:

There isn't a sorehead on the club.

Hornsby is recognized by the players as a driving manager but not unfair or unjust.

The spirit of the Cubs, according to the players themselves, never was better.

Hornsby declares the morale higher than on any Chicago club of which he has been a member.

The supposed malcontents—Hartnett and Malone—report that "everything is fine with us and with the team."

Instead of "flopping," the Cubs have won four of their first six games and this has been achieved with Woody English and Burleigh Grimes out of action because of injury and illness.

Cubs Show Fine Spirit.

In games here, the Cubs played snappily at all times and there was plenty of "conversation" while the team was afield.

Chicago newspapermen, with the team since the beginning of training, declared unanimously that there wasn't the slightest trouble of any kind at any time this year.

Capt. Charley Grimm, a St. Louisan, was glad, he said, to deny personally these reports.

"You can go as far as you like," he said, "in stating that, in all my major league experience, I never have seen a club that was working harder or more together than the 1932 Cubs. There has been the finest kind of harmony and never a clash of any kind. Every man on the team appreciates Hornsby's ability and his great desire to win and they have been helping him and will continue to do so all season. "And," he added, "don't believe all you hear about the Cardinals and Giants beating us out, either."

Kiki Cuyler was another who announced his willingness to be quoted as denying there was any warfare. "Hornsby," Cuyler said, "is a straightaway chap and one who doesn't dodge in taking responsibility for any strategy that goes wrong. He wants the team to play his system and insists on it. But, I am sure that he is getting the co-operation of every man on the team. He sure is getting mine." He laughed. "You know, I figure largely in this 'discontentment talk' but there isn't a word of truth in it."

Malone, Hartnett, Lance Richbourg and the coaches Corriden and O'Leary were others who declared the rumors "the bunk."

The investigation was made with the knowledge of Hornsby who gave sweeping permission to "go ahead and talk to the players. Let them tell you."

As for Hornsby himself, he said that he had, of course, heard the reports but was paying as little attention to them as they deserved.

"They don't bother me," he continued, "just give me a bit more hitting strength, have English and Grimes ready to work for me and I won't have time to be bothered by such nonsense. I'll be too busy keeping the team on top."

upon higher percentage figures to box in St. Louis than elsewhere, because they know the large chunk which will be taken out of the gate with free tickets.

"We have been unable to obtain some of the outstanding boxers for St. Louis appearances because of passes. Jack Dempsey refused to show here because his manager, Leonard Sacks, said he would not submit to the pass list.

"Jack Hurley, manager of Billy Petrolle and Charley Retzlaff, two of the best attractions in the country, won't even answer a letter regarding matches in St. Louis. He tried to promote here last year and his matchmaker was suspended by Taylor because of a quarrel over passes, and Hurley will not consider bringing his boxers to this city.

Met All Obligations Promptly.

"I personally am interested in boxing as a sport, and when Bandy asked me to associate myself with him last fall, I thought the game could be developed properly, if handled correctly. I thought the thing to do was to conduct promotions on a businesslike basis, meeting all obligations promptly and living up to the law. We posted a forfeit with Taylor of sufficient amount to cover any indebtedness. That he still has. But we shall demand its return now as soon as we present him receipts showing that all bills have been paid.

"If and when conditions are righted here by the Missouri Commission, we shall promote boxing again."

BEAUMONT WINS FROM SOLDAN; ROOSEVELT AND CENTRAL MEET

By Harold Tuthill.

Roosevelt will try for its fourth City High School League and its eighth consecutive victory of the baseball season this afternoon when the Rough Riders meet Central at the Public Schools Stadium, at 3:30 o'clock.

Beaumont moved into second place, defeating Soldan, 4 to 2, yesterday afternoon at the Stadium. John Stiles turned in a masterful pitching performance in limiting Soldan to five hits and two unearned runs. It was his second victory in three starts. He struck out eight batters. He also made two of Beaumont's eight hits. Charley Mueller accounted for three of the remaining five safeties and got the only extra-base hit of the contest, a double in the seventh inning.

After Beaumont had opened the game with one run, Soldan came back to tie it up at one all. Then for three more rounds the teams battled on even terms. Bill Casey being as effective in the box as Stiles. The Beaumont hurler started the fifth with his first single. He stole second and when Braudrick let Post's throw roll out into center field he moved to third. On the return, Johnson tossed wildly to home and Stiles scored on the heave.

Bacher was called out on strikes but Mueller and Farrell singled in succession, Mueller stopping at second. Resinger singled over second, scoring Mueller, and while Braudrick and Butts were running down Resinger between first and second, Farrel continued home unmolested. Keller grounded to Casey to end the rally.

Soldan counted its second run in the sixth on Johnson's single and steal of second and Mueller's error on Harper's grounder, which permitted Johnson to come in all the way from second. The fifth and last hit made off Stiles' shoots was by Joe Pirrone, who singled and stole second with one gone in the eighth. Joe was left standed as Johnson struck out and Harper was thrown out by Bob Mattick.

The probable batteries for today's game will be Steiner and Iezzi for Roosevelt and Sadowski and Schnurman for Central.

PERPETUAL YOUTH CUE TOURNAMENT TO OPEN MONDAY AFTERNOON

Announcement has been made that the annual Perpetual Youth billiard tournament will open at Peterson's next Monday afternoon. The tourney is in charge of F. T. Smith and N. T. Brown. The entry list will be limited to 32 of the 80 membership of the club and, as usual, will be an elimination affair.

Members of the club, to be eligible to compete, must be 70 or more years of age.

"ASH CAN DERBY" OPEN TO ST. LOUIS DRIVERS

One of the most thrilling and dangerous stunts known to motorcycle riders—crashing through a double board wall at 50 miles an hour—will be attempted by Jack Early at the Creve Coeur Speedway on the West Olive Street road May 1. This announcement was made early today by B. Ward Beam in connection with his "International Congress of Daredevils," which he will stage at Creve Coeur for its first showing in the St. Louis district.

In addition to Early's stunt ride, many of the nationally known motorcycle riders will bid for honors in competition in conjunction with a head-on collision between two autos and other thrill events.

Competition in the "Ash Can Derby," sometimes known as the "World's worst automobile race," is open to local lads. The only restriction as to the type of car is that the mount must not be valued at more than $50. Any type body, racing or stock, will be allowed. Entries may be made to B. Ward Beam at the Mayfair Hotel.

BOWLING NOTES

The Alexanders, with a total of 2944, which included a high single game of 1132, won the odd game from the Wooster Lambers in the feature match of the Vescovo Scratch League last week. Harold Schaeffer with a high game of 277 led the winners, with 642. Roy Nelson was best for the Lamberts with 2828. The Henry Schaeffers outrolled the Althoffs, 3068 to 3032, but lost the odd game. Kemper, 644; Whitet, 630, and Summers, 610, led the Schaeffers, while Herman, 651, and Nyhof, 625, were high for the Althoffs. In the other matches, the Claytons took three from the Meadow Golds, the Will Doctors won three from the Grand-St. Louis team and the Freunds won three from the Vollands.

The Conleys and Kloske-Fruehaufs are tied for first place in Frank Heidel's Scratch League as a result of last night's bowling. The Conleys dropped two games to the Lee Tires, while the Kloskes won the odd game from the Werners. The Conleys lost the first two games, but came back with an 1108 count to win the final game. Bill Ludwig was high with 627. Ed Foerst topped the Kloskes with 611. Ervin Brunsmann was the individual star of the evening, shooting 694 and helping the Gebkens win two games from the Heidels. Blech had 624 and Wild 618. Ringkamp, 631, and Heidel 619, were high for the losers. In the other match the Cornwells won two from the Duck's Five.

With only six more games to play, the Traffic Club League standing shows the Keen Kutters Pilot Shells and Scullins tied for first place, each team winning 62 games, while losing 34. The Manufacturers hold both high three game records with 3016 and 1035. Rice is leading the individual single games with 266, while Gerety is pacing the three games with 669. Mulconnery tops the average list with 188.

Frankie Benkovic and Charley Daw, crack Milwaukee bowlers rolled a 10-game exhibition match at Milwaukee recently with Benkovic totaling 2572 for an average of 257 and Daw getting 2316. Benkovic had no trouble in locating the pocket and scored several high counts, the best being 299, scored in the ninth game. His other high scores were: 288, 269, 269, 279 and 255. Daw's best game was 269. He also had a 268 count. Benkovic and Daw, members of the Verifine Ice team of Milwaukee, recently won the A. B. C. doubles title with a 1358 score.

Ed Kroner defeated Bill Compton by 134 pins in the first half of a 20-game match at the Century alleys Sunday. Kroner shooting 2288 and Compton 2154. Both bowlers were in good form. Kroner getting high scores of 278, 249 and 248 and Compton turning in counts of 258, 236 and 234. The final half will be bowled at the Compton alleys on Lemay Ferry Road next Sunday.

Clay Kerley, a member of the Green Sheets, set a new three-game record for the Newspaper League at Peterson's last night, rolling 732 and helping his team win three games from the Gumps. Kerley had games of 232, 243 and 257. Bob Voltz rolled 618 and the Green Sheets totaled 3021. The Sport Specials with a count of 2919 won three from the Orange Sheets. Ludgate 640 and Albers 602 being high. Schneider's 614 helped the States win three from the Intertypes and the Bungles won two from the Agates in the other matches.

DAVIS CUP NET ACES WIN FIRST ROUND MATCHES

By the Associated Press.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 19.—Safely past the first round without the loss of a set, American Davis Cup stars in the Mason and Dixon tennis championship faced another easy round today.

Ellsworth Vines, national singles champion, and his two Davis Cup teammates, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, all won easily yesterday, while the fourth member of the cup squad, Frank Shields, enjoyed a bye.

Vines whipped Armand Bruneau of New York, 6—1, 6—3; Allison, conqueror of Vines in the North and South at Pinehurst and the Tulane invitation at New Orleans, defeated Robert B. Lowry, New York, 6—2, 6—2; and Van Ryn defeated Clarence C. Chaffee of Providence, 6—1, 6—3.

Today Vines was to meet Harry Brown of White Sulphur Springs; Allison was paired against J. D. Martin Jr., another local player; Shields against Roland McKee, New York; Van Ryn against G. C. Shafer, Philadelphia; Gregory Mangin, Newark, against Dr. Philip B. Hawk, New York; J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., against D. K. Bowen, White Sulphur Springs; and Marcel Rainville of Montreal, against Fred C. Baggs, New York.

Only four matches were played in women's singles yesterday, the winners including Mrs. John Van Ryn of Philadelphia, Virginia Rice of Boston, Florence Lebouti Llier of Westbury, N. Y., and Edith Betts of New York.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

Vigus, Mo., defeated Maryland Heights, 8 to 0. Vigus collected 11 hits off Eller and Stahleton, while Schroeder held Maryland Heights to six hits. Each team committed two errors.

Schaefer Will Play McAndless In 18.2 Match

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, April 19. — Jake Schaefer, after one excursion into the three-cushion field, has decided to return to balkline, where he earned his honors in the billiard world. Schaefer will not wait until next fall to resume his balkline drive, but has arranged to get busy at once. His first match, which will be against David McAndless, former national amateur 18.2 balkline champion, will be at 1800 points, and will be played at Mussey's here on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The fact that Schaefer has opened his training campaign now evidently indicates that an international 18.2 balkline championship tournament is on the schedule for early next season. Schaefer last won the title in New York in February of 1929 and he has played little competitive balkline since.

While Schaefer was taking things easy, Willie Hoppe and Welker Cochran have been active in billiards, and now are at the top of their balkline, as well as their three-cushion game. Then again, the recent arrival of Arika Amada, the Japanese champion, who challenged Schaefer or any other American star for a special match, may have had much to do with Schaefer's early return to balkline.

If an international tournament is held next season there will be no scarcity of high-class talent. In the United States now there are Schaefer, Hoppe, Cochran, Eric Hagenlacher, the German star, and Kinrey Matsuyama and Amada, Japanese headliners. Edouard Horemans of Belgium, former world's titleholder, and Roger Conti and Felix Grange of France also will be available, as all three have announced their intention of competing in the next world's classic.

Schaefer most likely will engage in a few more balkline matches before the present season ends. An effort ill be made to have Hoppe, Cochran and Schaefer engage in a special tournament in Chicago within the next month.

STEPPED UP

...Stepped up in everything but the price—this new ace of motor fuels with its 70% higher anti-knock (superior to some premium gasolines). Improvements costing $18,000,000.

The only thing we haven't changed about the new Sinclair Regular is the price! At an expense of $18,000,000 in refinery improvements we have stepped up Sinclair Regular 70% in anti-knock—thereby making it actually superior in anti-knock to some premium gasolines selling at several cents more per gallon. Try a tankful of this new high-test motor fuel today—enjoy its split-second acceleration in traffic—its surprising economy in fuel consumption.

Use this amazing gasoline for 30 days and you'll be a regular customer for Sinclair Regular Gasoline!

NOTE: For best results use either SINCLAIR OPALINE MOTOR OIL or SINCLAIR PENNSYLVANIA MOTOR OIL. Both of these oils have not only been de-waxed, they have also been freed from petroleum jelly at as low as 60° F. below zero.

ONLY 16½¢ A DAY

ALL PORCELAIN CUSTOM BUILT

HERE IS AS STARTLING NEWS about a refrigerator as you will read this year. Possible because of Bohn quality.

For only 16½c a day, you can have a Bohn Electric placed in your kitchen—TOMORROW! This is the kind of refrigerator you get.

A Bohn Electric—built by a company that has concentrated on making fine refrigerators for 35 years. A refrigerator with these two distinct new blessings. First—faster freezing of both ice cubes and desserts (Bohn turned water to ice in 90 minutes in University tests) which means electric bills kept lower. Second—exclusive elastic porcelain, which won't crack, chip or turn yellow, and stays spotlessly, flawlessly white . . . for years.

Then you'll like the accessories. A Vegetable Freshner. A rubber ice cube tray. Six-plated chromium trim and hardware. Best of all, you can honestly say that Bohn is the most beautiful refrigerator you ever looked at. And you know its beauty comes from careful, honest construction, a tradition of 35 years of refrigerator making.

Come to the Bohn Refrigerator Shop and inspect these beautiful refrigerators. Look into this unique opportunity for you to have a superb quality refrigerator without the usual financial strain.

Doctors Find Trouble Here ◆ Can Ruin Health

"CONSTIPATION is the greatest enemy of vitality," explains Dr. Otto Kalischer, the famous Berlin physician. ▼ WHY SUFFER needlessly? Doctors advise yeast." Your entire health soon benefits.

When Women are LISTLESS

TIRED all day! Depressed. No enthusiasm . . . It may be—Intestinal Fatigue!

It's very often due to an easily corrected Physical Cause

Read what a very famous medical authority, Dr. Otto Kalischer, of Berlin, says on this subject:—

"Toxins are developed in the intestines from food wastes which the body does not get rid of normally . . . These poisons . . . pass into the blood and go through the system. "When you can't get rested, this is probably why."

Dr. Kalischer goes on:—

"Happily we have a remedy which is not a purgative but a nutritious food. This is fresh yeast." Yeast, he adds, softens accumulated residues in the body, tones and strengthens the intestines, renews "normal daily eliminations."

And when this occurs, your whole bodily health reflects it!

You have fewer colds and headaches. You sleep better. You get up in the morning feeling really rested, refreshed. Because you have banished self-poisoning!

Try Fleischmann's Yeast. It may mean the turning point in your health. The means to a better appetite, to greater energy. To cheerfulness. Zest!

Every cake of Fleischmann's Yeast, you know, is rich in three vitamins indispensable to perfect health—vitamins B, G and D. At grocers, restaurants, soda fountains. Directions are on the label. Eat 3 cakes a day.

WORD MISCONSTRUED, SAYS BISHOP CANNON

Favors Dry Vote Only If People in Elections, Show They Want It

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The idea that Bishop James Cannon Jr. of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, now favors resubmission of prohibition to the people, was corrected by him yesterday in an address before the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement.

A few days ago in Richmond Cannon said he approved the basic elements of former Gov. Byrd's plan for making possible a direct popular vote on repeal, modification or resubmission of the eighteenth amendment. This has been construed as meaning he favored an early vote on the question.

In his address yesterday he went over the previous speech in detail to show he was still "positively opposed to the resubmission of the prohibition amendment until the people have indicated clearly in congressional and senatorial elections that the people themselves, not the pes press, not the associations opposed to prohibition, not even the women wets want the amendment resubmitted."

Cannon added that he had said he would prefer to have the ratification made by State Legislatures or by a majority vote of the people rather than in conventions which could be manipulated or controlled. His choice was the legislature method.

The women today met for a "Valley Forge breakfast," in honor of George Washington and his troops. They heard talks by Senator Robinson of Indiana (Rep.), Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, widow of the inventor, and others. Mrs. Edison particularly urged greater respect for all law.

TO ABANDON RAIL LINE FROM BOWLING GREEN TO GILMORE

St. Louis and Hannibal Road Gets Commission's Approval; Shows $108,425 Deficit.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 19.—Abandonment of that part of the line of the St. Louis and Hannibal Railroad Co. between Bowling Green and its southern terminus at Gilmore, St. Charles County, because of operating losses, was authorized today by the Public Service Commission. The line to be abandoned is 52 miles in length, or approximately two-thirds of the main line of the company, 85 miles long, between Hannibal and Gilmore.

The abandonment was authorized on a showing by the company that it had an operating deficit each year in the last five years, with the exception of 1930, and that it had a balance sheet deficit of $108,425 last June 30, including $103,000 of unpaid interest. The company has a total investment of approximately $950,000 in road and equipment. The commission found that the losses were due to operations on that part of the line to be abandoned and that the part to be retained in operation could have shown a slight profit, based on the company's books.

Construction of the line was completed in 1893. Control of the stock was acquired by Ringling following sale of the road under foreclosure in 1917.

INJUNCTION SUIT FILED OVER NAME OF BISCUIT FLOUR

General Mills, Inc., Brings Action Against Commander Larabee Company.

Suit against the Commander Larabee Co. of Minnesota and its subsidiaries to enjoin it from using a trade name of a prepared biscuit flour similar to the General Mills Inc. of Minneapolis, and a subsidiary, the Washburn-Crosby Co., was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by the two latter concerns.

It is set forth that petitioners have a prepared flour for making biscuits by mixing with milk and water, the trade name being "Bisquick," which is registered. The Commander Larabee Co., also a milling concern, later put on the market a product advertised as "Kwik-bis-kit," the name and general design of the cartons being similar to the article sold by its rival, thereby having a tendency to confuse customers, it is alleged.

Three wholesalers and several jobbers of groceries in St. Louis who are distributing defendant's product are named as co-defendants in the action. Judge Hall set a hearing for April 28.

ILLINOIS BANK SUSPENDS

At St. Paul, He Quotes Theodore Roosevelt in Opposing Government 'by Plutocracy or by Mob'

CRITICISES RELIEF FROM TOP DOWN

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
201-205 Kellogg Bldg.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Supporters of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt for the Democratic presidential nomination construed his St. Paul speech of last night as a direct answer to the remarks in which former Gov. Alfred E. Smith recently hurled at Roosevelt, by clear inference, the charge of making "demagogic" efforts to array class against class.

Though he mentioned Smith's name only once, and then favorably, a large portion of the Governor's speech was clearly an acceptance of the Smith challenge.

Along with other obvious shots at Roosevelt, the former New York Governor said in his Jefferson day address at Washington: "I will take off my coat and vest and fight to the end against any candidate who persists in any demagogic appeal to the masses of the working people of the country to destroy themselves by setting class against class and rich against poor." The reference was to Roosevelt's remarks of a few days before about the "forgotten man" at the bottom of the economic structure.

"If That Be Treason"——

Roosevelt las night amplified his earlier criticism, that the relief measures of the Hoover administration were designed to give aid from the top down. Calling for a "national community of interest," he flung at his Democratic adversary: "If that be treason, make the most of it."

Roosevelt's remarks, available here in full text today, were closely scanned by political observers with an eye to singling out the passages in reply to Smith. Salient paragraphs were these:

"If you live in a house that has been shaken by an earthquake of national proportions and the foundations have cracked and the roofs leak it is right to mend the roof, but at the same time your house will not be safe until you have repaired the foundation as well. I want the house to stand through all the years to come as well as to keep the rain out of the top story.

"I am pleading for a policy broad enough to include every part of our economic structure. A policy that seeks to help all simultaneously, that shows an understanding of the fact that there are millions of our people who cannot be helped by merely helping their employers because they are not employes in the strict sense of the word—the farmers, the small business man, the professional people. Help for them means a greater consumption, not of luxuries but of the necessities of life, and this means more factory wheels turning in the cities, more employment for the strictly industrial population, for the railroad workers and for the distributors. That kind of buying power makes itself felt more quickly than any other.

For Economic Planning.

"Not only among the sections of this country, but among its economic units and the various groups in these units there must be common participation, planned on the basis of a shared common life, the low as well as the high. In much of our present plans there is too much disposition to mistake the part for the whole, the head for the body. I plead not for a class control but for a true concert of interests.

"The plans we make for this emergency, if we plan wisely and rest our structure upon a base sufficiently broad, will show the way to a more permanent safeguarding of our social and economic life. I favor economic planning, not for this period alone but for our needs for a long time to come."

Roosevelt came to his observations on current economic questions after quoting liberally from Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt and Patrick Henry. A reference to Jefferson as "one of the first to bring to the crusty conservatism of leaders of the Eastern seaboard the hopes and aspirations of the pioneer" appeared to be an indirect shaft at the conservative Eastern opposition to Roosevelt.

In working up to his appeal for a "national community of interest,"

RECEIVERSHIP OF WABASH DIRECTLY TRACEABLE TO OUTLAY ON MERGER PLAN

Its Deficit of $7,000,000 for 1931 Is Less Than a Third of Price It Paid for Lehigh Stock in 1927.

The annual report of the Wabash Railway Co., made public yesterday, throws light on the road's financial affairs which resulted in a receivership.

The deficit of $7,050,746 reported for 1931 is less than one-third the amount paid by the Wabash five years ago for stock in another railroad in furtherance of one of the plans for a great consolidated system—a circumstance to which the Wabash receivership may be directly traced.

The financial history of the Wabash shows that this stock purchase was the principal cause of the receivership.

Payment by the Wabash in 1927 of $23,794,472 for stock of the Lehigh Valley Railroad created a debt of which at least $8,000,000 still outstanding in bank loans is one of the pressing obligations for the payment of which the receivers are seeking $18,500,000 in loans from the Federal Government's Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The total outlay for Lehigh stock, now having market value of only a fraction of what it cost, exceeded by at least $5,200,000 the advances the receivers estimate will be needed to carry the Wabash through 1932.

One of the obligations listed by the Wabash receivers in their application for a Government loan is $9,750,000 owed to banks on short term notes. Nat S. Brown, general counsel for the receivers, informed the Post-Dispatch that at least $8,000,000 of this debt was incurred to get funds for payment of balances due brokers for the Lehigh stock. The banks now hold the Lehigh stock, 258,929 shares, as collateral for the loan. Its cost to Wabash, as stated, was $23,794,472; its par value, $12,946,450, and its market value at present New York Stock Exchange quotation, approximately $2,500,000.

How Interest Charges Rose.

Brown estimated that the Wabash paid $8,000,000 to $9,000,000 of the purchase price in cash, borrowing the balance. It is known that some of the cash came from proceeds of the sale of refunding bonds.

The effect was to increase the debt upon which the Wabash was paying interest. The following table shows how interest charges increased from 1926 to 1931, a period in which there was no increase in mileage of railroad operated by the Wabash:

	Interest charges.
1931	7,197,518
Increase	2,095,936

Dividends were received on the Lehigh stock until early in 1931, the total being about $4,595,900. Interest cost for the capital invested, at 5 per cent, for that period would have been $5,948,618. Some Wabash borrowings are at a lower rate than 5 per cent, and some at a higher rate.

As no dividends are being paid, there is virtually no market for the Lehigh stock and in its time of need the Wabash is deprived of the use of the capital ventured in the speculation.

Planned Great System.

At the time of the purchase the Wabash was dominated by L. F. Loree, head of the Delaware & Hudson. Loree planned a great "system," as many other railroad financiers were then doing under the stimulus of easy credit and the Federal transportation act looking to eventual consolidation of all the railroads in a limited number of systems.

The Loree interests controlled about 48 per cent of the stock of the Wabash—the same block which they later sold to the Pennsylvania Railroad and which the Pennsylvania still owns. The Delaware & Hudson is an Eastern line; the Wabash a mid-continent line with Western terminal at Kansas City and Eastern at Buffalo. The Lehigh Valley connects the Wabash with the D. & H. and the three roads were envisioned as a great trunk line system.

This was to be one of five Eastern systems, a plan which had the tentative approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Other financiers, however, were planning a four-system grouping and both the Pennsylvania and the New York Central coveted the Lehigh Valley. The Wabash management was said to have viewed the Lehigh purchase as a necessary step to keep for itself an outlet to the seaboard.

$26,000,000 Loree Profit.

However, the Pennsylvania bought into the Lehigh more heavily than had the Wabash, acquiring 30 per cent of its stock as compared with 20 per cent owned by Wabash. Brown said the Pennsylvania tried to buy the 20 per cent owned by the Wabash and that Wabash could have made a neat profit if it had accepted Pennsylvania's offer. Later, in order to acquire further control over the League Committee of Nineteen Calls for Completion "In Near Future."

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, April 19.—The League of Nations Committee of Nineteen today adopted a resolution asking Japan to complete evacuation of the Shanghai area "in the near future." The resolution gives full authority to the mixed commission at Shanghai to determine when evacuation can reasonably be effected.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, April 19.—The Cabinet decided today to call a special session of Parliament on May 23 to sit two weeks and consider supplementary budget estimates, including additional expenditures of military expeditions in Shanghai and Manchuria.

A dispatch to the Rengo News Agency from Harbin, Manchuria, today said all employes of the Chinese Eastern Railway decided to go out on a general strike tomorrow because of the arrest of 40 employes in connection with the dynamiting of a Japanese troop train near Harbin April 12. The strike, the dispatch said, would suspend service on the entire line, and prevent transportation of Gen. Tamon's division which was due to leave Harbin for the south tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.

MUKDEN, Manchuria, April 19.—Fresh outbursts of insurgent activity in the district around Chengchiatun, Taonan and Tungchiao caused Japanese military officials to rush reinforcements northward today from the territory south of Mukden to strengthen the northern garrisons. Officials said that these redistribution of troops were due to activities of the Chinese insurgents.

A dispatch to the Rengo News Agency from Ohientao said a Japanese expedition clashed with 200 insurgents near there yesterday and after a two-hour battle the Chinese fled, leaving 30 dead on the field. The Japanese losses were given as two killed and 10 wounded.

The Chinese returned with reinforcements later, the dispatches said, and threatened an attack. The two forces were said to be facing each other across snowfields.

Japanese Contingent of 900 Leaves Shanghai for Home.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, April 19.—Japanese forces here were further reduced today when 900 officers and men of the Fourteenth Division sailed for home. Armistice negotiations between the Chinese and Japanese were expected to be resumed in a few days.

Minor skirmishes take place continually, but both sides have been centering their attention upon defensive, rather than offensive, action.

$44,000 FOUND; TWO GET IT WHILE POLICE HUNT OWNER

By the Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentine, April 19.—A business man in the village of Berisso, near here, bought a secondhand bureau from a furniture dealer recently and hired a carpenter to repair it. In it the carpenter found a secret drawer containing 175,000 pesos ($44,000). Immediately there arose a dispute over who owned the money. The police had to interfere. While the police were trying to trace the former owner of the bureau, the business man and the carpenter both disappeared with the $44,000.

Bomb Cave Retreats in Mountains and Use Machine Guns to Rout Bands.

By the Associated Press.

BAGDAD, Irak, April 19. — A British Royal Air force raid on Kurdish rebels today was reported to have inflicted heavy damage to several groups in a mountain stronghold.

The raiders bombed cave retreats, and said they killed 10 of a band near the caves.

Machine guns were used to open strongholds. Several casualties resulted from the strafing.

MRS. HOOVER MAKES ADDRESS TO D. A. R. NATIONAL MEETING

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Mrs. Herbert Hoover, guest of honor at today's session of the Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution, delivered a short address. She expressed a hope for their success in the preservation of national ideals.

"I suppose there really isn't a great difference, if any at all, in the importance of the years as they go on," she said, "yet some of them stand out so much more spectacularly than others. This is one of those years."

She expressed regret that President Hoover could not be present to extend his greeting, adding "this is a year of unmitigated work for him, too." She said he knew the Daughters "would be the first ones to tell him to say and do his duty."

As Mrs. Hoover left the stage a large bouquet of red, white and blue flowers was given to her.

CABARET DANCER HELD AS SPY OF COMMUNISTS IN TURKEY

Accused of Being General Inspector in Orient; Documents Reported Found in Her Possession.

By the Associated Press.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 19.—A development in Turkey's war against Communism was the arrest here recently of a pretty cabaret dancer, a German girl named Vilda, accused of being the general inspector of Communist organizations throughout the Orient.

The police said they found in her possession compromising documents and large amounts of money.

During the last five years she has repeatedly toured Anatolia in the guise of a cabaret entertainer and has, the police now think, established secret Communist societies in many towns in Asia Minor. Police have also arrested 12 Turks in Broussa and Adrianople, suspected of being her aids. They will be tried with her in Istanbul.

'PEACEABLE EVICTION' RESISTED

Sons of Freedom Object to Being Ousted by Doukhobors.

By the Associated Press.

NELSON, B. C., April 19.—A "peaceable eviction" of the sons of freedom from the Doukhobors property at Brilliant, started last Friday, has resulted in disorders, word received here yesterday said.

Several truckloads of personal property of the Sons of Freedom were conveyed from Brilliant to Drestova on Friday and Saturday, with those evicted resisting by force. The eviction was reported carried out. The order was reported issued by Peter Verigin, Doukhobors leader. The plan was to place the main body of the Sons of Freedom at Drestova, a settlement on the Solcan River overlooking Crescent Valley.

U. S.-CANADA PEACE RESERVE

Proposal Made by Donald McKenzie, Dominion Official.

By the Associated Press.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 19.—Every school child would be given opportunity to contribute to the endowment of the Turtle Mountain Forest Reserve, commemorating a century of peace between Canada and the United States, under plans outlined today by Donald McKenzie, Minister of Mines and Natural Resources. McKenzie moved yesterday in the Manitoba Legislature for a second reading of the bill to set aside 1500 acres of land for the park.

It is proposed to raise an endowment of $5,000,000 to yield $250,000 annually for upkeep of the reserve in perpetuity. Canada's share would be $1,000,000 and that of the United States $4,000,000.

Neville Chamberlain Tells Commons in Budget Speech He Plans New Tariff.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 19.—British taxpayers will have to stagger along under their present burdens for another year, Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, disclosed today in his budget speech to the House of Commons. There will be no relief for the income taxpayer and beer will cost as much as ever.

But Britain has balanced the budget with a surplus of £796,000 (about $3,000,000).

In fact, however, the British taxpayer's position is worse than it was during the last fiscal year, since Chamberlain announced a revival of an old tea duty of 4 pence a pound with an imperial preference of 50 per cent. Thus duty on empire tea will be 2 pence a pound.

Increases Import Duties.

The Chancellor announced an increase of 1 shilling per hundredweight in preference for all colonial sugar imported into the United Kingdom for the next five years. Duties on foreign and dominion sugars would be unchanged.

He also proposed to grand during the same period a special supplementary preference equal to another shilling on a limited quantity of colonial sugar to be allocated by the Colonial Office among sugar producing colonies in proportion to their exports. The sugar changes would be operative from tomorrow.

All silk import duties would be on an ad valorem basis in the future.

It was one of the most prosaic budgets in recent years, providing only minor changes in British finance, aside from the duty on tea.

More Tariffs Coming.

The Chancellor announced, however, that new import duties recommended by the Tariff Advisory Committee would be published soon and that they would yield £5,000,000 in the fiscal year. He gave no hint of the nature of the impending tariffs.

Chamberlain told the House that the revival of trade and employment in the last few months gave Great Britain reason to hope that the worst of its economic depression was over.

"The last year," he said, "has been one of anxiety, difficulty and hardship. It is only in the last few months that some revival of trade and employment has led us to hope that at least the worst is over.

"Coming now to the financial year 1932-1933, I am including in the budget no receipts from reparations and no outgoings for war debts. The twoare self-balancing.

"Later in the year, after the Lausanne conference, I shall submit whatever proposals may be necessary to give effect to the measure we agree upon."

This decision to hold both accounts in suspense for the present did not imply, he said, that any new decision had been made "on our policy in this delicate question."

The total expenditure for the coming year will be £766,000,000 ($2,887,820,000). Chamberlain estimated revenue, on the basis of present taxation, exclusive of the recently imposed import duties, at

ENGLAND PUBLISHES 1923 FREE STATE PACT

Answers De Valera Challenge to Produce Document on Irish Land Annuities.

LONDON, April 19.—The British Government has issued a White Paper containing the text of financial agreements between Great Britain and the Irish Free State signed on Feb. 12, 1923, by which it contends the Free State pledged itself to pay land annuities into the British treasury at stated intervals.

Publication of the paper followed upon an exchange of notes between J. H. Thomas, Dominions Secretary, and President Eamon de Valera regarding the proposal of the Free State Government to withhold payment of land annuities amounting to £3,000,000 (nominally about $15,000,000). The annuities are collected from Free State farmers to repay loans by means of which they purchased land.

De Valera said in one of the notes that his Government was unaware of the existence of any agreement committing the Free State to pay the annuities to Great Britain and challenged the British Government to produce the document.

Thomas said the financial agreements were made by the former Free State Government of William T. Cosgrave, whom De Valera succeeded recently as president. The agreement, based on the land act of 1923, was understood to provide that only £3,000,000 of a total of £4,000,000 annually payable to a sinking fund for the redemption of land stocks issued by the British Government and to the interest was chargeable to the annuities. Between £800,000 and £900,000 of the balance was provided by the British Government and the Free State was said to have agreed to meet the remainder.

De Valera has contended that the Free State was not obligated to pay the annuities into the British treasury.

YELLOW FEVER IN BOLIVIA

Argentine Governor Asks That Frontier Be Closed.

By the Associated Press.

SALTA, Argentina, April 19.—The Governor of Salta Province sent an urgent apeal to the Federal Minister of Interior last night, asking that army and sanitary authorities close the Argentine-Bolivian frontier because yellow fever was spreading from the Bolivian town of Santa Cruz de la Sierra.

The chief of the Fifth Division of the Argentine army had received reports that 60 per cent of a Bolivian regiment garrisoned at Santa Cruz had been attacked by yellow fever and what more than 60 civilians had died in the epidemic, the Governor said.

STIMSON CREATES STIR ON ENTRANCE AT ARMS PARLEY

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, April 19.—Secretary of State Stimson appeared at the session of the World Disarmament Conference toda, and took his seat with the United States delegation, causing a lively hum of comment among delegates and spectators.

Stimson entered the session of the General Commission of the conference two hours after the session opened. The debate was on criteria of arms reduction. His arrival at the conference hall attracted a crowd in the co idors.

He was escorted to his place at the table beside Ambassador Hugh Gibson by members of the American delegation.

The conference today approved, in principle, a proposal that disarmament reduction shall be by stages, with su cessive revisions, "after this conference has taken a first decisive step of general reduction to the lowest possible level."

This proposal is a combination o. a joint proposal made by several nations yesterday to which objections were offered by France and Poland.

Basque-Navarre Autonomy.

By the Associated Press.

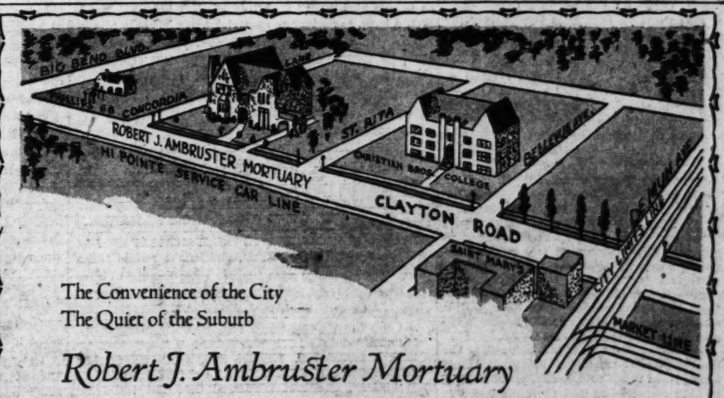

MADRID, April 19.—A bill which would make the Basque-Navarre provinces of Guipuzcoa, Alava, Navarra and Viscaya a "political-administrative autonomous region," was drawn up yesterday and will be submitted to a regional referendum. The project provides for a regional Parliament and an elected President authorized to select a Cabinet of two members from each of the four provinces. Vitoria would be the regional capital.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Lesson of the War Debts.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

SOME few days ago, I noticed in this column a letter from Raymond Ashford of New York, criticising the articles which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post by Garet Garrett on "The Book of the War Debts."

It seemed to me that this criticism was just a little unfair. Having read these articles by Mr. Garrett, I believe that they were intended not so much to advocate the non-cancellation of the war debts, as to justify the United States in not cancelling them, if such were to be her ultimate decision. The intricacies of international debts and international trade are a closed book to me, but I can understand that this money was intended as a series of loans made in good faith by both parties and not a series of gifts. And as the United States paid every cent of her own war expenses, and not at bargain prices either, and since she did not exact any reparations from the vanquished, neither in money nor territory, which the other victor nations did exact, I cannot see how she could also be expected to pay the expenses of the other nations engaged.

It seems to me a vast injustice that these other nations should engage in a system of propaganda which has finally caused their citizens to believe that we are a nation of Shylocks because we think we are entitled to even a partial payment. It also seems to me that any of our debtor nations, in maneuvering to get the United States to cancel their war debts if they will cancel the reparations, have nothing to lose but all to gain, since their debts are far in excess of the reparations. The United States would be the only loser, although the war was not of her instigation, and she only entered after considerable provocation. It brings to mind that old adage, "Lend a friend money and lose the friend."

The Allies cannot but admit that the United States, with her money and her manpower, saved them from ruin. And if she had refused her financial support, both during and after the war, they all know what would have been the outcome. Therefore, any cancellation of these debts, or partial cancellation, would be through a spirit of magnanimity and not because she isn't entitled to every cent.

It seems to me, therefore, that this is the solution to the whole war question. If all countries not engaged in war will refuse credit to those so engaged, they cannot participate in hostilities for any length of time, as we have all found out how very costly warfare can be. And refusing credit to prevent war would be a more Christian act than canceling the debts after the terrible destruction had been completed. For, after all, does anyone gain anything by war? Certainly we did not in the last one.

GRETCHEN ANNE DILL.

Favors Mr. Neun for the Mayoralty.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

AS a wage earner living near South Fourteenth street and owner of a little home built on savings out of earned wages and a victim of excessive taxes imposed by widening Twelfth street, then Gravois avenue, I just want it made known that it is time to change the mode of making streets for the automobile drivers.

To attack a man as you did Mr. Neun is wrong of you. We in our section of St. Louis want Mr. Neun as our next Mayor because he proved to us he is big enough to change his vote when he is convinced the people are overtaxed.

CHARLES DOLEJSI.

Urges Purchase of Cotton Dresses.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

LET the women of America give thought to the following: How many of you have visited the cotton dress material departments of the larger dry goods stores? Last week I purchased materials for five dresses (suitable for simple and afternoon dresses), for $8.40. Both the heavier and more sheer fabrics are nearly as lovely as the silks displayed and are much easier to make up.

For St. Louis and all through the South there is nothing more desirable than these wash things for warm weather. In purchasing this merchandise, our women would be directly helping relieve the economic situation through the South, as the raising of cotton is one of its largest industries. At the same time, they would be cutting their clothes budget most drastically and keeping up their appearance, which is quite essential to self-respect. Visit the cotton dress materials departments and see for yourselves. NANCY HAZEL BOUSFIELD.

The Promised East St. Louis Station.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

FOR the past two years or more, the Terminal Railroad Association has been promising a new railroad station for the City of East St. Louis, together with other railroad improvements.

Thus far, the only noticeable work done is represented by a new railroad approach to the Free Bridge, which leads to nowhere. How long will the Terminal wait before beginning work on projects promised a long while back? If large corporations are waiting for the unemployed to bring back prosperity, then we might all just as well fold up now. INTERESTED ST. LOUISAN.

INFLATION AND THE BONUS.

The Thomas and Patman bills, for the issue of paper money to pay the bonus, are, despite minor differences, substantially the same. The Thomas bill calls for the issue of over two billion dollars in Federal Reserve Bank notes on the collateral of Government bonds, whereas the Patman bill calls for a direct issue of Government paper money.

As far as the merits of the bonus go, these bills leave the situation unchanged. But by the proposal that the payment be made by the issue of paper money, the advocates of the bonus have tried a new line of attack. Those clamoring for the bonus can no longer be denounced as raiders of the public treasury, for by these bills they have been transformed into restorers of our departed prosperity. The conflict between self-interest and the public welfare vanishes in thin air as the supporters of these bills deliver their encomiums on the benefits that supposedly will spring from this additional monetary supply.

The arguments in favor of these increased issues of paper money have a seductive glamour. We have had a disastrous collapse of prices, putting great hardships on debtors and making unprofitable many business operations. As an increase of the monetary supply raises prices, the payment of the bonus in this way will bring back prosperity. Thus runs the argument. It forgets, however, that in the United States a large part of payments are made by checks drawn against demand deposits in commercial banks. Back of these deposits stand the gold holdings of the Federal Reserve System. Only about 10 per cent of our monetary transactions involve the payment of coin or paper money. Cash is simply the small change of modern economic society, and it is the demand deposits, and the rapidity with which they turn over, that is the greatest influence on the price level. As check payments increase and prices go up, the public requires more cash for wage payments and retail transactions. As prices fall, the cash in circulation becomes redundant and is deposited in the banks. Because of the predominant influence that check payments have on prices, it is not possible at a given price level to keep more than a given amount of cash in circulation, unless there is a change in the monetary habits of the public, such as a resort to hoarding. The great increase in money in the United States in the last year and a half did not raise prices and bring prosperity, as is only too apparent. This was a period of continuing deflation of bank credit, and the only reason the additional money could stay in circulation was that it was hoarded.

A bright spot in our economic situation is the maintenance of public confidence in the soundness of the Federal Reserve banks. Striking evidence of this is found in the fact that persons who no longer trust banks have put their funds, not in gold, but in Federal Reserve notes. Should there be, either among our own people or abroad, a general loss of confidence in the dollar, then a further withdrawal of foreign credits and a move to hoard gold on the part of our own citizens would almost certainly follow. The brunt of such an internal and external run would fall on the gold of the Federal Reserve System. It would accentuate that "passion for liquidity" which has been carried to such undesirable extremes by many commercial banks in recent months.

Without confidence, a modern banking system cannot function properly. The prerequisite to credit expansion and an upward movement of prices is confidence on the part both of the general public and our banking institutions. These bonus bills could have only the opposite effect. It is difficult to imagine legislation that would be more disastrous for our monetary and banking structure.

THE USES OF ADVERSITY.

In an article recently reprinted from Collier's Weekly, the statement was made that American vintners had learned more about the art of wine-making in the few years of prohibition than the world had ever suspected in all the centuries that have gone. They do it with yeasts, having caught the trick of stopping fermentation in its tracks, or driving it forward at incredible speed. Vintage dates, historical or apocryphal, as the case may be, are bound to lose their magic spell when it is known that a wine can be produced in 48 hours with as delicate a bouquet and as fine an aroma as were once achieved only by the dispensation of a perfect season and the mellowing grace of time.

Necessity is, of course, the mother of invention, a truth that is being marvelously demonstrated by the automobile industry. New highs have been reached in beauty and utility which, except for the depression, would have come by the slow, leisurely process of evolution. It may fairly be assumed, too, that production, in its almost infinite entirety, is developing a technique which will bestow upon mankind a happier tomorrow as compensation for the vicissitudes of today.

"Sweet are the uses of adversity."

CARDINAL O'CONNELL'S STATEMENT.

Aside from the matter of church discipline, with which we have no concern, Cardinal O'Connell's statement about "hysterical addresses from ecclesiastics," referring, of course, to the radio speeches of the Rev. Charles Coughlin of Detroit, challenges public attention. The Cardinal goes further than merely to question the propriety of Father Coughlin's behavior; he attacks free discussion in general. To quote:

> I am deeply convinced that there is altogether too much talk. It is too serious a time to talk unless something serious and constructive is said, something of real use to the community.

Evidently, Cardinal O'Connell does not think the Detroit priest has said anything of a "serious and constructive" nature. We disagree. Father Coughlin's addresses have been intensely serious, and he has made numerous suggestions intended to remedy the condition in which the country finds itself. His expositions of prohibition, unemployment, international debts, etc., even though one may not subscribe to them, were marked by obvious sincerity and earnestness.

Since when has open discussion of public problems ceased to be desirable? It is a novel theory of Cardinal O'Connell's that "there is altogether too much talk." We have always labored under the impression that democracy reaches its highest expression when citizens possess interest enough in government and its problems to make them their favorite subject of conversation. It is only out of discussion that the people can understand what is going on in this country and reach conclusions as to what can be done about it.

Talking brings out unpleasant truths, and there are many unpleasant truths which have been aired only under the pressure of the most severe economic depression in our history. "The truth," says the Bible, "shall make you free." That is precisely what is happening in the United States. The people are being freed from intellectual vassalage. If the process of freeing them is demagoguery, as Cardinal O'Connell would term it, then let us have more demagogues.

THE $2,500,000,000 RECEIVERSHIP.

Among those tagged by Old Man Depression now number Samuel Insull of Insull, Insull & Insull. Recently the last word in centralized control of business, he now finds himself a receiver for the Middle West Utilities Co., the $2,500,000,000 holding company which he built up of utilities scattered from Maine to Texas and from Florida to the Dakotas.

The receivership, we are given to understand, is the result of a friendly action brought for a claim of a mere $8000 by a printing company, in which Martin J. Insull, head of Middle West, holds considerable stock. Moreover, we are assured that it in no wise affects the big utilities under the Insull management. Be that as it may, a conference of officials and bankers, preliminary to the proceedings in Federal Court, agreed that a receivership constituted the only way to meet a $10,000,000 note maturity due June 1, to say nothing of other financial problems. The court apparently concurred, so we now have what is described as the "most important receivership in the history of finance."

This occurrence furnishes a splendid opportunity to remind ourselves how far the holding company racket has gone. A chart showing the set-up of Middle West is a maze of subsidiaries of subsidiaries reaching unto the third and fourth generations. A diagram of Washington bureaucracy would be little if any more involved. One subsidiary, the National Electric Power Co., for example, is composed of six major companies, stretching from Michigan to the White Mountains. One of them, the New England Public Service Co., in turn is composed of eight companies in Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, etc. To get nearer home, one branch starts with the Commonwealth Light & Power Corporation, as its first subsidiary, moves on to the Inland Power & Light Co., and then does a fan-spread into seven companies, namely, the Arkansas-Missouri Power Co., Dalhart Public Service Co., Kansas Power Co., Michigan Public Service Co., East Kansas Pipe Line, Missouri Edison Co., and the Missouri Public Service Co.

The topheavy superstructure of the holding company method of enriching utility magnates belongs to boom times. A device whereby the investment bankers secure from the people sums greatly in excess of the value of the properties involved, it depends on loose money for its operation. All is well so long as the pyramid grows higher and higher. Ice companies, pipe lines, electric generating and distributing companies, bus lines, electric railways and affiliated investment companies climb on and the top pushes farther from solid earth.

The American people should have known from Louis D. Brandeis' revealing book, "Other People's Money," published nearly 20 years ago, that all such structures only fall at last, of their own weight.

ST. LOUIS CLEANS UP.

A city-wide clean-up campaign has been launched in St. Louis, to continue until April 30, and the benefits to flow from its vigorous prosecution are manifold. The "clean-up, paint-up, plant-up and fix-up" program will enhance the appearance of the city, and will increase the attractiveness and value of property, both that rented and that occupied by the owner. It will result in removal of fire hazards and health dangers. It will provide work through odd jobs for many among the thousands of unemployed persons on the rolls of the Citizens' Relief Committee, thereby lessening the burden on charity funds.

Clean up, paint up, plant up and fix up.

THE SAME OLD STUFF.

Clarence Darrow's technique at the Honolulu trial adheres so closely to conventional lines that it makes one suspect the old master is slipping. Lieut. Massie's story of memory failure just at the crucial moment is so shopworn as to make it incredible that Darrow would employ it again. It has been used in hundreds of murder trials without variation, and is the sort of hokum that has brought our criminal procedure into disrepute.

Of course, the psychiatrists are out in force. Like the memory lapse motif, Darrow has found their testimony useful in the United States, and evidently feels that what confuses one jury will bewilder another. That is showmanship, but of a sort unworthy of a man of Darrow's intellectual caliber. In other fields of thought than law, Darrow is an arch-foe of buncombe and hypocrisy. Yet when he descends into the "cockpit for lawyers to fight in," as he himself describes our courts, he is just another criminal lawyer.

We were hoping a defense could be contrived for Lieut. Massie that would scorn the insanity theory. We were hoping to be spared a repetition of the Loeb-Leopold trial, where two sets of psychiatrists, in the name of alleged science, confuted each other from the witness stand. Apparently it is not to be. The performance at Honolulu so far is just a repetition of the same old show that has been touring the circuit since Harry Thaw killed Stanford White.

A REAL PROBLEM.

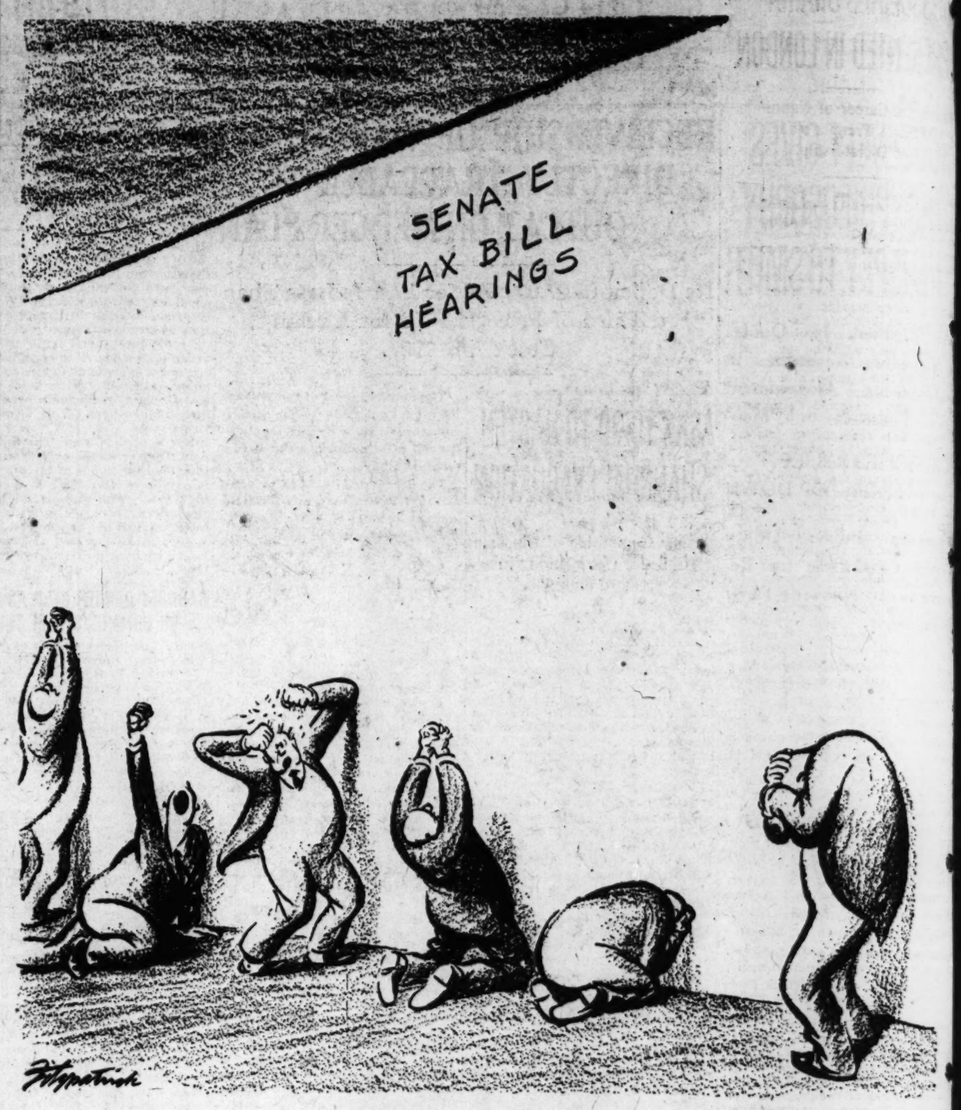

That Federal employes are everywhere a real problem when the times are out of joint is illustrated by what is happening in New Zealand.

The New Zealand Government is also trying to balance its budget, and in doing so it has discharged a great many people from the public service, or civil servants, as they are known. The consequence is that for several days there has been rioting in the streets of Auckland, and this principal New Zealand city has been placed under martial law.

It is the tendency of all governments to become overmanned, and to reduce the number of Federal employes anywhere is extremely difficult. In our own Government, the number of employes is far beyond either the necessities of the Government or its present ability to pay. Yet the possibility of reducing the cost of government in this way is virtually nonexistent. Since almost every Federal position is a political plum, to reduce the number of Federal employes is to reduce the prestige and power of politicians.

The politicians who defend the hordes of Federal employes at Washington have not waited to do something about it until they could see what happened in New Zealand. They have their own reasons all the time for not doing anything about it.

THE REAL WAILING WALL.

The Federal Reserve Policy

By Walter Lippmann.

THE decision of the Federal Reserve banks to buy Government securities on a large scale has been greeted with a variety of opinions ranging all the way from high optimism through a benevolent skepticism to outright opposition. This was to be expected. The operation which they are conducting is an experiment. The theory behind it is a relatively new one in the practice of central banking and there is no entirely adequate past experience upon which to rely. There is some promising experience, and there is preponderant but not unanimous opinion among experts here and abroad that, all things considered, the time has come when the risks of not succeeding in it are far less than the risks of not trying it.

Difficult as the subject is, it is of such great importance to everyone that an effort to understand it is in order. I am by no means certain that I understand it, for the monetary experts have not yet made their mysteries very intelligible. But here, at least, is what the thing seems to be about:

During the last two and a half years the banks have been calling loans and selling securities. They have been doing this because they have wished to be liquid, that is to say, they have wished to be ready to pay off their depositors in cash. For after all, the first duty of a bank is to be able to pay its depositors their money. Now the effort to be liquid in this sense has caused the banks to force borrowers at the banks to sell their assets to repay their loans; the sale of securities by the banks and by borrowers from the banks has forced down the price of securities. Thus, with everybody trying to sell, all prices have been falling, and as they fell, loans and securities which were sound have become unsound. So more loans had to be called and more securities dumped and more assets sacrificed, which in turn brought down all prices some more. This is what is known as the vicious spiral of deflation.

Now as long as this vicious spiral is in progress, a readjustment is impossible. For while employers are cutting costs to adjust themselves to one level, the level itself sinks and their costs are again out of line. If the level of prices could be stabilized almost anywhere, industry could adjust itself to that level by reducing fixed charges, salaries, wages and retail prices. But with the level falling faster than the readjustments can be made, the depression appears to have no end and confidence is demoralized.

The principle of the Federal Reserve policy now adopted is deliberately to counteract this downward spiral of contraction. The mechanics of the operation consist in buying the Government securities on a large scale. As a result of these purchases, the Federal Reserve banks hold more securities and the member banks have more cash deposits. The ordinary banks have been trying to make themselves liquid by calling loans and selling securities; the Federal Reserve System has now stepped in, saying in effect: "You want to be liquid. We'll make you so liquid that you'll cease to be afraid, and then so liquid that you'll be bored with being so liquid." . . .

How does it propose to do this? As the Federal Reserve banks buy Government securities, the price of these securities rises and, of course, the yield diminishes. At the same time, the member banks become possessed of increasing deposits with the Federal Reserve which yield nothing. They have also a decreasing chance to earn money by investing these liquid funds in Government securities. The expectation is that if the policy is boldly pursued, two things must happen: first, the member banks, having become highly liquid, will cease to be afraid of not being able to pay off their depositors; second, they will become very tired of earning 1 or 2 per cent or even nothing on their liquid funds and will be tempted to begin buying other bonds and extending credit to borrowers. If these two things happen, the vicious spiral of deflation would be broken and a basis established for the resumption of business.

There has been much discussion as to whether this policy is inflationary. It occurs to me that it might more accurately be described as a deliberate effort to deflate money. In the last two years wholesale prices have fallen to pre-war levels. Retail food prices have fallen almost to pre-war levels. Wages have fallen considerably. But the cost of money in enterprise has remained far above pre-war levels. It is not likely that a new economic equilibrium can be attained while the cost of money, which is so important an item in the costs of production, is so greatly out of line with other costs.

If this reading of events is correct, the present policy of forcing up prices of bonds in order to diminish their yield may be looked upon, not as an inflation at all, but as an attempt to bring the cost of money down to a point where there can again be a profitable equilibrium among the factors of production. It may well be that the true significance of the Federal Reserve policy, therefore, is not merely to make the banks liquid and then to tempt them to extend credit, but also to make the cost of credit so reasonable that at these lower levels enterprise can again become profitable.

It would follow that the policy requires not merely courage but persistence. Not too much must be expected too quickly. It is not magic and no sensational results should be expected. It will take time and continuity of effort to produce the effect. In so great a depression, the necessary readjustments are so profound and so extensive that one remedial process, however vital, can only work itself out slowly.

MR. HOOVER'S GESTURE.

From the Philadelphia Record.

THE average American citizen will not skip a single heart-beat over President Hoover's reported suggestion that $74,999 be cut from his salary, leaving him $1 a year. It would have been many times as impressive a gesture if the President had prepared a list of unnecessary jobholders whose salaries total $74,999, and had said to Congress: "These jobs may be dispensed with."

The President is not paid $75,000 a year by the country as a mark of esteem or testimonial of affection. He receives that amount each 12 months to manage the affairs of the nation efficiently, impartially, wisely and economically. If he does that, he earns his salary, and many times more.

The time for "psychological gestures" is over. We have had too many of them. The President's willingness to take a salary cut is symbolical of the wrong way to handle national business. Washington attempts to bring us out of depression and deficit by ballyhoo, "sacrifice," gesture, exhortation and the like. Why not try business management for a change?

The nation is ready for any hard-headed, practical suggestions the President is likely to make.

Americans in Russia

Extracts from a letter dated Moscow, Feb. 9, 1932, written by Jeanette Reisbord to Mrs. Carl Barth of St. Louis.

I HAD to think twice before I could remember the date, and even now I am not sure I am right. The days of the week have ceased to exist as far as I am concerned. No one seems to know whether it is Tuesday or next Friday, and what's more, no one cares.

From Berlin we went to Helsingfors, a beautiful place; from there to Leningrad and on to Moscow. We've been here three weeks and are thrilled over it.

My husband and I are both working in the same office. He's doing architectural designing and I'm doing steel detailing. We work from 9 to 4, one hour for lunch, five days a week. The work and the life here are very interesting. The Russians are very charming.

We have entered into quite a social whirl—dinners, parties, conferences. There are a great many Americans here, about 75 in our office alone. They are just starting a new city in the Ural Mountains. There are 4000 Americans there now, and Feb. 14, 2400 are arriving from the United States to work there—architects, engineers, school teachers, doctors, down to bricklayers and painters.

The office where we work has made plans for lessons in Russian for us. We will be given two lessons a week.

Working here is very different from home. First, we have decent wages, decent hours. If you are sick, you have medical attention free. All doctors are employed by the Government, so there is no competition and your salary is not deducted. Classes are held in all factories, and everyone is studying. If you are capable in your work, the Government promotes you to a school where they give you special training and pay you while you are studying. A laborer on the street can go to school and advance. There are no limitations. He can become a chemist, a physician, whatever he applies himself to. To me, that is one of the finest things that has happened here, that mania for education. I was told if I learned Russian, they will send me to a polytechnic institute for specialized engineering training.

A young Russian girl who sits next to me is a bridge specialist. In the spring, she goes out on construction work. She is going to be 18 in a few weeks. In my husband's department, there is a 16-year-old girl who is supposed to be a wizard on road construction. It is wonderful to see their enthusiasm. We have conferences to discuss progress of the work and to plan new work. All these meetings are conducted by workers. After our meetings, a report is drawn up and presented to the chiefs. You actually feel like an active person of some intelligence and some use in the world and not simply a machine that eats, sleeps and goes to movies. We're doing constructive work, and it is a great feeling.

WE are of the opinion at this writing that if there are 13 men running for Congress-at-large at this primary who are willing to let the people of Missouri vote on the State regulating its own liquor traffic, that we shall vote for every one of them. To give people an opportunity to express themselves on questions of government that arise does not obligate a Congressman to vote for, or be for, it. To deny the right of expression is undemocratic and undefensible.

MUSSOLINI'S DRAMA PRESENTED IN LONDON

Based on Career of Napoleon, It Gives Premier's Idea of Dictatorship.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 18.—Benito Mussolini's play about Napoleon—"One Hundred Days"—was presented here last night for the first time in English. The adaptation was made by John Drinkwater.

In its essence the play is the Italian Premier's case for a dictatorship and an argument against too much parliamentary interference.

It deals only with the last phase of Napoleon's career, from his escape from Elba through the furious events before his exile to St. Helena, and presents him as a frustrated character.

Napoleon's decision to discard the sword and his hope that by becoming a constitutional monarch he could regain the good-will of France and restore the confidence of Europe is developed. But as Mussolini presents the scene, the French Parliament, abetted by the schemings of Fouche, brings about Napoleon's final crash.

The play was well received by a distinguished audience, which included prominent persons of the literary world. Comment in the lobby was that it had dull spots and demonstrated that Mussolini and his collaborator, Giovacchino Forzano, were not immune to the troubles of other playwrights.

Robert Atkins played the part of Napoleon.

The play, which has 12 scenes in three acts, opens in the garden terrace of Mulini Palace at Elba on the afternoon of Sept. 1, 1814, and closes with a scene on St. Helena. Seven of the uniforms actually worn by Napoleon's servants are used in the play. They are all for men more than six feet tall.

The cast has more than 60 speaking characters, and there is incidental music, written by Herman Finck. Josephine is only mentioned.

The London Daily Mail's criticism says: "As dull and flat-footed as it is earnest and well-meaning, it is like reading the pages of a forgotten school history book. The duce is a very remarkable man, and if, in addition to other things, he were a great dramatist, he would indeed be a superman. But that has not happened yet."

The News-Chronicle says the play showed Mussolini was a dramatist and that "it is not uninteresting, although some may think it dull."

"Mussolini has done the impossible and has made Napoleon dull," says the express. "The great man is dead. Mussolini has put him on the spot. When Fouche was on the scene, the play was gripping, but when Napoleon arrived it all seemed much ado about nothing."

The Post says it was a surprisingly good play, full of vital interest and always intelligent, but too long and too episodic. Several episodes would have been better cut out and their purport put into the big scenes, it adds.

The Times declares the play had an extraordinary "air of fact," giving an impression that the spectator was watching the scenes as really enacted.

"The art of Mussolini and Forzano consists in their having allowed the story to tell itself," the Times adds. "Nothing seems falsified and no emphasis forced. The history lies quietly open and the audience is continuously held."

EDITH GORDON GIVES PIANO RECITAL AT WEDNESDAY CLUB

Edith Gordon, young St. Louis pianiste, gave a recital in the auditorium of the Wednesday Club last night before a well pleased audience. Miss Gordon's program was devoted to Beethoven, Chopin and Debussy, and the numbers selected were among the most difficult work of those composers.

The Beethoven selection was the Sonata Apassionata, Opus 57, which Miss Gordon played intelligently and effectively. Her choice of tempi were excellent, her phrasing was clean-cut and her dynamics were ordered according to an appropriate scale of values. Though it could scarcely be said that Miss Gordon plumbed the depths of this music, she displayed a great deal of facility and good taste. The technical demands of her whole program were met without any difficulty. —T. B. S.

WHIST CLUB AT JEFFERSON

New Group of Bridge Players Is Organized Downtown.

The Jefferson Whist Club, under direction of Fred C. Ingalls of 756 Harvard avenue, University City, opened its quarters last night in Hotel Jefferson. It will operate under the same plans as several other bridge clubs in the city.

Among the guests at the opening was Mrs. Aileen McCabe, official recorder of the 150-rubber match between Ely Culbertson, Sidney Lenz and their respective partners. Mrs. McCabe is delivering a series of contract bridge lectures at a downtown department store.

Americans in Russia

Extracts from a letter dated Moscow, Feb. 9, 1932, written by Jeanette Reisbord to Mrs. Carl Barth of St. Louis.

I HAD to think twice before I could remember the date, and even now I am not sure I am right. The days of the week have ceased to exist as far as I am concerned. No one seems to know whether it is Tuesday or next Friday, and what's more, no one cares.

From Berlin we went to Helsingfors, a beautiful place; from there to Leningrad and on to Moscow. We've been here three weeks and are thrilled over it.

My husband and I are both working in the same office. He's doing architectural designing and I'm doing steel detailing. We work from 9 to 4, one hour for lunch, five days a week. The work and the life here are very interesting. The Russians are very charming.

We have entered into quite a social whirl—dinners, parties, conferences. There are a great many Americans here, about 75 in our office alone. They are just starting a new city in the Ural Mountains. There are 4000 Americans there now, and Feb. 14, 2400 are arriving from the United States to work there: architects, engineers, school teachers, doctors, down to bricklayers and painters.

The office where we work has made plans for lessons in Russian for us. We will be given two lessons a week.

Working here is very different from home. First, we have decent wages, decent hours. If you are sick, you have medical attention free. All doctors are employed by the Government, so there is no competition and your salary is not deducted. Classes are held in all factories, and everyone is studying. If you are capable in your work, the Government promotes you to a school where they give you special training and pay you while you are studying. A laborer on the street can go to school and advance. There are no limitations. He can become a chemist, a physician, whatever he applies himself to. To me, that is one of the finest things that has happened here, that mania for education. Bird Charmer for the Zoo

-By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

ZUNI BIRD CHARMER STATUE PLACED IN ZOO

Walker Hancock, Sculptor, Attends Setting Up of Maschmeyer Memorial.

The bronze statue of a Zuni Indian bird charmer, executed by Walker Hancock, young former St. Louisan who has attained prominence as a sculptor in the East, was set up yesterday on a granite base east of the bird cage in Forest Park Zoo. It was designed as a memorial to the first wife of Augustus Maschmeyer, who left $12,000 in his will for that purpose.

The sculptor came to St. Louis from New York for the occasion and is spending a few days at the home of his father, W. Scott Hancock, 4332 McPherson avenue. There was no ceremony, but Hancock was anxious to see how his statue looked in its permanent setting.

Chatting with George Vierheller, director of the Zoo, and with Victor Holm, under whom he studied a few years ago at St. Louis School of Fine Arts of Washington University, Hancock remarked that the most challenging problem presented was to design a statue which would be interesting from each of the various approaches.

Description of Statue.

The figure, slightyl larger than life size, is that of a brawny young Indian, nude except for a loin cloth. The bird charmer is poised in a half-kneeling position, arms outstretched, and on each forearm a bird is perched. The oblong granite base is severely simple in line. At each end there is a drinking fountain. The statue is placed in a semi-circle of flagstones and is to be surorunded by a small formal garden.

Seen from the center passage through the bird cage, it stands on higher ground than the observer, and is framed by the arch of the entrance. From Washington drive, on the north the statue is on a level with the observer, but the head of the bird charmer is turned away, and the path which leads past the statue rises to much higher ground on the south.

These factors, Hancock explained, complicated his problem. Holm walked about with him, viewing the statue from every angle, and agreed that he had solved it excellently.

Changes Planned at Zoo.

Vierheller mentioned that the Zoo was considering eliminating the central passage through the bird cage, and constructing there a small stream leading from the fountain to a waterfall below. Buildings to be erected in the future, he said, would be on the grounds immediately behind the statue, and it would then stand at the principal entranec to the Zoo.

Hancock explained he had selected the figure of a bird charmer for the memorial because Mrs. Maschmeyer frequently visited the bird cage and showed great interest in birds. He made the charmer an Indian to emphasize the American character of the work. Maschmeyer, whose will provided for the memorial, was president of Maschmeyer-Richards Jewelry Co. He died in November, 1929.

OUTDOOR OPERA HERE NOW ONLY ONE IN U. S.

Cincinnati and Chicago Theaters Closed Because of Economic Conditions.

A survey by the Municipal Theater Association reveals that the Municipal Opera here is the only outdoor summer opera in the United States to survive the depression. The Zoo Opera of Cincinnati and the Ravinia Park Opera of Chicago have been discontinued.

The survey also disclosed that even the great state subsidized operas of Germany are turning to a repertory of romantic light opera and operetta like that Municipal Opera has offered in the 13 years of its existence.

Subsidies from taxation have been reduced in the great German operas of Europe until last season they received but little more than half their income from state or city taxes in 1928. In an effort to stem deficits which threatened ruin, Berlin led the way, by a return to operetta and light romantic opera, and other German cities followed suit.

Vienna, last to give in, is now offerings at the Vienna Opera "The Gypsy Baron" and at the Theater an der Wein "Alone at Last," both of which have been in Municipal Opera's repertory of other seasons.

In London and in Paris outstanding successes are in the field of operetta. In the latter city "The Merry Widow" and "The Chimes of Normandy," both old Municipal Opera favorites, are current hits of the musical stage.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

THE wedding of Miss Mary Elizabeth Gilmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Beggs Gilmore, Webster Groves, and Thomas Hayward Wheelock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stillman Wright Wheelock, 4914 Argyle place, will take place at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. A small reception will follow. The Rev. Dr. David M. Skilling, pastor of the Webster Groves Presbyterian Church, will officiate. The families and a few close friends will attend the ceremony.

Mrs. George Ackerman Frederick will be maid of honor for her sister and John Conzelman Gilmore, Paducah, Ky., a brother of the bride, will be best man. The bridal party will stand in the living room before an improvised altar arranged about the large east window. Palms and ferns will be massed against the window, with tall standards of spring flowers at either side. The room will be decorated with spring flowers and greenery.

The bride will wear a gown of dusky rose chiffon combined with lace of the same shade. The gown, made over matching satin, is designed with a deep yoke of the lace that forms short cap sleeves and extends in a V to the waistline at the back. The skirt is fitted at the hips and falls in soft folds to the floor. The bride will wear slippers to match her gown and will carry a bouquet of white lilacs. Mrs. Frederick will wear robin's egg blue triple crepe and d'Alencon lace. The bodice is fashioned of the lace and a crushed velvet girdle defines the normal waistline. The crepe skirt is circular and long. She will carry a bouquet of spring blossoms. Mrs. Gilmore will be gowned in French blue chiffon and will wear a shoulder corsage of gardenias. Among the guests will be the bridegroom's aunt, Miss Alice Wheelock of Moline, Ill.

After the honeymoon spent on a motor trip in the East, Mr. Wheelock and his bride will live in St. Louis.

A series of prenuptial parties for Miss Gilmore and her fiance will end with a dinner this evening at the Park Plaza, at which Miss Gilmore's aunt, Mrs. Jane W. Gilmore, 5235 Waterman avenue, will be the hostess.

Miss Ellen Bates, niece of Mrs. William Maffitt of the Park Plaza, and Miss Martha Conley of Frederick, Md., left this morning for a motor trip to Hot Springs, Va., where they will open Mrs. Maffitt's cottage. Mrs. Mafiftt will join them early in May. Miss Conley has been in St. Louis for about a week visiting Miss Bates and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Wight, 370 Walton avenue.

Mrs. Mafiftt has as her guest her sister, Mrs. Charles L. Palms of Grosse Pointe, Mich., who will remain until Saturday. The visitor, who is being entertained informally, will be the guest of honor Thursday at a luncheon at the St. Louis County Club for which her niece, Mrs. Wade Turner Childress of Ridgetop, will be hostess. Mrs. Palms will sail April 26 for Paris to join her daughter, Mrs. Charles R. Buckley and Mr. Buckley, who are making their home in Paris.

Mrs. Henry H. Whittemore, 6440 Forsythe boulebard, will have as her guests the end of the week her mother, Mrs. Samuel McClay, and her sister, Miss Ellen McClay of Pittsburg, Pa., who will arrive Friday from California, where they have been spending the winter. Because of mourning in the family, there will be no entertainment for the visitors. They will be in St. Louis for several days before returning to their home.

Mrs. Isaac Cook Jr., 5290 Waterman avenue, and her son, Robert K. Cook, and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Cook, are spending part of the spring season at Miami Beach, Fla., where they are guests at the Pancoast Hotel. They motored from St. Louis to Florida. At the conclusion of their stay at Miami Beach they will go to Biddeford Pool, Me., where they have a summer home.

Miss Mary Josephine Stoll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer R. Stoll of the Forest Park Hotel, will return today from Pittsburg, where she has been visiting for several weeks, during which time she was entertained at a series of parties. Mrs. Stoll will leave tomorrow with her daughter by motor for Omaha, Neb., to visit her brother-in-law and sister, the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Hosmer, for about two weeks.

Cards have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred F. Eaton, 5530 Cates avenue, announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Edna Eaton, and Edward Charles Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Smith, 5090 Kensington avenue. The marriage took place quietly Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock at Pilgrim Congregational Church, the Rev. Clarence S. Dunham officiating. Only the families were present and there were no attendants.

Mr. Smith and his bride have taken an apartment in the Ranelagh-Wilmar Hotel.

Dr. Lillian M. Gilbreth of Montclair, N. J., research engineer and the only woman member of President Hoover's Employment Commission, will visit St. Louis Saturday, May 7, as the guest of the Town Club. A luncheon will be arranged for Dr. Gilbreth by the Town Club for members and for other women's organizations. She will talk on "The Wise Use of Leisure." She also will speak on "Motion Study" for the Society of Industrial Engineers at a dinner meeting the same day.

The Grace Coolidge Chapter of the Delphian Society will meet tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the Kings-Way Hotel. The subject for discussion will be, "The Renaissance in France."

The Women's Democratic Educational Council will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Park Plaza. Mrs. Morton Jourdan is president of the council and members of the executive board include: Mrs. John O. King, first vice president; Mrs. Samuel Tipton, second vice president; Mrs. John R. Lionberger, treasurer; Mrs. Lawrence McDaniel, recording secretary, and Miss Margaret Teasdale, corresponding secretary. Those in charge of committee are: Program, Mrs. Charles B. Faris; Finance, Mrs. Frederick D. Gardner and Mrs. Rene de Penaloza; Publicity, Mrs. L. William Ray; Membership, Mrs. Nat S. Brown; Hospitality, Mrs. Walter N. Davis; Organization, Mrs. King; Constitution and By-Laws, Mrs. Fred L. Williams, Mrs. Shelby H. Curlee and Mrs. George F. Bergfeld.

East entrance of Union Station, Kansas City
A HUNDRED YEARS AGO, steamboats unloaded pioneers and prairie schooners at Westport Landing . . . eastern end of the Santa Fe Trail. Prairie schooners have given way to a network of railroad, trolley, bus and air lines . . . the "Petticoat Lane" of the 90's is overshadowed by skyscrapers. Today, Westport Landing has become Kansas City, a great commercial and manufacturing center.

Just tell Long Distance . . . "I'm calling Kansas City, Harrison 9900." Or, if you don't know the number, say "Give me Kansas City . . . I'll talk to anyone at Mr. Henry Wilson's residence, 1500 South Broadway." That's the way to place a station-to-station call.
Even in the daytime station-to-station calls (on which you will speak to anyone who answers at the number called) are cheapest. And they're reduced about 25 per cent between 7 and 8:30 p. m. . . . about 50 per cent after 8:30 p. m. Some examples:

Moving? . . . don't forget your telephone
If you plan to move, let us know when and where as soon as you can . . . preferably ten days in advance. A telephone in your new home will make the moving job easier.
There will be supplies to order . . . errands to run . . . little repairs to be made. Here are some of the people you'll probably want to call:
the grocer . . .

. . . the druggist
the plumber . . .
If you'll give us sufficient notice, we'll try to have your telephone connected on or before the day you move.
And here's a suggestion . . . before the rush of moving begins, take time to plan for telephone service that will fit changed conditions. Perhaps you will need an extension telephone in bedroom or kitchen . . . an individual line . . . an extra directory listing . . . or other improvements in the kind of telephone service you are now using.
It's a good idea to plan such changes in advance. We'll be glad to help you. Just call the business office.
Mrs. Chatter on your line?

Consider the advantages of an individual line:
1. Your telephone is never busy unless you are using it.
2. You have complete privacy . . . no "listening in."
3. Always ready in emergencies.
The additional monthly cost is small . . . There is no charge for making the change. Just call the business office.

A Better Steer

Perhaps we shouldn't make you discontent with the roast beef you've been eating. Really, our conscience might trouble us if we hadn't just renewed our strength with a large cut from the middle rib. My! it was good . . . tender, juicy, cooked to the king's taste. We wish you'd been at the table with us.

But you'll be in soon, ordering your own portion. And when it's set before you, we wager it'll make your mouth water. It's just as good as it looks, too, for it's fancy prime rib, carefully selected by buyers who know their beef. Our chef knows all the tricks there are in cooking a roast, as you'll certainly agree when you taste a cut, swimming in clear pan gravy.

Roast beef is like everything you get in a Statler — good by no accident, but because we determined to make it good. And like our guest rooms or our many other services it is, indeed, moderately priced.

PLANS SUBMITTED TO SCHOOL BOARD FOR BUDGET CUT

Public Hearing on Estimates Held for First Time in Years—Slash in Pay of Teachers Proposed.

Demands for reduction of salaries of Board of Education employes, particularly of teachers, were made at a public budget hearing before the board's Finance Committee yesterday.

This was the first time in many years that such a hearing has been held. Usually the public has had no voice in the preparation of the annual budget.

The board has some time in which to consider the means of economy, as the fiscal year does not begin until July 1. An income of about $11,000,000 is anticipated for the next fiscal year, compared with about $11,900,000 in the current year. Expenditures must be trimmed accordingly. The board's surplus also was drawn on this year.

Speakers at the hearing indicated that even greater economies were desired by taxpayers, so that the school tax rate can be reduced. The board last week fixed the tax rate for 1932 at 85 cents on the $100 valuation, the same as last year. The Finance Committee will have an executive meeting Friday for further consideration of the budget. It will have a synopsis of the suggestions made yesterday prepared for all members. Including the committee members, seven of the 12 board members were at the hearing.

Various Economy Plans.

Those who advocated reduction of school salaries, and their ideas, were:

Harry E. Wiehe, chairman of Legislative Committee of Public School Patrons' Alliance: Level reduction of 10 per cent or more in all salaries, as the cost of living has dropped. Wiehe asserted the board seemed to want to sacrifice advantages for children so that salaries and perquisites could be maintained.

Albert L. Schmidt, chairman of Legislative Committee of North St. Louis Business Men's Association: "Reasonable" cut in teachers' salaries.

H. C. Koenig, 80-year-old owner of real estate: Immediate reduction of 25 per cent in all salaries, a smaller cut being a "mere bagatelle."

Charles Rippin, secretary of Real Estate Exchange: While the exchange has preferred some means of economizing other than lowering salaries, it appears now that salary cuts will have to be made.

The Grade Teachers' Association, whose payroll is nearly half of the total for all school employes, has offered to take the equivalent of a 5 per cent salary reduction in the coming year. It does not want the basic pay scale changed, however. A spokesman for the Stowe (Negro) Teachers' College faculty announced yesterday they would accept a 10 per cent cut.

Dickmann Submits Plan.

Save $275,000 by abolishing the teachers' colleges.

Save $200,000 by dropping summer schools this year.

Have Boy Scouts supervise play on summer playgrounds and drop the recreation personnel, except for a watchman at each playground.

Drop small night school classes; save $50,000.

Eliminate medical inspection service and nurses; save $130,000.

Economize in the 30 special schools.

Practice rigid economy and retrenchment in the vocational schools.

Abolish the school greenhouse; save $50,000.

Restrict the payment of carfare for children living at a distance from school, now costing $28,000 a year.

Reduce the number of automobiles in the Building Department and stop the maintenance allowance of $35 a month for employes using their own cars.

Substitute moderate priced cars for the expensive ones used by executive officers and drop their chauffeurs; reduce salaries of other chauffeurs, now paid $175 to $200 a month.

Decrease the custodians at Public School Stadium from four to one.

Reduce the cost of janitor service in schools and stop extra pay for extra work.

Decrease personnel of the Building Department, as new schools are not being built.

Reduce the cost of moving and reconditioning portable schools.

View of Commerce Group.

Dickmann suggested an inquiry as to whether the cost of the supply department was excessive. He asked whether the board needed to employ an attorney at $5000 a year and an assistant at $2400. He also questioned whether the board needed two stenographers to take minutes of its meetings.

Jacob M. Lashly, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Committee on Governmental Expense, offered to co-operate with the board in economizing. He said the chamber felt it presumptious to offer concrete proposals of savings. Economy should be practiced first in nonessential activities, he declared.

Wiehe, who advocated salary reductions, opposed permitting school employes to do outside work. He suggested dismissal of elderly teachers, substituting younger ones from the waiting list, at smaller pay. School building design might be standardized, he said, to save expense.

Representatives of the Race Relations Department of the Community Council and of Tom Powell (Negro) Post of the American Legion, asked for continuation of the junior colleges operated in the teachers' colleges.

Establishment of more State parks and of a national park or forest in the Ozarks was advocated by Paul P. Hinchey of De Soto, president of the Missouri Ozarks Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting of the Carondelet Woman's Club at the Carondelet Branch Library last night.

"Many thousands of acres may now be purchased for $1 an acre or for taxes," Hinchey said. "Private individuals and clubs own more land for recreation, hunting and fishing purposes than the State has in State parks and there is danger that in a few years more 'keep out' signs will bar the public at large from a great number of outstanding beauty spots of the Ozarks."

THAT the Baltimore & Ohio should be the first to inaugurate through air-conditioned service between the West and East is quite in keeping with its past performances.

The Baltimore & Ohio was the first railroad in the world to offer the traveling public the extreme comfort of air-conditioned cars.

In April, 1930, the air-conditioned Martha Washington dining car was placed in regular service on the Baltimore & Ohio between Washington and New York—the first air-conditioned car to be operated on any railroad.

In May, 1931, THE COLUMBIAN—the world's first complete train to be air-conditioned—made its initial run on the Baltimore & Ohio between Washington and New York. Its success was so great that the Baltimore & Ohio determined that the following year its through travelers between the West and East should also enjoy the same benefits.

And so, beginning tomorrow, April 20, the NATIONAL LIMITED will be air-conditioned throughout. Every car—sleepers, club, sun-room-observation, parlor, and dining cars—will be delightfully cool, clean, and quiet even in the hottest weather. Fresh, cool air, with just the right amount of humidity, is conditioned and circulated evenly without drafts throughout each car. No dust, soot, or cinders.

Try the NATIONAL LIMITED on your next trip East. You will experience the greatest comfort you have ever known in railroad travel

Effective next Sunday, April 24, the NATIONAL LIMITED will leave St. Louis at 9:10 A. M., (instead of 12:40 noon), and will arrive at Washington 7:45 A.M.; Baltimore 8:43; Philadelphia 10:39; New York (42d St.) 1:15 P. M. (Standard Time shown). For further details apply to G. F. Scheer, Ass't. General Passenger Agent, 418 Locust Street. Main 5320.

GALVANIZING CAMPAIGN REPORTED SUCCEEDING

Zinc Institute Delegates Hear Talks on Industry—Banquet Tonight.

The progress of the American Zinc Institute's campaign to market galvanized (zinc-coated) metal sheets of standard quality was described today by Julian D. Conover of New York, secretary, at the organization's fourteenth annual convention at Hotel Statler. The convention began yesterday and will end tomorrow.

The galvanizing program, begun a year ago with a study of the agricultural market, had been continued, he said, through an educational campaign and the enlistment of manufacturers with about 70 per cent of the country's capacity to sell galvanized sheets under the institute's "seal of quality," establishing a standard two-ounce zinc coating.

Production had increased rapidly in recent months, he said, and present conditions indicated the success of the campaign, particularly in view of the accumulating needs of farmers. The galvanizing industry is a leading consumer of zinc.

G. C. Bartels, technical assistant of the institute, told of investigations made during the last year by the organization's engineers in the durability of galvanized roofings, the use of zinc paint, and the employment of galvanized wire in fence-building.

The "seal of quality" was the subject of papers by K. J. T. Eklaw, agricultural engineer of the institute; Charles Matthews, field representative; Karl Roth, representing a galvanizing manufacturer; Dave Livingston of the Building Material Digest, a trade publication; Charles A. Kiefner, a lumber dealer.

Alvin O. Eckart of Belleville had a paper on the farmer's roofing problem and J. C. Wooley, professor of agricultural engineering at the University of Missouri, on "The Missouri Farmer Must Be Shown." A paper by W. A. Foster, professor of rural architecture at the University of Illinois, suggested co-operation of roofing material industries to supply the farmer with proper materials for specific needs.

All officers are scheduled to be re-elected this afternoon. The officers are: Ralph M. Roosevelt of New York, president; A. P. Cobb, New York; J. O. Elton, Salt Lake City, and John A. Robinson, Miami, Ok., vice presidents; Howard I. Young, St. Louis, treasurer; Conover, secretary.

Walter E. McCourt, assistant chancellor and professor of geology at Washington University, and the three vice presidents will speak at the annual banquet tonight.

The final session tomorrow will be devoted to six talks of a technical nature.

CONGRESSMAN CANNON FAVORS REFERENDUM ON PROHIBITION

Missouri Democrat Tells House He Hopes Both Parties Will Adopt Such Planks.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Representative Cannon (Dem.) of Missouri told the House yesterday he would favor a plank in the Democratic platform calling for a referendum on prohibition.

On March 14, when the House rejected the wet bloc's proposed substitute for the eighteenth amendment, which would have required a state referendum on state liquor control, Cannon voted against its passage.

In his statement he asserted:

"I sincerely hope that both conventions will adopt platforms recommending a constitutional amendment permitting the people to vote directly on this question by states at a special election called solely for that purpose so that this question may be determined once for all."

Cannon will be parliamentarian at the Democratic convention in Chicago in June.

SEE THE NORGE BEFORE YOU BUY

That's what thousands did. They saw the Norge. They bought! Thousands more are seeing the Norge. And the popular enthusiasm for Rollator Refrigeration continues to pile up new sales records.

If you wonder why, look at the Norge itself. Look at the cabinet designed for convenience and beauty—built to last a lifetime. Look at its many improvements. It's a fact that no other electric refrigerator offers you so many original features of utility and convenience.

Then learn about the Norge mechanism—the simple, sturdy, extra-powered, almost everlasting Rollator. It is Rollator Refrigeration that is causing the tremendous public preference for the Norge. Because only Norge offers the surplus cooling power of the Rollator.

Philadelphia, Spending $300,000 A Week to Care for Its Needy, Calls on State for Assistance

Another Special Session of Legislature Urged, to Provide $7,500,000 to Carry Work Through Present Year.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, April 19.—The City of Brotherly Love is calling for aid from the State of Pennsylvania in caring for its needy.

With more than 59,000 families, or nearly 250,000 persons, receiving help from the Philadelphia Committee for Unemployment Relief, and with municipal and privately contributed funds exhausted, the $2,501,000 recently appropriated by a special session of the Legislature is being used in meeting demands amounting to $300,000 a week. This money, it is estimated, will be spent before July 1, and Philadelphia will need $7,500,000 more to get through 1932.

Another special session of the Legislature is urged by the relief committee as the only way to avoid "the greatest calamity in the history of the commonwealth." The recent special session appropriated $10,000,000 for relief in the State, of which Philadelphia's share was the $2,501,000 now being expended. Pittsburg, which received about $1,000,000 of the State appropriation, is understood to be in an equally serious situation.

Urges State Aid.

"The burden," says the Philadelphia Public Ledger editorially, "has become too great for the first line of defense, private charity. It has overwhelmed the second line of defense, the public funds of cities, boroughs and counties cannot meet the demands. The third line of defense, the commonwealth itself, must take up the burden. Action cannot be delayed indefinitely.

"The last and only possibility of relief is from the commonwealth. It can act only through the General Assembly. The late special session was wrecked by factionalism—Pinchot political moves met and checked by anti-Pinchot counter-moves. It was a sordid and humiliating spectacle."

Last year, City Council appropriated $3,000,000 municipal funds for relief purposes, in addition to the $1,200,000 annually appropriated for care of dependent children. This year, the necessity for retrenchment in the city budget eliminated the possibility of city aid.

The $10,000,000 quota set by welfare agencies for their needs was met by Philadelphia citizens. That fund has been virtually exhausted.

Horatio G. Lloyd, member of the banking house of Drexel & Co., and $1-a-year executive of the city Department of Public Welfare, is chairman of the Committee for Unemployment Relief, commonly known as the Lloyd Committee. Leading citizens, including Samuel M. Vauclain, board chairman of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, Edward T. Stotesbury, capitalist, Dr. Jacob Billikopf, social worker, Lessing J. Rosenwald and Denis Cardinal Dougherty, signed the committee's recent plea for legislative action.

"It is useless and unfair," the committee said, "to expect to raise any substantial sum by another appeal to the public at this time." The reason for this is that subscriptions in the last drive called for installment payments extending through the year.

How Money Has Been Used.

The $10,000,000 raised by public subscription, the committee reports, was allotted one-half to the Welfare Federation and the Federation of Jewish Charities, and the other one-half, $5,000,000, to the Lloyd Committee.

"Under this arrangement our committee received from the United Campaign, and expended from Dec. 23, 1931, to March 22, 1932, $3,530,818.61.

"Our committee is distributing relief to 59,629 families. Though the average sum given to a family is only $4.23 a week, the amount of the expenditures thus required to be made, and which are in fact made, is $50,000 a day for six days of the week, $300,000 a week, or about $1,250,000 a month."

The committee cites the statement of the department of industrial relations of the University of Pennsylvania that, at the time of its investigation in February, there were 291,000 workers wholly unemployed in Philadelphia.

"People who are not brought into contact with the actualities of the situation," the committee said, "walk the streets of Philadelphia, and not seeing actual distress, assume that things cannot be so bad as they are painted. The investigators and workers who go into the homes know the real story. There are some cases of impositions by people not actually in want, but these mistakes and frauds are so small in number as to be virtually negligible.

"The only possibility of relief at this time is from the State Government. The $2,501,000 allotted to this city from the appropriation at the recent special session of the Legislature will enable the work of our committee to be carried on until July 1 at the latest. For the rest of the year, Philadelphia will require at least $7,500,000 to take care of the number at present receiving aid.

"It would seem essential for the leaders of our local citizenry to confer and plan with those of other cities and districts of the State—professional men, business men, bankers, merchants, manufacturers, teachers, men foremost in all walks of life—to the end that this problem may be intelligently solved in a spirit worthy of the State of Pennsylvania.

"The details of the measure to be adopted presumably may be left to the wisdom and the patriotism of the Executive and the Legislature; but the informed, intelligent, right-eous-minded and humane citizenship of the State must make plain their insistence that our community life shall not be disgraced by failure on the part of those intrusted with the authority of Government to act whole-heartedly, promptly and with broad vision to meet this grave situation."

The Lloyd committee has acknowledged the co-operation of the Welfare Federation and Federation of Jewish Charities, which, with their one-half of the privately contributed $10,000,000, care for 160 charitable institutions, including hospitals, orphanages, homes for the aged and societies for welfare work.

"These institutions," the committee said, "constitute the permanent backbone of charity work, and nothing could be more imperative than that they should be properly supported. However, with a proper realization of the situation confronting us, they generously agreed the Committee for Unemployment Relief should take the first funds collected from the campaign subscriptions over and above the monthly allotments required to meet current needs."

CONFESSED SLAYER OF OFFICER IN BUS HOLDUP ON TRIAL

Hubert Harvey Alleged to Have Killed Patrolman Adolph Kreidler.

Trial of Hubert Harvey, confessed slayer of Patrolman Adolph Kreidler during the attempted holdup of a bus conductor last Sept. 28, was under way today before a jury in Circuit Judge Beck's court.

Harvey, who, according to his confession, fired the shots that killed the policeman, is one of four men under indictment for murder. The other three, according to their statements to police, were with him before the attempted robbery that ended in a killing and were to have helped him to escape with the proceeds of the holdup. Harvey said he did not need money, but embarked upon the holdup because "those other fellows talked me into it."

The others, who are awaiting trial, are: Marion Stephens, William Davis and Thomas Colby. A fifth man, Luther Hale, was to have committed an earlier robbery, but lost his nerve and fled, the four men indicted for murder said. However, he is indicted for a bus holdup two nights before.

TWO FLYERS CRASH TO DEATH

Two Others Hurt in Second Maine Accident in Day.

By the Associated Press.

PORTLAND, Me., April 19.—Airplanes crashed in two Maine towns yesterday, causing the death of two men in one plane and serious injuries to two in the other.

James Malloy, 30 years old, of Berlin, N. H., and Fred Maxwell, 22, of Livermore Falls, were killed in the first accident. The plane, which Malloy was piloting, with Maxwell as a passenger, cracked up on the bank of the Androscoggin River at Livermore Falls and burst into flames. Ira Joseph Snow, 23, of Pine Point, and Wendell F. Carney, 23, of South Portland, were injured, Snow seriously, in the second crash which occurred at Old Orchard Beach. The men were pulled from the wreckage of their plane in the surf 75 feet off shore.

BANKS REFUSE TO AID DETROIT ANY FURTHER

Election to Find Some Way Out of Financial Tangle Likely in 60 Days.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., April 19.—Banks have refused to give the city any further aid "for the time being." A statement to this effect yesterday by Ralph Stone, chairman of the Committee on City Finances and representative of outside financial interests here, was interpreted as meaning withdrawal of banks from the controversy over the balancing of the budgets for the current fiscal year and the new year starting July 1.

Indications were that a special election would be called within 60 days to vote on one of several moves under consideration.

The Detroit Real Estate Board announced that it had between 50,000 and 60,000 signatures to petitions demanding a maximum for next year of $61,000,000—the estimated tax collections for the year.

The budget adopted calls for $74,000,000. Failure to reduce the budget, real estate board officers said, would result in a special election for submission of the proposal as a charter amendment.

The Taxpayers' Protective Association has filed petitions signed by 30,000 calling for a vote on an amendment to the charter reducing by 50 per cent all salaries in excess of $2250. A 33 1-3 per cent reduction for the remainder of the fiscal year is provided for in an ordinance twice passed and to be voted on again today in an effort to get the six votes necessary to give it immediate effect. Because of prior failure to give this ordinance immediate effect, payrolls affecting 10,000 employes have been in default since Friday.

Stone, in his letter to the Council yesterday, said that restoration of the city's credit by living within its tax income, must precede any resumption by bankers of a part in the city's problems. He criticised the pending pay cut ordinance because it provides for reimbursement to employes out of delinquent taxes, when and if collected. He also said that failure to balance the budget and resultant unfavorable publicity had decreased the market value of Detroit's municipal bonds.

The Council will vote tonight on a resolution ordering a sale of titles to property on which taxes are in arrears.

$30,000 HOW ESTATE GOES TO EX-STEPSON

Bequest Intended for "Workers of World" Invalid Under Ohio Will Law.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CINCINNATI, O., April 19.—The $30,000 estate which James Eads How, St. Louis "millionaire hobo," sought to leave "for the benefit and behoof of workers of the world, especially the disemployed," will go instead to his onetime stepson, a lawyer here has announced. The reason is that, under Ohio law, a bequest to a charitable object is valid only when a will was made more than one year before death.

How's will was made a few days before his death, which occurred July 22, 1930. It named three trustees, one of them a Cincinnati lawyer, and the will was filed here, How having made his headquarters here in his last few years.

The will specified that the bequest should be used "for education of the disemployed along lines I and my friends have been working all these years, to produce justice and a classless order throughout the world." It authorized the International Brotherhood Welfare Association, How's hobo organization, to fill any vacancy among the trustees.

The $300,000 trust estate left by How's mother for his lifetime use was not affected by his will. By a St. Louis court decision, it went to How's brother, Louis How of Rockford, Mass., who compromised a claim of James Eads How's former stepson, Holger Sorenson, or How, by paying the boy $55,000. He also received real estate in Los Angeles valued at $15,000. The boy is 14 years old, and lives in Los Angeles with his mother, Mrs. Ingeborg Sorenson How, who divorced How just before his death. She contends that How adopted the boy.

he quoted these words of Roosevelt:

"This country is not and never shall be governed by a plutocracy. This country is not and never shall be governed by a mob."

His Public Utility Policy.

In his discussion of public utility questions he praised Gov. Smith by name. Twenty-five years ago, he said, a New York Legislature attempted to alienate to the Aluminum Co. of America the rights of the people of New York in the St. Lawrence River. This effort was "happily frustrated" and then began a renewed struggle over the water power rights. In this contest his "distinguished predecessor" prevented control from passing out of the hands of the State.

Roosevelt said that when he took office he laid down the definite principle that the power in question should never be alienated from the people; that dams and power houses should be constructed by the public authority and should always remain in the hands of that authority; that transmission should be offered in the first instance to private management, but that if a fair contract could not be had with private capital, then the State itself should go into the transmission business.

Expansion of Utilities.

"If, during this past generation," he continued, "that fundamental had been observed by our courts, by all of our public service commissions, by our Legislatures, there would be no problem of the control of utilities today. It is an unfortunate fact, which is not denied by the leading bankers or the leading utility men themselves, that largely through the building up of a series great mergers and a series of great holding companies, the capital structure, especially in the case of the electric utilities, has been allowed to expand to an extent far beyond the actual wise and necessary cash investment.

"It is a simple fact that in thousands of cases throughout the United States electric utility companies have sought, and in many instances have succeeded in obtaining permission to charge rates which will bring an unnecessarily large return, not on this cash investment, but on a definite inflation of capital.

"I am putting this case very calmly and conservatively. It could be put much more forcibly, and it would be easy to make accusations against many of the great utility companies now operating in this country. Recrimination, however, is not particularly useful—it is more useful to state the principles that go back for centuries in such a way that the people of this country will understand those principles and will understand, how, in losing sight of them, we have made ourselves the victims.

High Rates Result.

"The net result of our blindness, of our failure to regulate, and of our failure to say that if private capital will not operate for a reasonable profit, government will have to operate itself—is that in most places of the United States the householder and the farmers and the small business men are paying vastly more for that very necessary part of our modern life —electricity—than they have any right to be paying.

"It is neither radical, nor a violation of any principle of sound business, for me to state in definite terms that public servants with a proper regard for the interests of the people themselves must exert every effort to restore the fundamentals of public control, and this applies not only in every state capitol, but also in the control by the National Government over these great sources of power which fall under the jurisdiction of the National Government."

It had become clear, Roosevelt went on, that when the transmission of electric power crossed state lines, control could not be effectively maintained by state alone or through agreements among neighboring states, but must be nationally exercised.

Urges Reversing Tariff Policy.

He attacked the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill and attacked President Hoover for signing it in the face of the prophetic warnings of 1000 American economists.

"Would he," asked Roosevelt, "have ignored a warning by a thousand engineers that a bridge which the National Government was building was unsafe?"

The tariff policy of the Hoover administration, he said, must be competely reversed. There should be not only fact-finding by experts, but also an effort to bring about "bi-lateral or group international agreements" to promote the exchange of goods among nations.

"There will be many in this nation during the coming months who will implore you not to swap horses crossing a stream," he concluded. "There will be others who will laughingly tell you that the appeal should have been worded: 'Do not swap toboggans while you are sliding down hill.' But it seems to me that the more truthful, the more accurate, plea to the people of the nation should be this: 'If the old car, in spite of frequent emergency repairs, has been bumping down hill on only two cylinders for three years, it is time to get another car that will start up hill on all four.'"

Roosevelt Declares for Return of Liquor Control to States.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, April 19.—Franklin D. Roosevelt yesterday declared himself definitely in favor of returning liquor control to the states, and gave reassurance that he had not changed his previously expressed opinion on prohibition. His statements were contained in a telegram made public by the Liberal Civic League.

In answering the appeal, Roosevelt said:

"Please consider I still maintain 100 per cent my earlier expression of opinion favoring the return of control of intoxicants to the several states. That is definite. I have on so many occasions agreed with your statement that the time has come for definite action."

Roosevelt's previously expressed stand on the liquor question was set forth in a letter of Sept. 11, 1930, from the Governor to Senator Wagner of New York, which said in part:

". . . . the fundamental of a new amendment must be the restoration of real control over intoxicants to the several states. The sale of intoxicants through state agencies should be made lawful in any state where the people of that state desire it."

NEW JERSEY MEDICAL SOCIETY STARTS ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN

By the Associated Press.

JERSEY CITY, Ill., April 19.—The Hudson County Medical Society published its first newspaper advertisement yesterday. It was four columns wide and 18 inches deep, appeared in several newspapers, and contained the names of all of the society's 450 members, listed alphabetically and by municipalities.

Dr. P. E. Maras, chairman of the society's Publicity Committee, said it was done "to protect the public against the practice of irresponsible and unscrupulous practitioners of the healing art."

One of he most rigid provisions of the medical code of ethics has been that physicians and surgeons must not advertise.

Dr. Maras said there would be other arvertisements in the near future and that they would not be confined to a mere listing of members, but would explain some of the services of the society, such as the 24-hour physicians' and surgeons' telephone exchange.

CLERK OF NEW YORK CITY COUR FREED OF SEABURY CHARGES

Board of Justices Decides to Dismiss Case Based on Large Bank Deposits.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19. — Chief Justice Edward B. La Fetra announced today that the Board of Justices of the City Court voted unanimously at a meeting last night to dismiss charges made by Samuel Seabury, counsel to the Legislative City Investigation Committee, against Harry C. Perry, chief clerk to the City Court.

The specific charges investigated by a committee appointed by the Board of Justices included a statement by Seabury that Perry, from 1927 to 1931, inclusive, deposited $135,061.50, which was in excess of his salary, and a further report that the chief clerk borrowed $4500 from the Empire Trust Co., in which he had no account, through the medium of discounting three notes of $1500 each. At the time of the transactions the trust company was a depository of city funds under Perry's control, it was charged.

GEN. DI GIORGIO, ITALY, DIES

By the Associated Press.

PALERMO, Italy, April 19.—Major-General Antonino di Giorgio, who was Minister of War in 1925, died here yesterday. He was 64 years old and had retired from the army.

Gen. di Giorgio resigned as Minister of War in April, 1925, after an army reorganization bill, providing for an army of variable size, which he sponsored, met with strong condemnation. The bill was considered a step toward a reduction of the standing army. A revised bill was passed later, calling for a standing army of 220,000 men instead of the 140,000 proposed by Di Giorgio.

Mo.-Southern Seeks $125,000.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The Missouri-Southern Railroad today asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve a $125,000 loan from the Reconstruction Corporation. The money would be used to pay notes and vouchers.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Scattered selling kept the stock market on the downgrade again today. While losses in the main body of shares were small, there were several net declines of 1 to 4 points at the finish, carrying some of the leaders into new low ground. The closing tone was heavy. Sales approximated a million shares.

The rails had an interval of strength in the late morning, which bolstered the entire list for a time, but prices sagged again during the afternoon, until just before the close, when some covering appeared. Rails and oils closed about steady. The carrier issues were helped somewhat by advance estimates of this week's freight car loadings report, indicating a nominal change from the previous week, in contrast to earlier expectations of another substantial decline.

Allied Chemical was a soft spot, breaking about four points. American Telephone dipped more than 2 to a new low under 98, then recovered most of its loss. It was the first time it had broken par since 1921. American Can reduced a decline of 2 points to a fraction. U. S. Steel broke through 30 for the first time since 1908, with an extreme drop of 1⅝. American Tobacco "B," McKeesport, North American and Western Union lost a point or more, and General Electric declined a major fraction to a new low. Pan American "B" gained 2 points.

Continental gold currencies still held firmly against the dollar in foreign exchanges. The Holland florin ruled two points higher at 40.54 cents for cables, a new high for the year, and above the point at which gold might flow from New York to Amsterdam. The Swiss franc was firm and the French franc steady. Sterling was about steady at $3.79 for cables.

Allied Chemical Weak.

Weakness in Allied Chemical had no accompanying developments in the day's news regarding the company's situation. Continental Can reported net of $3.05 a share in the 12 months ended March 31, off 22 cents from the net reported for the 12 months ended Dec. 31.

Rails were still under the favorable effects of the I. C. C. special report urging Federal regulation of interstate bus lines. Furthermore, Union Pacific statement for March showed net operating income of $1,314,264, or about $100,000 under that month of 1931. In the oils, Pan-American "B" rose moderately to the best price of the year.

General Electric's first quarter report, showing net of 16 cents a share, against 38 cents in the like period of last year, presumably influenced the decline to a new low price in the shares.

Further building up of member bank reserve balances with the Federal Reserve Banks was reported in the Federal Reserve Board's weekly statement of reporting member banks. There was an aggregate increase of $71,000,000.

The weekly statement showed decreases of $115,000,000 in loans and investments and $27,000,000 in time deposits. There was an increase of $101,000,000 in net demand deposits.

FOREIGN MARKETS AT A GLANCE

LONDON, April 19.—Trading on the stock exchange was moderately active. Gilt-edged securities and several industrial issues were firm on budget anticipations while foreign shares yielded on continental selling. American issues were easy. The closing was irregular.

PARIS, April 19.—Prices on the Bourse were strong on bear covering with oil, mining and bank issues leading. Market closed strong.

BERLIN, April 19.—After a weak opening, prices on the Boerse strengthened and the close showed fractional changes.

New York Silk.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Raw silk futures closed firm; sales, 290 bales. May, $1.37; July, $1.36; September, $1.37@1.38. Open market quotations (60-day basis), Shanghai steam extra B, $2.60; Canton double extra A, 14-16s, $1.80; Japanese crack, double extra, $1.57.

New York Coffee.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Coffee—Spot, steady; fair inquiry; Rio, No. 7, 7⅝@7¾c; Santos No. 4, 9⅝@9⅞c. Rio futures closed steady; approximated sales, 3000 bags. May, 6.32c; July, 6.27c; September, 6.20c; December, 6.17c; March, 6.17c. Santos futures barely steady; approximated sales, 17,000 bags. May, 8.50-51c; July, 8.59-60c; September, 8.59c; December, 8.59c; March, 8.60c.

'Change Seat, $80,000.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Brokers are suggesting that prices of Stock Exchange memberships have found a resistance level around $80,000. Several seats have been transferred in the last fortnight between that figure and $82,000. Today another seat sold at $80,000, making two transferred at the lowest price seen since 1921. The selling pressure on the membership market has been heavy during the last few months, but the street believes that prices would rally promptly with any improvement in the market.

Copper Market.

Sol Remains on Gold Standard.

LIMA, Peru, April 19.—Congress voted today to keep the Peruvian gold sol on the gold standard.

OIL OUTPUT DECREASES

TULSA, Ok., April 19.—Sharp curtailment of Oklahoma production offset increases elsewhere to bring the total crude oil output of the United States down 47,009 barrels last week to 2,177,305 barrels daily average, the Oil and Gas Journal estimates.

Texas' output increased from 863,514 barrels to 866,115 barrels a day. East Texas was responsible for the increase, that area's well producing 343,414 barrels a day as compared with a previous average of 337,569 barrels.

Kansas production was up to 99,730 barrels from 97,510 barrels.

California production climbed 3000 barrels to 518,000 barrels a day. Eastern production was up 2000 barrels at 117,000 barrels. Rocky Mountain production decreased from 86,717 barrels to 85,233.

TURPENTINE, FLAX AND LINSEED

Linseed oil in one or two barrel lots was quoted at 7.9c per lb. for raw and 8.3c for boiled.

New York Sugar.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Raw sugar was a little easier early today under continued liberal offerings of duty frees. Sales were confirmed of 28,000 bags of Porto Rican nearby to a local refiner at 2.61c and about 20,000 bags for May arrived at 2.62c.

Sugar futures opened unchanged to 2 points lower with the near months relatively easy and May contracts declining to a new all low record at .57c on the call. The initial decline was due mainly to liquidation in advance of first May notice day next week, but rumor that a bill prohibiting the export of sugar from Cuba until the price reaches 1 cent per pound f. o. b. Cuba would be presented in the Cuban House of Representatives led to increased covering and the loss was more than recovered. May contracts sold up to .62c and December to .82c or 2 to 3 points above the previous close on covering and buying by houses with trade and Cuban connections, with the market at midday within a point of these levels.

Refined sugar was unchanged at 3.90c for fine granulated with a fair inquiry reported.

Futures closed steady, 1 to 2 higher. Approximated sales, 17,400 tons. May, 61; July, 68@69; September, 75; October, 78; December, 82@83; January, 84@85; March, 90.

CLEARINGS, MONEY AND SILVER

The St. Louis Clearing House Association reported clearings for April 19 1932: $9,200,000; corresponding day last year, $12,400,000; this year, $1,030,300,000; corresponding period a year ago, $1,503,500,000. Report of debits for April 18, 1932 were: Debits to individual accounts $22,400,000; total to date $1,712,400,000; debits to bank and bankers' accounts $10,200,000; total to date $788,100,000; combined debits to individual and bank and bankers' accounts $32,600,000; total to date, $2,500,500,000.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Money markets showed easing tendencies today. Dealers reduced 60 to 90 day time loans to 2¼@2½, or ¼ under recently prevailing levels. Some call money was available outside as low as 1¼ per cent, but the stock exchange rate stuck to 2½.

Conditions in the bankers' acceptance market were unchanged, with demand exceeding supply.

C. & O. DIRECTORS ACTS VOTED APPROVAL

Minority Stockholders' Group, However, Asks About Deals for Other Roads.

By the Associated Press.

RICHMOND, Va., April 19.—Despite protests of a minority group, stockholders of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co. approved all acts of the directors during the past year, including the taking of an option to purchase stock of the Erie and Pere Marquette railroads from the Allegheny Corporation at prices reported as higher than the prevailing market rate at the time of the transaction.

By a vote of 5,845,619 shares to 23,336, a resolution of approval was adopted. The minority declined to vote on the re-election of directors, all of whom were declared elected unanimously.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES 4 TO 5 POINTS LOWER

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Cotton displayed a steady undertone today on moderate trade demand with offerings from the South extremly limited.

Futures closed barely steady, 4 to 5 lower; May, 6.00@6.01; July, 6.18@6.19; October, 6.43@6.44; December, 6.59@6.60; January, 6.68@6.69; March, 6.84. Spot quiet; middling, 6.10.

A little covering caused the market to rally to net gains of 9 to 11 points around midday but additional support was held in check by weakness of the stock market. Prices moved irregularly within a narrow range and late in the afternoon July had sold off from 6.30@6.27 with the general market 3 to 5 points net higher.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 2 to 3 points on moderate trade buying and covering. May sold at 6.08c.

Business appeared to be centered largely in further liquidation of the May contract and in exchanges from that month to later deliveries prior to first notice day a week from today. Further buying was checked by early declines in the stock market, but the market held relatively steady with prices showing little or no change from opening levels at this period of trade. Liverpool cables reported covering and calling with less pressure to sell and reported small cloth sales to India and China.

A slightly steadier tone developed in the market late in the morning, with trade buying, absorbing limited offerings. There was no selling pressure from the South, and with contracts relatively scarce, moderate covering by local traders caused slight rallies. Around midday the market was ruling about 3 to 7 points net higher.

FINANCIAL NOTES

NEW YORK, April 19.—A refunding plan covering $2,501,000 bonds of the city of Tampa, Fla., has been formulated by officials of that city. The plan, as announced by B. J. Van Ingen & Co., as fiscal agent, covers the 4½, 4¾ and 5 per cent bonds of Tampa maturing from July 1, 1932, to Dec. 31, 1935. These will be refunded with issues maturing in about 15 years, and carry an interest rate ½ per cent higher than on the outstanding bonds.

Efforts of a minority group of stockholders to obtain representation on the board of directors of Schulte Retail Stores, Inc., were defeated at the annual meeting, the management mustering a vote of 762,000 shares of common stock to 101,000 shares for the opposition.

A New York Cotton Exchange membership was sold at auction for $12,300, an increase of $300 over the previous sale.

The United States Realty & Improvement Co. announced that its offer to purchase a limited number of Savoy Plaza Corporation 10-year 5¼ per cent debentures, due Feb. 1, 1938, at a flat price of $450 for each $1000 bond, will be withdrawn not later than April 25. The Savoy Plaza Corporation, operator of the Savoy Plaza Hotel in New York, is controlled by United States Realty.

In a letter to stockholders, D. A. Schulte, president of Schulte Retail Stores, Inc., stated that the January business of the company was nearly 20 per cent below the corresponding month last year. February nine per cent worse, and March even with last year.

The total volume of bankers' acceptances outstanding on March 31, was $911,290,714, a reduction of $8,401,166 from the total outstanding on Feb. 29, according to the monthly report of the American Acceptance Council.

A syndicate headed by the Chase National Bank has purchased at 5½ per cent $6,000,000 tax notes of New York City. An additional $19,000,000 of tax notes and special revenue bonds will be purchased by the same group over the next few weeks at rates depending upon market conditions.

TRADE NOTES

NEW YORK, April 19.—The National Association of Flat Rolled Steel Manufacturers reports total sales of sheet steel for March at 101,559 tons against a production of 110,559 tons and shipments of 117,685 tons.

Fourteen United States refiners from Jan. 1 to April 9 had atotal melt of 920,000 long tons compared with 1,060,000 in the like period of 1931. Deliveries totaled 800,000 long tons against 920,000 a year ago.

Production of anthracite in the week ended April 9 amounted to 1,291,000 tons compared with 1,060,000 in the preceding week and 1,260,000 in the like week of 1931.

Except for a few items which show indications of weakness, the canned foods market has continued to exhibit a fair degree of stability over the past few weeks. Quotations on tomatoes are holding firmly, though dealers admit that the higher prices put into effect recently have not yet been tested.

Since the achievement of peak levels a month ago, prices for turpentine and rosin have receded sharply. Under this trend prices of some grades of rosin have fallen to the lowest levels in years.

London Wool Auction.

LONDON, April 19.—The wool auction Tuesday 9861 bales were offered, including 4773 South American, of which 3854 were sold. There was a full attendance and animated competition met the fair selection offered, a firm tone prevailing. Some Cape of Good Hope and Natals were withdrawn owing to the sellers high limits.

GENERAL ELECTRIC REPORT

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., April 19.—At the annual meeting of stockholders of the General Electric Co. held here today, Gerard Swope, president, announced that earnings for the first quarter of this year were equivalent to 16 cents a share on the common stock against 38 cents per share in the same quarter of 1931.

Profit available for dividends on the common for the first quarter was $4,508,668 against $10,844,334 one year ago.

Mr. Swope said that orders received by the company in the first three months of this year amounted to $33,404,642 against $60,366,297 in the same quarter of 1931. Sales billed for the quarter just ended amounted to $37,876,399 against $61,959,801 a year ago.

"Business is still running at about the same rate as in the first quarter," said Mr. Swope, "and we hope to be able to keep business at about this rate and to continue to show operating profits as reported in the first quarter. Operations are now between 20 and 25 per cent of capacity."

He pointed out that the writing down of plants aided the company in times of reduced operations.

Directors were re-elected.

WHEAT PRICES RALLY IN LATE CHICAGO TRADE

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 19.—Brisk rallies in grain prices took place in the last hour today, the market giving evidence of having worked itself into an oversold condition.

Preceding the late rally, wheat was down 5 cents a bushel from the recent high. A stimulating factor was word that Texas mills had paid 3¾ cents over Chicago May price for No. 1 hard wheat as compared with 1 cents over May about three weeks ago.

Wheat closed firm ⅛@½c above yesterday's finish, corn unchanged to ⅛c off, oats ⅛@¼c up and provisions 5 to 2 cents down.

A statement credited to Chairman Stone of the Federal Farm Board that he expected steady strengthening of the wheat market and a rise of around 10 cents a bushel was without any immediate apparent influence. Opening ¼@⅜ off, wheat afterward sagged further. Corn started ⅛@¼ down and continued to weaken.

Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas all reported rainfalls that would tend to relieve apprehension as to growing wheat, although not helpful to grain which had been winter killed. Helping to rally wheat prices, however, from early setbacks was an unofficial crop summary of the condition of winter wheat in the four states named and in Colorado as well.

A rise of about 1 cent from early bottom prices took place, but was later somewhat overcome by profit taking. Corn and oats followed wheat, with corn at one stage outdoing the season's previous low price record.

Meeting Postponed a Week.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—It was necessary to adjourn for one week the annual meeting of the Paramount Publix Corporation, due to the failure of the company to show a voting quorum.

Proxies for 1,376,301 shares were present, being 200,000 shares less than the required quorum.

[L]OWER TREND MARKS BOND MARKET TRADE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Vitality was lacking in the bond market today and prices generally reverted to the heavy side of the trading ledger.

While a few high-grade issues displayed moderate resistance at times, speculative loans were especially subjected to pressure. Obligations of the United States Government sagged fractionally, this list appearing somewhat tired after its recent buoyancy.

Among the transportation bonds that dipped a point or more were Atchison 4s, Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, Canadian Pacific debenture 4s, Chicago & Northwestern 4¾s, Nickel Plate 4½s, Pennsylvania general 4½s and Frisco 4½s.

A number of soft spots developed among the utilities and industrials. Weakness was shown by American & Foreign Power 5s, Columbia Gas 5s, International Telephone debenture 5s, Postal Telegraph 5s and Utility Power & Light debenture 5s. Dodge Bros. 6s and U. S. Rubber dropped a point or more.

There was a mixed trend in the foreign section. German Government 7s steadied while the 5½s declined. French and Italian issues gained moderately. South Americans were easy.

CURB MARKET MIXED IN A DULL SESSION

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Curb market traders drifted aimlessly in dull trading today. Closing quotations represented fractional and mixed net changes for the most part utilities were steady most of the day. Electric Bond & Share showing considerable firmness and showing a net gain of half a point.

Pressure against preferred stocks was in general, but a few large losses in stocks of that description occurred. J. J. Newberry preferred, an inactive, broke 3¾ on a single sale. Minneapolis Honeywell preferred lost 3¼ and Carolina Light & Power preferred 8. United Gas preferred was steady after yesterday's reaction. Cities Service 6 per cent issue was off a couple of points coincident with heaviness in the common which dipped to 4 and closed ¼ lower.

MILL FEED FUTURES MARKET

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, April 19.—Mill futures closing prices were lower today. The market was weak and demand slow. Late recovery of grain came too late to help feed futures and cash feed market was easy. Closing price changes for local deliveries were: Bran, 5@30c lower; gray shorts, April 50c lower, 20c lower to 10c higher otherwise; for Chicago deliveries, bran 10c lower to 5c higher; standard middlings 15c lower to 10c higher. Sales totaled 1800 tons.

Meeting Postponed a Week.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—It was necessary to adjourn for one week the annual meeting of the Paramount Publix Corporation, due to the failure of the company to show a voting quorum.

Proxies for 1,376,301 shares were present, being 200,000 shares less than the required quorum.

LOWER TREND MARKS BOND MARKET TRADE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Vitality was lacking in the bond market today and prices generally reverted to the heavy side of the trading ledger.

While a few high-grade issues displayed moderate resistance at times, speculative issues were especially subjected to pressure. Most of the United States Government obligations sagged fractionally, this list appearing somewhat tired after its recent buoyancy.

Among the transportation bonds that yielded a point or more were Atchison 4s, Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, Canadian Pacific debenture 4s, Chicago & Northwestern 4¾s, Nickel Plate 4½s, Pennsylvania general 4½s and Frisco 4½s.

A number of soft spots developed among utilities and industrials. Weakness was shown by American & Foreign Power 5s, Columbia Gas 5s, International Telephone debenture 5s, Postal Telegraph 5s and Utility Power & Light debenture 5s. Dodge Bros. 6s and U. S. Rubber 5s dropped a point or more.

There was a mixed trend to the foreign list. German Government 7s steadied while the 5½s declined. French and Italian issues gained moderately. South Americans were easy.

CURB MARKET MIXED IN A DULL SESSION

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Curb market leaders drifted aimlessly in dull trading today. Closing quotations represented fractional and mixed net changes for the most part. Utilities were steady most of the day, Electric Bond & Share showing considerable firmness and showing a net gain of about a point.

Pressure against preferred stocks was in general, but a few large losses in stocks of that description occurred. J. J. Newberry preferred, an inactive, broke 4⅛ on a single sale. Minneapolis Honeywell preferred lost 3¼ and Carolina Light & Power preferred 8. United Gas preferred was steady after yesterday's reaction. Cities Service 6 per cent issue was off a couple of points coincident with heaviness in the common which dipped to 4 and closed ⅛ lower.

Oils were dull but firm. Specialties had a somewhat mixed trend, but traded infrequently.

Enter Highway Business.

CHICAGO, April 19.—Within the next month, Chicago railroads, through the Railway Express Agency, will enter the highway trucking business, the express company announced. Service will apply between 50 and 200 miles each way from Chicago, with Milwaukee the northern terminal, Aurora the western and South Bend the southeastern.

It is the first time the agency has stepped out of the Chicago terminal field to enter highway activities.

The express agency has applied to the railway commissions of Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin for charters permitting them to operate in competition to existing truck lines. The starting date depended to a large extent on the granting of these charters.

The truck line will start merely as an experiment, with only three seven-ton units in operation.

The territory around Chicago has been a fertile field for truck operations and the railroads have lost much less-than-carload freight. The experiment by the Railway Express Agency will be an effort to see how much of that business might be won back by the railroads.

Receivership Petition Denied.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Supreme Court Justice Dodd in Brooklyn today denied the petition of a group of preferred stockholders for the appointment of a receiver for the National Bellas Hess Co., Inc. The Court also denied a petition for an injunction to restrain the directors of the corporation from continuing with its present policies and from disposing of the assets of the company.

FOX FILM CORPORATION LOSES CONTROL OF ROXY THEATER

Class A Stockholders Assume Direction After Passing of Four Straight Quarterly Dividends.

NEW YORK, April 19.—The Fox Film and Theaters Corporation lost control of Roxy Theaters, Inc., yesterday when Class A stockholders assumed direction of the board of directors and elected Harry G. Kosch, attorney, president. Harley L. Clarke, chairman of the Fox Film Corporation retired as president and a director and two of his associates stepped down.

The Roxy Theater will be operated independently for the first time since S. L. Rothafel sold his controlling common stock interest to Fox interests after its opening in 1927.

The change in control was made possible by a provision in the corporation's charter which ordered a stockholders' meeting to elect new officers in the event that four consecutive quarterly dividends were passed. This had occurred.

Eight Months Wheat Exports.

OTTAWA, April 19.—Canada's export of wheat during the eight months of the present crop year ending in March was 124,289,429 bu according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Of that amount 71,505,107 went to the United Kingdom.

The quantity that was routed to the United Kingdom via United State sea ports was 37,324,971. This was a gain, so far as Canadian seaports are concerned, for the amount which was exported to Great Britain via American ports in the same period the year before was 62,816,115 bu, and via Canadian seaports 33,254,403.

It is only in the export to Great Britain that the huge disparity in routing Canadian wheat is observed. The export in the eight months of the present crop year to other countries was 48,312,954 bu, of which 45,642,821 went by Canadian seaports and 2,670,133 by United States seaports. United States seaports made a slight gain, however, as the loading in the same period of 1931 was 2,166,757 bu.

Dry Goods Market.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Cotton goods were easier Tuesday with print cloths, broadcloths and narrow sheetings showing declines on first hands sales.

Wash fabrics prices are also softening. The American Woolen Co. announced lower prices on woolens and worsteds for men's wear and considerable price unsettlement has resulted. Burlaps were weak and unchanged. Raw silk showed little change. Silk goods were in slightly better demand.

Great German Dye Trust Report.

BERLIN, April 19.—The annual report of the Great German Dye Trust became one of the bright spots of the industrial year when it was announced today. It showed a net profit for 1931 of 51,500,000 marks and a dividend of 7 per cent, compared with 12 per cent in 1930.

It was stated no bank loans were outstanding.

Tells of Canadian Copper Competition.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Speaking at the annual Phelps-Dodge Corporation stockholders meeting, Cleveland E. Dodge, vice president, declared that Canada more than any other country has had an adverse effect on the copper market in the United States.

One of the reasons, Mr. Dodge said, was that the Canadians were able to ship into this country's lake ports through advantageous freight rates. Also, he charged, Canada has increased its copper output during the depression instead of decreasing it.

First Grain Movement From Montreal.

By the Associated Press.

MONTREAL, April 19.—Grain spouted out of a harbor elevator here today into the S. S. Cydonia for overseas shipment, the first grain movement of the year.

To date there are orders on hand amounting to 451,981 bushels, while 22 tramps have been chartered to come here for grain.

ACCUSED MAYOR RE-ELECTED

Michigan Executive on Trial on Dry Law Charge.

By the Associated Press.

FLINT, Mich., April 19.—Mayor William H. McKeighan, who is on trial in Federal Court in Bay City for conspiracy to violate the Federal prohibition laws, was re-elected by the City Commission last night after a deadlock which had extended through three sessions and 71 ballots.

He was elected to his fifth term as commissioner on the day he went on trial with Caesar J. Scavarda, his police chief and acting city manager, and two fellow defendants.

NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT "DOUBLE TOASTED"

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit Introduce Many Improvements

Local grocers say that women are delighted with the extra crispness of the new Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit. It is toasted on both top and bottom—not just one side.

The biscuit is "pressure-cooked" by a special process that retains the full food value of the whole wheat. This process likewise produces a delightful, tasty flavor and makes the biscuit easier to digest.

Another improvement Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits offer is a new and more convenient size. Two biscuits just fit the cereal bowl without crumbling. And you get 15 to the package instead of the usual dozen.

As evidence of the high food value of the Kellogg biscuit, the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia certifies every package. Served with hot or cold milk or cream, these tempting biscuits bring a well-balanced variety of healthful food elements to any meal.

Local stores are featuring the new Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit. Ask your grocer about it. You can identify this improved cereal by the name, Kellogg's, and the familiar red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

WABASH RECEIVERSHIP DIRECTLY TRACEABLE TO MERGER SCHEME

Lehigh. Pennsylvania purchased from the Loree interests their holdings of Wabash stock, a deal in which the Loree group is said to have made a profit of upward of $26,000,000.

Railroad men familiar with the affairs of the Wabash freely admit that in the light of developments which at the time were not foreseen, the Wabash venture into Lehigh stock has turned out as a bad deal, adding to the burdens of the road at this time.

When the Wabash last fall found itself unable to meet the pressing demands of creditors it appealed to the Pennsylvania for help, but the treasury of the parent road, also suffering from the depression and unprofitable stock investments, was closed to it. A creditor's petition, in which the railroad management joined, resulted in the receivership being declared Dec. 1.

How Loan Was to Be Used.

After creation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the receivers applied to it for a loan of $18,500,000, stating the money was to be used as follows:

Bank loans	$9,750,000
Materials and supplies	5,000,000
Interest, equipment certificates	3,000,000
Contingencies	750,000

It will be seen that the amount needed for purposes other than the bank loans, which were made to pay for the Lehigh stock, is only $8,750,000. This is almost exactly the amount the Wabash quickly raised in cash for the down payment on the stock purchased, and is more than the 1931 deficit. Hence it appears that if the Lehigh venture had not been entered into, there would have been no necessity for the Wabash receivership.

With the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission the Reconstruction Finance Corporation already has advanced the Wabash $7,100,000 on its loan application, the money to be used principally for interest and material bills. Decision on further loans, including funds needed to meet bank notes, has been deferred.

BRITISH TAXPAYER GETS NO RELIEF FOR ANOTHER YEAR

"And where," he demanded, "would we have found that sum without the new import duties?"

He said he expected £27,000,000 from the 10 per cent import duties; £1,000,000 from the abnormal importations duty, and £5,000,000 from the additional import duties still to be announced.

This totaled £33,000,000, reducing the estimated deficit to £1,700,000.

Chamberlain said he proposed to wind up the present exchange account and to open a new account which he will call the equalization account. He proposes to ask for power to borrow up to £150,000,000 for this account.

"If we are to avoid perilous fluctuations in our currencies, due especially to speculative operations, it is essential to hold adequate reserves in the gold and foreign exchange account in order to meet sudden withdrawal of capital," he explained.

He said the House would realize that there was no opportunity of giving relief this year to the income taxpayer.

Only a few changes in taxation were proposed, he disclosed.

"In my opinion," he said, "beer is overtaxed. But I have come to the conclusion that I can do nothing for beer."

Every seat in the house, on the floor and in the galleries was occupied.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald received a rousing cheer on his entrance. Widespread sympathy had been aroused by the disclosure earlier in the day that his eyes were giving him trouble again.

The Prince of Wales sat in the gallery over the clock behind the Speaker's chair. Chamberlain was greeted with cheers from the ministerial benches.

Lord Snowden, who presented the budget in September, gave the country a model of severe, salutary finance, said Chamberlain and "today we have the satisfaction of reporting that his anticipations have been fulfilled."

He said the estimates had been realized with a surplus of £9,000,000 (about $34,000,000) better than Lord Snowden expected to get. Of that total £2,000,000 (about $7,500,000) was collected through the new import duties.

Senator Reed Says Debt Payments Are Expected.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Failure of the new British budget to provide for war debt and reparations payments next year, brought a quick declaration today from Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, an administration spokesman, that this Government expected to make the debt collection.

Foreign nations do not have to make any debt payments to the United States under the one-year moratorium until next December and if there is any hint of a continuation of that moratorium, as suggested in the British budget, Senator Reed said he did not know of it. He called last night at the White House.

Speaking off the floor, Reed said: "I am convinced the British are honest and that provision will be made for the payments due us in December and June next year. I am perfectly certain that no responsible American official has given our British friends any reason to think these payments will not be expected to me made."

WALKER RAKES INVESTIGATORS IN OPENING NEW BOULEVARD

Recalls Allen Street 40 Years Ago Was "Alley of Dives"; Fears Return to Evil if Inquiries Go On.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Mayor Walker seized the formal opening of the Allen street boulevard on the lower East Side yesterday to strike back at the Hofstadter Investigating Committee without mentioning it by name.

Describing Allen street 40 years ago as "an alley of dives," and one of the most evil streets in the world, he said "a little more of this ultra-investigating and there will come a time when Allen street will be what it was 40 years ago.

"I warn some of our investigators that with their continual hounding and criticising and reviling of our police force, these conditions are even now returning, and if they are not careful they will ruin the work of the police in cleaning up this part of town, which took 40 years to accomplish."

ST. LOUIS SCHOOL CHILDREN MARCH IN "CLEAN-UP" CAMPAIGN

With girls in aprons and dust caps, and carrying brooms and brushes, and the boys wearing overalls and equipped with paint brushes and cans, interspersed here and there with High School bands, some 5000 pupils in public and parochial schools paraded Monday through downtown streets to vitalize the "clean up" movement. This view was taken near City Hall where brief addresses were made to the assembled crowd. —By Post-Dispatch staff photographer.

If you ask my Opinion

by Martha Carr

DEAR MRS. CARR: I am a boy 11 years old. My mother makes me go to bed at 8 o'clock every night. Everybody else in the neighborhood stays up much later. I have asked her a thousand times if I could stay up later and she says "No!"

Do you think I am too young to stay up any later? Please tell me something to do to induce her to let me stay up a little later.

A MILLION THANKS.

Well, I wouldn't say you are too young, exactly, but I have a feeling that your mother is getting you in training to be the huskiest boy in the neighborhood — probably for football or something like that. You know what strict training these prize fighters and football men and polo players have to take. And I've no doubt she is just a little particular about what you eat; you know that all goes with it, too. Maybe it has something to do with your spelling, too, because you are certainly a good speller for your age.

Without wishing to stir up revolt against discipline, I want to say that as a reward for some special work or gallant deportment, I think you might have a 9 o'clock bedtime once in a while.

MY DEAR MRS. CARR: If a boy asks to take you out for the first time and you accept, should you ask him in until you get your wraps? What should one say after leaving him when he has brought you home? 2. If a strange boy at a dance comes up to you and asks for a dance, must you always accept in order to be polite? Do you think it necessary to talk all the time you are dancing?

THE S. F. F.'s.

It would be discourteous not to ask him in the house, to leave him on the doorstep, don't you think? It would be poor hospitality.

If the dance is a private affair or in a friend's home, you may dance with a boy who introduces himself and asks you, or you may refuse if you have a good reason, politely, of course. At a public dance neither speak to a strange boy nor dance with him. Decline, politely or not. It is sheer impertinence for him to ask you.

DEAR MRS. CARR: My husband has a half-brother who for years has done things of which the family heartily disapproves. But my husband thinks family ties cover a multitude of sins. The question now is, he is having an affair with a woman who has left her husband. The rest of the family have accepted the woman, who is really lovable. But the couple, though every obstacle has been removed, have never thought it necessary to be married. With me it is not so easy. I have visited them a little and now have a small child to consider. I think the situation might have a bad influence over him when he is older. We really have nothing in common, these people and I, and I do not want my boy to feel that such company is desirable. SUZANNE.

If this man and woman do not consider their families and their position in the community sufficiently to conform to moral and civilized customs, I do not see that you are under any obligations to overlook the situation. Distant courtesy is all your husband should expect. Think of your child first.

• • •

DEAR MRS. CARR: Would you please tell me what a girl 12 years old should wear to the wedding of a very close friend. It is to be at noon in the church.

DOUBTFUL.

Any pretty spring dress, one of the little wools or silks with the jacket or a printed silk. A dress that would be suitable on the street, but not sports clothes. It should not be a party, or long afternoon dress. Your hat will probably be the only part that can be seen, so have a nice beret or sailor of straw with a gay ribbon or feather on it or, perhaps, a wee rosegay of flowers put on in very tailored fashion.

• • •

DEAR MRS. CARR: After spending about 20 minutes wondering how to begin, I decided to get right down to the point. So many girls are writing to you for advice on how to be popular with the boys. They wonder why a boy will escort them home from a party or dance and say "goodnight" without dating them. Perhaps the answer to the question is that the boys are not making enough money nowadays to be able to afford taking the girls out. Many boys will not take a girl out unless they can show her a "good time" and spend at least $5. I have heard that from the boys a good many times. I hope my suggesting this will make more than one girl realize that good looks, clothes and personality do not decrease expenses.

The WRONG WIFE

By Arthur Somers Roche

A New Love Story by the Author Who Wrote 'The Age of Youth.'

"Don't know how she does it. I sometimes think she has an angel perched on her shoulder who forecasts the future for her."

CHAPTER TWO.

FROM the veranda, banishing a feeling of awkwardness that might have made Cordova angry—young men resent the cause of their shyness and never find the cause in their own gaucherie—came a flute-like voice. Cordova turned. Dusk had just begun to come, and the windows of the great living room gave forth a blaze of light in which was outlined the form of Del Carmichael. If she had seemed radiant before, she seemed ethereal now, and her voice was something celestial calling. He took a quick step toward the house. Then, embarrassed again, he turned back to Deborah.

Upon that young woman's generously wide mouth flickered the faintest smile, and the gray eyes that surveyed Cordova held a hint of mockery. She waved aside his offered assistance with her rod. Cordova unaccountably felt like a very small boy with whom an adult was extremely patient. It was exactly as though she read his thoughts, his emotions, at sound of Del Carmichael's voice and at sight of her figure and found them amusing.

"Don't wait for me," she said. "I have to set the line out to dry."

She turned her back on him, and began reeling in her line. An instant the young man hesitated, then he started across the lawn. An extremely assured — rude — young woman, he said to himself. Yet he knew that he was unjust as he made the accusation. She hadn't been rude at all. She'd merely been—well what? Superior. That was the word. But what on earth was she superior about? And he ceased his mental questioning as he reached the veranda.

If Del Carmichael had been lovely in the blue organdie, she was ravishing now. Cordova knew as little as most men about the mysteries of the feminine toilette, but he guessed that the flaming red chiffon dress she wore had cost not merely money, but the lavish expenditure of the designer's time and effort. The string of pearls about the lovely throat were beautiful, although Cordova couldn't know that the Senator had spent two years in collecting the carefully matched units.

"Deborah can't spare a minute from her fishing," her cool voice greeted him. "She's at the age when she thinks that the only important things are sports. She'll come out this fall, and then I suppose sports will give way to young men. But at the moment a good tennis player is superior to a statesman."

CORDOVA smiled.

"There are more good statesmen than there are first-flight tennis players," he said.

Del Carmichael smiled.

"I hadn't looked at it in that light. Perhaps you are right. Shall we go inside? Uncle will be down in a moment."

Cordova had come down here to meet Carmichael, but at the moment he resented the man's very existence. Here, on this veranda, was quite the loveliest girl in the world, and financiers, and politicians, and all practical men and matters were intrusions. But he held the French window wide for her and followed her into the living room.

At the far end, cocktails in hand, chatting in earnest tones, stood two men. The girl led Cordova along the great length of the room.

"Mr. Martine, Mr. Grenfell—Mr. Cordova."

Martine held out a great fist. The fingers that gripped Cordova's hand held faint protuberances that would never vanish. Martine had begun at the bottom—digging in a ditch—and sheer driving will had forced him to political heights.

Grenfell was a different type. Alert, quick of speech, roving of eye, one instinctively felt that he —in any association the two men might have together—would be the finder, while Martine would be the getter. Then, as they muttered friendly greetings, Carmichael descended the stairs, and as his harsh voice called Cordova's name, the young man knew that if the three were in association, then Carmichael would be the one to know the existence of the thing that Grenfell would find and Martine would get.

"Hello, Cordova," he cried. "Had about given you up when the boat returned from Haydons Landing without you."

"I was mixed up. The operator said that Warumkeg was calling me, so I bought my ticket to there—"

Carmichael was shaking his guest's hand now. Slightly under average height, he nevertheless took longer strides than one would have expected. Cordova had the feeling that this very speed of physical movement was but an outer indication of an inner speed of thought.

The Senator smiled at his niece. The smile was revelatory. Here was a face that was hard as granite, Cordova thought. No, hard as marble, for its features were smooth. The high forehead, from which the white hair had receded, spoke of intellect. The black unfathomable eyes hinted at intrigue. The high-bridge nose was both artistic and predatory, and the grim mouth was cruel and the chin tenacious.

BUT the smile on the cruel mouth softened the whole expression of the face. It was not, Cordova thought, a loving or tender smile, but rather an expression of pride.

"You won your bet, Del," he said. He turned to Cordova. "Told me you'd be here. Never won a bet from her in my life. Don't know how she does it. I sometimes think she has an angel perched on her shoulder who forecasts the future for her."

"Uncle hates to lose a bet, even so trifling a one as this," said Del. "He can't believe that his judgment can possibly be inferior to any other human's, so I must invoke supernatural aid."

"Where's Deborah?" asked Carmichael.

"She was fishing," said Del, "and you know how she is about setting out her lines, drying her rods"—

"Good, sensible girl," said Carmichael. He held up a cocktail. "Welcome to Carmichael's camp," he said to Cordova.

Cordova bowed an acknowledgment. He lifted his own glass.

"To the angel," he said, looking at Del Carmichael. He paused perceptibly. "On your shoulder," he added.

On the girl's face appeared the least perceptible of blushes. Martine's left eyebrow raised slightly and Grenfell's roving eyes paused in their wandering about the room to meet Martine's glance for a second. Something unspoken passed between them.

From a far doorway a butler spoke, announcing dinner. Once again the excessive formality of the place grated on Cordova's sensibilities. But as he offered his arm to Miss Carmichael, he forgot everything but the fact that she had not been annoyed at his toast —a trifle presumptuous, he had felt, as soon as he uttered it—and that the hand that rested on his sleeve was beautifully formed.

"Where's Deborah?" asked the Senator again.

As he spoke the younger girl came through the opened window. She paused a moment.

"I think," she said, "that you're all pigs. You've had your cocktails without waiting for me."

"As if we'd let you drink one," said Carmichael. His voice was a harsh jeer, yet its harshness, like the smile he had given his other niece, was also revelatory. For there was in it something that consorted strangely with that predacious face. Pride, such as his smile for Del had shown, blended naturally with that high-bridged nose; but tenderness, such as queerly crept through the harshness of his voice now, seemed foreign to the man.

"No, but you know I love caviar and new it's too late," pouted Deborah.

She accepted her uncle's arm, and Cordova had a sudden consciousness of gaucherie. Perhaps he should not have offered his arm to Del Carmichael. But what did it matter? Everything was in conflict in this palatial house, anyway. The furnishings didn't match each other, nor did they belong to a rough log camp So, if he should have permitted his hostess—he realized by now that Del was the mistress of the household—to be taken in to dinner by one of the older men, it didn't really matter much.

ORNATELY liveried servants pulled out chairs. Once again Cordova wondered that the taste which had been shown in selecting the furnishings seemed so utterly lacking in their blending; the same bad taste accounted for the formality of the service in what was, after all, a camp in the woods. At least, to Cordova it seemed vulgarly pretentious, as though the mind behind it all could never forget that it had millions at its disposal.

Carmichael—not his niece, Del. So he decided.

He sat at Del's right. Carmichael sat at the upper end of the table—it was a Spanish refectory—and at his left was the heavy Martine. At his right, almost opposite Cordova, sat Deborah, and between her and Del was Grenfell.

Grenfell and his host immediately began a long-winded argument about the afternoon's fishing, in which Deborah and Martine joined and Cordova was enabled to talk with Del. He remembered the conversation later that night, but it seemed to him that it had advanced him little in his knowledge of the girl.

She drew him out. He was born in New York. He had gone to St. Paul's. He was a Yale man. His father and mother were dead. Vaguely, later, it seemed to him that after these preliminary questions and answers the conversation had turned to matters social. Yet —he later indignantly stated to himself— there was nothing of the climber, avid for intimate details of the lives of the fashionable, in her questions. She was as one who from a height looked down amusedly at the petty efforts to entertain —and be entertained—of that group of people whose money somehow prevents them from seeking more of life than amusement.

Cordova couldn't quite understand it. Carmichael had money—that was all too evident. The man himself—despite the contradictory evidence of this camp—had breeding, culture. He belonged to what are known as the best clubs. Yet his niece—the most beautiful girl in the world—had obviously not belonged to the Junior League; although she had referred to Deborah's coming-out party, Cordova gathered that she herself had never been formally presented to society. She knew none of the people that Cordova knew. She had spent a great deal of her time in Europe, but still • • •

Yet it seemed to him, as dinner ended, that she must know all about him, whereas he knew nothing of her save what knowledge he had brought to dinner—that she was beautiful and charming and brilliant.

"You young girls will have to leave us alone," he stated. "I'll give Cordova to you tomorrow morning, but tonight I want him to myself."

Deborah frowned at her uncle.

"You mean that you want a man's bridge game."

"That, too," agreed Carmichael. "But—there are matters of business, too."

"Come along, Deborah," said her cousin. She put her arm about the waist of the younger girl in a fashion that Cordova's besotted eyes thought was infinitely and graciously tender. He was annoyed with the younger girl when she very matter-of-factly removed herself from the embrace. The child was a trifle spoiled, he gathered. Even if her uncle had been brusque—why couldn't she profit by the charming example of her cousin, who seemed able to adapt herself to a situation gracefully?

He rose, smiled an acknowledgment of Deborah's reminder of their swimming engagement, and blushed as he bowed over her cousin's hand. He watched the progress of the young women up the long flight of stairs, then turned back to his host.

Already a bridge table had been set out; coffee, liqueurs and whisky and soda stood nearby. Carmichael had cut. He nodded to the young man.

Cordova nodded.

"Badly," he said.

"That's all right. Just take me out of a two double. Grenfell, your deal."

Cordova played mechanically. It seemed to him that everything was unreal. The telephonic summons to come down here; the canoe ride; the lovely Del and the youthful Deborah; the mismated furnishings; the palatial luxury within the log walls, and now this bridge game, upon which the other three men were as intent as though nothing in the world existed save 52 cards.

For fully two hours there was no conversation except the bidding. Then a servant spoke to Carmichael.

"Ten-thirty, sir."

"Eh? Oh! all right." Carmichael threw down his half-played hand. "Rule of the camp, Cordova. I come here for rest, for health. Must be in bed by 10:45. Sorry. This last rubber doesn't count. Cordova, you win $28. Only winner. Good, close game. You play well, young man."

He accepted a whisky that the servant offered him.

"My nightcap," he stated. "Have something, Cordova? No; I notice you don't drink. Good habit."

HIS right hand waved and the servant glided from the room as though he were a mechanical figure and Carmichael's hand had pressed a lever that set him in motion. The Senator looked at Grenfell; the later's roving eyes were still for a second. He nodded almost imperceptibly. Carmichael looked at Martine. Solemnly that shaggy head moved forward and back, as though in assent to some unspoken question.

"Cordova," said Carmichael, "you've been wondering why I sent for you, eh? Well, we've been looking you over, we three men. Cordova, you're handling the prosecution of the Drovers and Builders Investment Trust, aren't you?"

Cordova stiffened.

"I am, sir."

"Think you'll get a conviction?" asked Carmichael.

So this was it, eh? Going to scare him out of prosecuting—Cordova had heard of these things.

"I know I will," he said, emphatically.

"Good lad," said Carmichael. "Well, if you do, Cordova, how would you like to be Mayor of New York?"

The Story Thus Far

DOWN the sloping lawn of Carmichael's Maine camp, unconscious —oh, utterly—that masculine eyes were upon her, came the loveliest girl that Cordova had ever seen. He was an Assistant District Attorney suddenly summoned—much to his surprise—to Maine for a conference with the great Carmichael, ex-Senator and political boss of the party. To Cordova, standing on the dock where Jeb Stone's canoe had just landed him, Del Carmichael, the politician's niece, appeared as a girl with the body of a dryad, the face of an angel and the soul of a saint. "That," he said to himself, "is the girl I'm going to marry."

And at exactly that moment, through a window of the bathhouse attached to the dock, another niece of Carmichael's, ceasing the drying operations of a huge bath towel, stared at Cordova. She had, technically, no beauty; but there were those who found the powder of tiny freckles on Deb's nose and cheeks attractive. "That," she said, "is the man I am going to marry."

When Cordova came down for dinner that night at the camp, he had most definitely fallen in love with Del Carmichael. It was with the sudden realization of the fact that he had not yet met his host that he went through an open window to the veranda. On the dock at the foot of the lawn stood Deborah, who hailed him joyously. She was in what he roughly termed a dinner frock, and—extraordinarily—she was whipping the surface of the lake with a fly.

"Trout!" he asked.

"Bass. Small-mouthed. Want to try?"

"Never fished in my life," he replied. "Never been shooting, either, although the guide promised I'd get a deer if I came up in November."

"Jeb Stone offered to take you hunting? He takes no one unless he likes them," said the girl.

"Thank you," he said, "that's the nicest compliment—"

"No compliment at all. You are swell."

She thrust out her hand, shyly, suddenly coloring. Cordova took it, and unaccountably—she couldn't be more than 18—found himself blushing too.

Behind the Screens

by Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD, April 18.

HAROLD LLOYD may rest three or four months between pictures, or even 17 months as he did between "Feet First" and his present production, "Movie Crazy," but during those working months he takes a physical beating that puts a premium on fitness.

HAROLD LLOYD

Lloyd, who works on his stories and situations for months before he gets on the set, keeps in trim by hours of golf, handball and squash. When production starts, he needs the reserve energy.

After a day on the set the comedian frequently—as after the recent scenes in which he battles with Kenneth Thomson, a good actor but a poor punch-puller—is so sore and bruised he needs the attention of a masseur so as to be fit for the next day's punishment.

IN view of that, it is interesting that Lloyd regards the Producers' Association poll of nationwide movie tastes as having slighted him, omitting from the list of picture types any classification which would embrace his particular film specialty.

"My comedies are not slapstick," he insists, "but romances with broad comedy. There's a difference between slapstick, which presently is leading in the popularity vote, and broad comedy."

Incidentally, the Hollywood consensus on that poll seems to be: "Interesting, and what of it?" For it is certain producers are not going to rush to make slapstick comedies in wholesale lots, nor any of the other particular film types favored in the balloting, any more than they have in the past.

• • •

SEVERAL producers now are sounding the death-knell of the movie "cycle," saying that the custom of one company's imitating another's success is on the wane. Unless I'm wrong, they've been saying the same thing for years, during which "cycles" continued to flourish.

Vicomtesse Wears Blue Wool Coat

The Vicomtesse de Rochefort is among smart Parisians who have chosen blue for their spring wardrobe. She is appearing these days in a dark blue wool coat designed along slender lines and trimmed with a light blue scarf. With it she wears a frock of light blue wool matching the scarf and a little straw hat combining the two shades of blue.

Open-Work Gloves.

Fashionable women are sticking their fingers into mesh these days. The popularity of mesh stockings has gone to the hands and the newest gloves are of the identical mesh weaves as hosiery. Of white open-work mesh they are lined with red or blue silk; of black, white open-work mesh they are lined with red or blue silk; of black, they are lined with white. Bags fashioned of the same fabrics as well as mesh scarfs, are worn with them.

An Inexpensive Protection.

Where there are children in the home and in consequence more spilled liquids, it is almost necessary to have a waterproof under cover for the dining room table. A large square oilcloth placed on the mahogany before putting on the "silence cloth" will prove a great protection against hot dishes or spilled liquids.

Always add a few drops of disinfectant to the water when cleaning the bathroom. It will give the room a clean smelt and at the same time kill any germs.

Mother of 7—Still Young

Her system doesn't stagnate; her face doesn't age. She has the health and "pep" that come from a lively liver and strong, active bowels.

When you're sluggish and the system needs help, don't take a lot of "patent medicines." There's a famous doctor's prescription for just such cases, and every druggist keeps this standard preparation. It is made from fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. Just ask for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Take a little every day or so, until every organ in your body feels the big improvement.

The next time you have a bilious headache, or feel all bound-up, take this delicious syrup instead of the usual cathartic. You'll be rid of all that poisonous waste, and you haven't weakened the bowels. You'll have a better appetite, and feel better in every way. The constant use of cathartics is often the cause of a sallow complexion and lines in the face. And so unnecessary!

Would you like to break yourself of the cathartic habit? At the same time building health and vigor that protects you from frequent sick spells, headaches, and colds? Get a big bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin today. Use often enough to avoid those attacks of constipation. When you feel weak and run-down or a coated tongue or bad breath warns you the bowels need to be stimulated. Give it to children instead of strong laxatives that sap their strength. It isn't expensive.

Conversely, the pers... understand the play can not very dependably ... going to be.

Rules for bidding under any system are an important guide in estimating a situation. But when the circumstances are a bit complex, with several players making bids, doubles and what-not during its progress, the very fine player will make inferences which enable him to know within certain limits just how the hand will play with one side or the other as declarer. The really fine art of bidding, the wiles of the expert, are then revealed as at no other time.

Consequently, if we hear of somebody being a super-excellent bidder but a poor player, we can know it is not so. For nobody except a good player can ever accurately foresee the play and thus be a fine bidder. Peculiarly, the absolute antithesis of this is not true, for many a person who plays the cards beautifully has never mastered fine bidding; the lack in their cases is usually fundamental —inability to visualize in advance, though they can proceed most cunningly and with the soundest of deductions to guide them after the bidding is closed.

So many bridge players have given hard study to bidding in the last year or so that it is high time somebody counseled them to study the play more. Doing so will enable them to make a larger number of the contracts that they bid and to defeat more of their opponents' contracts. In addition, it will even improve their bidding.

He Likes His Confusion

A NEW and interesting point of view is given by "Whist," who considers it fun, among other things, to have to converse with a partner to decide what bidding system will be used. He likes all innovations, apparently, to keep out dull monotony, stating his case this way:

"I am most interested in the new All-trump declaration introduced by Mr. Shepard Barclay. I enjoy novelties, and this new bid will increase my enjoyment.

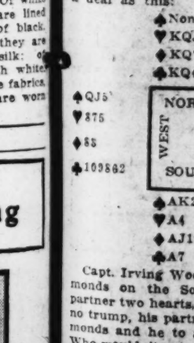

"What fun it is, before playing a rubber, discussing as to whether we are to play the Vanderbilt convention, the one-over-one bid, the official system or the approach-forcing system, and now the Barclay all-trump.

"I congratulate him on his addition to the game. I hope bridge will never be stabilized. Keep it moving, and oblige—Whist."

Many thanks for your kind remarks, "Whist," though they were not addressed directly to the writer, but especially for your refreshing attitude on the arguments about systems.

A Bigger Thrill

In some respects the biggest thrill of bridge comes from the great string of 13 cards of a suit. In others there is more fun in such a deal as this:

Capt. Irving Woolfe bid two diamonds on the South cards, his partner two hearts, he went to four no trump, his partner to seven diamonds and he to seven no trump. Who wouldn't get a kick out of laying that hand down for the biggest grand slam of all?

Wasted Wiles

The play of a hand had got down to the point where all that declarer had left was a bunch of trumps—five of them, to be exact. Here is the way the final cards of the suit were divided, the lead being in dummy, the North hand:

The declarer is one of those few —thanks be that there are very few —"wise" ones who are always trying to "get an edge," according to those who have played a good bit with him and haven't sense enough to quit him. He spread his hand quickly and announced: "I concede one trick to East and claim the rest; I am leading the jack from dummy and one trick is all he can take with the ace-queen-nine."

Those who have been up against him often say he frequently gets away with claims like that against inexperienced players. This time he had Walter Malowan, an old campaigner and real bridge player, at his right. He of course refused the claim, told the declarer to go ahead and play, covered the jack with his queen and then let the

by Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD, April 18.

HAROLD LLOYD may rest three or four months between pictures, or even 17 months as he did between "Feet First" and his present production, "Movie Crazy," but during those working months he takes a physical beating that puts a premium on fitness.

HAROLD LLOYD

Lloyd, who works on his stories and situations for months before he gets on the set, keeps in trim by hours of golf, handball and squash. When production starts, he needs the reserve energy.

After a day on the set the comedian frequently—as after the recent scenes in which he battles with Kenneth Thomson, a good actor but a poor puncher-puller—is so sore and bruised he needs the attention of a masseur so as to be fit for the next day's punishment.

IN view of that, it is interesting that Lloyd regards the Producers' Association poll of nationwide movie tastes as having slighted him, omitting from the list of picture types any classification which would embrace his particular film specialty.

"My comedies are not slapstick," he insists, "but romances with broad comedy. There's a difference between slapstick, which presently is leading in the popularity vote, and broad comedy."

Incidentally, the Hollywood consensus on that poll seems to be: "Interesting, and what of it?" For it is certain producers are not going to rush to make slapstick comedies in wholesale lots, nor any of the other particular film types favored in the balloting, any more than they have in the past."

* * *

SEVERAL producers now are sounding the death-knell of the movie "cycle," saying that the custom of one company's imitating another's success is on the wane. Unless I'm wrong, they've been saying the same thing for years, during which "cycles" continued to flourish.

Vicomtesse Wears Blue Wool Coat

Open-Work Gloves.

Fashionable women are sticking their fingers into mesh these days. The popularity of mesh stockings has gone to the hands and the newest gloves are of the identical mesh weaves as hosiery. Of white open-work mesh they are lined with red or blue silk; of black, white open-work mesh they are lined with red or blue silk; of black, they are lined with white. Bags fashioned of the same fabrics as well as mesh scarfs, are worn with them.

THE BRIDGE FORUM

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

BIDDING is nothing more nor less than an effort to predict what the play will be. Every system, at either auction or contract bridge, is for the purpose of helping a side forecast the number of tricks which can be made at one declaration or another. It is patent that perfect bidding is wasted if the bidder can not then furnish the correct play. Conversely, the person who does not well understand the play can not very dependably prophesy what it is going to be.

Rules for bidding under any system are an important guide in estimating a situation. But when the circumstances are a bit complex, with several players making bids, doubles and what-not during its progress, the very fine player will make inferences which enable him to know within certain limits just how the hand will play with one side or the other as declarer. The really fine art of bidding, the wiles of the expert, are then revealed as at no other time.

Consequently, if we hear of somebody being a super-excellent bidder but a poor player, we can know it is not so. For nobody except a good player can ever accurately foresee the play and thus be a fine bidder. Peculiarly, the absolute antithesis of this is not true, for many a person who plays the cards beautifully has never mastered fine bidding; the lack in their cases is usually fundamental—inability to visualize in advance, though they can proceed most cunningly and with the soundest of deductions to guide them after the bidding is closed.

So many bridge players have given hard study to bidding in the last year or so that it is high time somebody counseled them to study the play more. Doing so will enable them to make a larger number of the contracts that they bid and to defeat more of their opponents' contracts. In addition, it will even improve their bidding.

He Likes His Confusion

A NEW and interesting point of view is given by "Whist," who considers it fun, among other things, to have to converse with a partner to decide what bidding system will be used. He likes all innovations, apparently, to keep out dull monotony, stating his case this way:

"I am most interested in the new All-trump declaration introduced by Mr. Shepard Barclay. I enjoy novelties, and this new bid will increase my enjoyment.

"I congratulate him on his addition to the game. I hope bridge will never be stabilized. Keep it moving, and oblige—Whist."

Many thanks for your kind remarks, "Whist," though they were not addressed directly to the writer, but especially for your refreshing attitude on the arguments about systems.

A Bigger Thrill

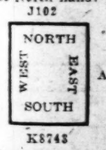

In some respects the biggest thrill of bridge comes from the great string of 13 cards of a suit. In others there is more fun in such a deal as this:

Capt. Irving Woolfe bid two diamonds on the South cards, his partner two hearts, he went to four no trump, his partner to seven diamonds and he to seven no trump. Who wouldn't get a kick out of laying that hand down for the biggest grand slam of all?

Wasted Wiles

The play of a hand had got down to the point where all that declarer had left was a bunch of trumps—five of them, to be exact. Here is the way the final cards of the suit were divided, the lead being in dummy, the North hand:

The declarer is one of those few—thanks be that there are very few—"wise" ones who are always trying to "get an edge," according to those who have played a good bit with him and haven't sense enough to quit him. He spread his hand quickly and announced: "I concede one trick to East and claim the rest: I am leading the jack from dummy and one trick is all he can take with the ace-queen-nine."

Those who have been up against him often say he frequently gets away with claims like that against inexperienced players. This time he had Walter Malowan, an old campaigner and real bridge player, at his right. He of course refused the claim, told the declarer to go ahead and play, covered the jack with his queen and then let the declarer try to keep him from taking two tricks.

A Law a Week

In auction bridge, a bonus of 125 points is given for making game in hand when the game is played at a progressive party. What is the accepted method of doing this in progressive contract games?

In the early days of contract, laws were drawn up by the American Bridge League for the progressive style of play. These offered several optional ways of scoring, due to the vulnerability feature. One was to play all deals as not vulnerable, allowing 300 for game in hand; another to play all as vulnerable, with 500 for game in hand; a third to count the first two deals of a round as not vulnerable with 300 bonus and the last two as vulnerable with a 500 bonus for game in hand.

All of those options have practically disappeared from use during the last year or so, and the remaining one offered by the league has become the accepted practice game. This way covers the four possible situations regarding vulnerability. On the first deal of a round nobody is vulnerable, on the second the dealer's side alone, on the third the dealer's side alone and on the fourth both sides. game in hand premium being 300 not vulnerable and 500 vulnerable.

What is the simplest way to keep a tally card in progressive contract and yet make reasonably sure that the pair deserving the prize wins it?

Unusual Hands

MOST of the East and West pairs in the recent Eastern championship tournament played the following hand at three no trump and went down. Mrs. Marie Black and H. Huber Boscowitz achieved a far happier outcome, although the bidding began in the same way at their table, with a second hand bid of a spade by South. Both sides were vulnerable.

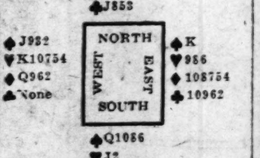

Mrs. Black doubled the spade bid instead of calling two hearts, as occurred at most tables. North tried to shut out a response by Mr. Boscowitz by bidding two diamonds. The latter, with his spade and club holdings, made a canny pass, seeing his opponents on their way to a mess of trouble. South with his diamond void had to shift to two hearts, which Mrs. Black doubled with avidity. When North sidled into two spades to show preference, Mr. Boscowitz came out of his ambush and disclosed the nefarious nature of his first pass by making a business double.

Mrs. Black, able to deduce from the double that her partner almost surely had either the ace or queen in the club suit, the only suit not bid by the opponents, made the well-conceived though unusual lead of the king, on which East signaled with the seven. South ducked with the five, in the hope of taking two club tricks, even if the king was from the king-queen, as appeared to be the case. The leading of clubs, to produce a third round void, proved later to be worth 400 points to Mrs. Black's side.

She promptly led her other club, the queen dropping under the ace, and declarer's lead of the heart king put her back in the lead again with that ace. Now her heart three enabled Mr. Boscowitz to ruff, and he returned a third club to be taken by her lowly trump singleton, the trick which never could have been made if she had not opened with a club. The heart six was next ruffed and over-ruffed by Mr. Boscowitz. A diamond ruff put declarer back in the lead, making only his second trick, and he couldn't get any more except two spade tricks and a heart. This produced a total of only five tricks for him, and he was down three, the adversaries scoring a welcome 1000 points.

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Banfield and Mrs. Norman N. Newman found in the following hand an opportunity to reveal several of the reasons why their team of four—Commander Winfield Liggett Jr. and George Unger being the other members—holds the national open championship. They were North and South, both sides vulnerable and South the dealer. We wonder if you could have attained the result they did—as will be outlined next week.

HEALTH

Germicides

THE ideal germicide would destroy bacteria but leave human tissue unharmed. Unfortunately we have no ideal germicide.

Different antiseptics and germicides vary in their effectiveness under different circumstances.

The mere statement that a certain germicide will kill so many millions of germs within a given time is without significance unless the circumstances surrounding the test are also described.

Thus bichloride of mercury in the dilution of one part of the germicide to a thousand parts of water will kill typhoid bacilli in two and one-half minutes, but if the bacilli are in as little as 2 to 3 per cent of fecal matter the efficiency of the bichloride is reduced by 90 per cent.

Germicides and antiseptics may act in a variety of ways, though they are all effective by altering and destroying the protoplasm of micro-organisms.

Heat and light, the latter in the form of sunlight or ultra violet light, destroy bacteria. Oxidising agents such as hydrogen peroxide, potassium permanganate, chlorine, bromine and iodine destroy bacteria chemically.

Fortunately the protoplasm of bacteria in many cases is more readily injured than is the protoplasm of body cells. Therefore a number of the foregoing germicides can be used effectively in diluted forms.

A dab of iodine may do for a small cut. However, it cannot be used very well where larger areas of skin have been denuded.

Bichloride of mercury solution might be used to sterilize surgical instruments but would not prove effective in sterilizing the stool of a typhoid patient.

Antiseptics applied to mucous membranes differ from those which can be used on the tougher outer skin of the body.

A Home Fire Drill.

Children of the house should be taught plain facts concerning fire dangers. Impress upon them the folly of running about if their clothing is on fire. Teach them that it is better to smother the flames with a rug or quilt rather than fan the flames and spread them all over the body.

Thin but Strong.

Don't feel that because the picture is large an enormous nail is needed to hold it. Thin strong nails can be bought that will hold the picture easily without making a total loss of the wall paper.

SECOND PAY CUT OF 10 PCT. CALLED FOR BY P. S. CO.

Executive Board of Street Car Men's Union Meets Saturday to Consider Notice of Reduction Effective June 1.

ANNUAL SAVING PUT AT $685,000

Average Wage, $1650, Slashed to $1485 Last Oct. 16 and Further Pruning Proposed Would Carry It Down to $1337.

A proposed 10 per cent reduction in wages of employes of the Public Service Co., the second within a year, will be considered by the executive board of the street car men's union at a meeting Saturday night.

Notice of the proposed reduction, to be effective June 1, was sent to the union last night by Stanley Clarke, president of the Public Service Co., in a letter notifying the union of the company's intention to terminate the present working contract May 20. Willingness to negotiate a new contract was expressed in Clarke's letter.

The company states the reduction is to apply to the entire employed personnel numbering 4227. The union membership is about 3000, made up principally of street car and bus operators and shop workers.

Saving Expected $685,000.

Wages paid by the company last year were $7,458,139. Clarke said this would have been about $600,000 less if the 10 per cent wage reduction made effective last Oct. 16 had been in force all year. On that basis the 10 per cent reduction now proposed would save the company $685,000 annually.

H. M. Nelson, president of the men's union, said the matter would come before the regular meeting next Monday at Unity Hall, Grand and Page boulevards. The men meet in two groups, one at 2 p. m. and the other at 8 p. m. It is usual for the executive board, composed of the union officials and shed captains, to report a recommendation to the general meeting, but Nelson had nothing to say as to the possible procedure. The company's action was a disappointment to him, and he said he had no advance information that it was contemplated.

What Men Will Earn.

The average annual earnings of the street car operators were about $1650 before the first cut. Last year's 10 per cent reduction cut this to $1485, and if it is again reduced 10 per cent it will be about $1337.

The reason given by the company for proposing again to reduce wages is the continued decline in its revenue. As has been told, it had a deficit last year of $66,149 after paying interest on borrowed capital and after setting aside $1,512,734 for depreciation. Total operating revenue last year was $15,929,642, compared with $18,706,280 in 1930. In his letter to the union Clarke estimated gross revenue this year would not exceed $13,400,000, a reduction of $2,529,000 from 1931.

"The company intends, as of June 1, 1932, to reduce by 10 per cent the rate of pay now being paid to each of its employes, but it is agreeable that, in the event a new contract is entered into with Local 788 (the union), such contract shall provide that the working conditions and other provisions now in force shall not be changed except those working conditions relating to time paid for but not worked.

Clarke then quoted from the letter April 9 and concluded:

"Our action taken today in sending you this notice of termination and our action in giving notice to all employes of a 10 per cent reduction in rate of pay from that now being received by them, was taken only after grave consideration of all the facts and after having discussed these facts with your representatives and having arrived at the conclusion that by no other means than a reduction in rate of pay could we maintain the street railway industry in St. Louis, which is the source of livelihood to the employes of the Public Service Co."

Under the working contract street car operators whose runs do
